A COMPARISON FOR YOUR CONSIDERATION

Analysis of four commercial brands of lime-sulphur spray by the Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, Oregon, Season 1910-11:

	TOTAL LIME	TOTAL SULPHUR
Sample No. 1	10.73	26.63
Sample No. 2	11.94	30.03
Sample No. 3	12.00	29.21
Sample No. 4	12.12	23.98
Sample No. 5	19.65	31.44

A comparison of the above analysis plainly shows that NIAGARA Brand carries much more lime and sulphur in solution than any of the rest, and this is decidedly the case when comparing the Beume tests of the several samples. NIAGARA at 31 is far superior to all the others, several of which run as high as 32 and 33 Beume test.

Bear in mind that we use neither salt nor caustic soda to raise our Beume test.

HOOD RIVER HIGH DEBATERS TRIUMPH

The Hood River high school debating team scored another triumph Friday night by defeating the Newberg team and getting a unanimous decision. The debate, which took place at the Commercial Club rooms, was well attended and the contestants, who debated each point with keen rivalry, were loudly applauded.

The visiting team, which had the affirmative side of the question, was Miss Lillian Reuter, Miss Bessie King and Miss Gladys Traw. Hood River was represented by Miss Viola Nickelsen, Lester Murphy and Earle Spaulding. The latter team has not been defeated this year.

The judges were Prof. R. H. Kain, of White Salmon, R. C. French, Director of Education of the Portland Y. M. C. A., and Bernard Jakeway, a University of Oregon debater of prominence.

Hood River has now but two more debates, and is one of five teams in the state to try out for the big debate at Eugene.

NEW PICTURE SHOW DOES BIG BUSINESS

The new picture show operated by Richards & Company was opened Saturday and played to a very large business. Six hundred attended the show on the opening night.

The new establishment is fitted up with all that is latest in the picture business, including an electric piano, opera chairs and a slanting floor, so that big hats do not interfere with the vision of those behind them. The lamp house is lined with galvanized iron, making it fire proof, and it is said by the managers that the picture machines are the latest and best now in use.

The show opened with a juvenile vaudeville act that is very good, and which will be put on for the rest of the week.

UNDERWOOD MAN DROPS FROM SIGHT

No trace can be found of Charles Frick, a German, who disappeared from his five-acre tract three miles up the White Salmon three weeks ago, says the Enterprise. Frick always feared that someone would "steal his place," and even menaced people when they walked upon his land to see the "Narrows," one of the picturesque spots of the valley.

The little five-acre tract sloping down to the edge of the precipice is Frick's very life. From the Underwood station, three miles away, he wheeled out all his goods in a barrow, and picked out the little spot no one else wanted. He handpicked it for stones, did his own grubbing and had several one-year-old trees out. The Pacific Power & Light Co. came along and approached him for right-of-way, willing to pay liberally for his acreage, but no sooner had the right-of-way man left than Frick dropped his grubbing hook, locked the cabin door and fled, evidently believing that by keeping out of sight he will not have to give up his land.

Frick recently lost $100, all the money he had, and which he had worked hard for. The loss of the purse preyed on his mind and with the deep concern he had for his land, made his actions appear peculiar.

HONORED FOR LOVE OF BIRDS

Venerable Chormer of Paris is to Be Decorated.

What is termed one of the most fascinating entertainments to be found in all Paris is the daily "receptions" in the Tuilleries gardens held by M. Henri Pol, known to the admiring populace as the "bird charmer." Because of his humanity and the worldwide fame he has attained M. Pol is to be decorated by the French minister of agriculture.

M. Pol is a retired employee of the postal service and is now seventy-six years of age. Having little to do, he began to make friends with the thousands of sparrows and other birds that are found in the famous gardens of the Tuilleries, and by dint of wonderful patience and study he won their intimacy. Now they know at exactly what time, morning and evening, he will appear with bread and other dainties.

So great has this intimacy become that he has named many of them, and they will respond when he calls, submit to being picked up, perch on his hands and perform tricks for him.

You Crease 'Em on You.

Joy and elegance are combined for the hall-room boys, Mr. Newlywed and others in a new invention by which every wearer of 'em without cost, removal or worry.

No longer will it become necessary to place the nether garments beneath mattresses to preserve the crease, for the invention will attend to all that in an up-to-date manner. The device consists of an electric pressing iron adapted to slide on a vertical guide rod, which has a stirrup at one end for the presser's foot and a handle for steadying at the other. Then, without disrobing, the operator turns on an electric current from the lighting fixture. The pressing iron runs up the outside of the trousers leg and creases it expeditiously and accurately.

In cases of rheumatism, relief from pain makes sleep and rest possible. This may be obtained by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. For sale by all dealers.

WOMEN HEAR LECTURE ON ART

At a largely attended meeting of the Woman's Club held last Wednesday at the Commercial Club rooms Mrs. Welster addressed the members on the subject of art. About 60 were present, including a number from White Salmon.

In her address Mrs. Welster said that by many, even in the enlightened age of today, art was considered the embroidery on the garment of civilization—a costly luxury, something that the practical Americans can afford to ignore. This the speaker denied, saying that a little of the artistic could enter into every home if its teachings were known and fostered. The beauty of art and its influences in the home were being made potent largely through women. The question that was occupying the attention of the women's clubs the world over, she said, was making the home beautiful, with a desire also for cleaner, more attractive and more artistic cities. In other words, the aim was for a more beautiful home for all people, which could be brought about by awakening an artistic instinct in the masses.

Confirmation Services

Confirmation services for a class of seventeen will be held at the Lutheran church at The Dalles by Rev. M. E. Boulton Easter morning. Rev. Mr. Boulton has a confirmation class of seven at Hood River.
