

PEDDLED LIQUOR TO GET EVIDENCE

On the evidence of an informer, said to be connected with the Law and Order League, and brought here by the local authorities, John Featherstone, purser on the Steamer Tahoma was arrested when the boat reached here Thursday and fined $75 on a charge of illegally selling liquor. The evidence was secured by W. F. Reese, who came here about two weeks ago and posed as a painter. After working at this vocation for a day or two Reese quit work, mixed with the boys about town and carried a bottle of whiskey which he freely offered as was developed later to get evidence. But one witness was secured however and his testimony being incomplete no charges could be made.

On Sunday, April 19th, Reese went to Stevenson on the Tahoma with the base ball club and on his return made the complaint against Featherstone.

When his unscrupulous tactics became known he suddenly became so unpopular that he left town Friday on an early morning train. The witness he was depending on he claimed had been bribed to leave town.

As the sheriff has only meagre description of the man it is feared his apprehension will be difficult.
