

ROYAL Baking Powder Economy

The manufacturers of Royal Baking Powder have always declined to produce a cheap baking powder at the sacrifice of quality.

Royal Baking Powder is made from pure grape cream of tartar, and is the embodiment of all the excellence possible to be attained in the highest class baking powder.

Royal Baking Powder costs only a fair price, and is more economical at its price than any other leavening agent, because of the superlative quality and absolute wholesomeness of the food it makes.

Mixtures made in imitation of baking powders, but containing alum, are frequently distributed from door to door, or given away in grocery stores. Such mixtures are dangerous to use in food. In England, France, Germany and some sections of the United States their sale is prohibited by law. Alum is a dangerous mineral acid, and all physicians condemn baking powders containing it.

The label of alum baking powders must show the ingredients.

ATHLETES TO BECOME HOOD RIVER APPELMEN

Two of the best-known athletes of the Middle West, the Hoerline brothers, Hans and Paul, the latter playing end and the former fullback on the Iowa University team and both making the all-state team last Fall, says the Oregonian, have decided to become apples in the Hood River Valley.

The young men are now spending their energies in bucking stumps and clearing land. The former college athletes have purchased the S. A. Clark place, near Tucker's bridge.

It pays to advertise.

COURT DECISION IN FERRY LANDING SUIT

A decision of unusual interest to Hood River was handed down by the Oregon state supreme court last Thursday, relative to the controversy which arose here four years ago over the right of vessels navigating the Columbia River to land on private property which was overflowed during the summer freshet.

The suit which reached the highest court of the state, as Dean vs. Washington Navigation Company, appealed from Wasco county, was reversed and the suit dismissed, the opinion holding that a petitioner for ferry license must show his ownership or control of the ground in Oregon where his ferry lands, and that the county court, in such matters, acts as a court of limited jurisdiction, and every fact essential must affirmatively appear.

In the other suit, Chapman vs. Dean, also reversed, the opinion holds that appellants are entitled to an injunction against the respondents restraining them from trespassing upon appellants' land.

As the high water season is approaching, it is possible that boat passengers who have been allowed for several years to land at the foot of First street, will have this pleasure and convenience denied them.

Some three years ago some citizens of Bingen and vicinity organized the Washington Navigation company to run a ferry boat between Bingen and Hood River. The company procured a suitable boat and commenced business, owning the land from which it started and on which it landed. It had made but one or two trips when it was served with an injunction on behalf of O. C. Dean who was running a ferry across the river within a distance of several miles up and down the river. The result of the injunction was that the Washington Navigation company was prohibited from doing business.

It is now said that the decision of the supreme court may result in a ferry being established between Hood River and Bingen.

land. When asked if he considered the Tasmania apples which are now in the markets in England a serious competitor of American fruit he said:

"The Tasmania apples come on the market in England about the first of April and last until about the first of June. I do not therefore consider them a competitor of American fruit as the season for it is practically over. Strange to say the best apple we get from Tasmania is called the New York pippin, being yellow in color and flatter in shape than the Newtown. The best of this variety sells for $2.50 to $3.00 per box, the other varieties going cheaper. The next best seller from Tasmania is a green apple known as the French crab which is used largely for cooking purposes. The other varieties are somewhat soft and do not keep well. I do not think you need fear any competition from Tasmania fruit as it simply serves its purpose during the off season.

"You ask why it is that the English trade prefers a yellow apple. I don't know why this is, other than because it is yellow. For some unknown reason the most popular apples in England are those of this hue.

"While we import thousands of barrels of apples from the United States, we also get enormous quantities from Canada. Last year the Canadian crop was short and there were not as many American apples sold abroad as usual. The market for them, however, is enlarging. A better understanding, I think, with the districts that grow the apples will result in much larger shipments abroad. The California apples we have been buying from Mr. High have created a highly satisfactory market, due to the good quality of the fruit and also the care given in packing them.

"Of one thing I am certain—that the opening of the Panama canal is bound to be a big thing for the shipment of apples from the Pacific coast to England. The fact that they can be sent abroad without transhipping will cheapen the transportation rate and solve several drawbacks now encountered in exporting apples.

"My visit to America," concluded Mr. Bellis, "has been both a revelation and an education, and I am not only pleased with your country, but also your people, and in two years I'm coming here again."

Mr. Chantrell, who is a wealthy retired bachelor, devotes some of his leisure time to lecturing at church entertainments, and while at San Francisco bought a number of slides which he will use for this purpose. He suggested that he be sent several from Hood River, and it is expected that they will be forwarded.

On leaving here the party split up, Mr. Bellis going to Boston by way of Canada, and Mr. High and Mr. Chantrell taking the river trip back to Portland.

IMPROVEMENTS TO CITY

Mt. Hood Railroad, which recently secured title to the property, would adjust the matter with the street committee.

An ordinance assessing the cost for improving Columbia street was introduced, and a number of property holders on the street, who were present, were given an opportunity to state any objections. As there were none, the ordinance passed the first reading. During the meeting Mayor Hartwig called attention to various minor matters, which were given the attention of the council, and all bills presented were ordered paid, with the exception of two for rights of way near the stone crusher, which were referred back to the committee.

City Marshal Lewis has been ordered to collect the dog tax, and those having untagged canines were ordered to get busy or take the consequence of having them take quick passage to dog heaven.

HOOD RIVER MAN SAID TO HAVE MADE FORTUNE

A story is current at Cottage Grove, says the Journal, that Lew Suzer, of Hood River, while in the vicinity of Drain, nine miles south of here, bought a mining claim from a prospector for $1000, and after having assays of the ore made he has been offered $100,000 for the property by parties from Cripple Creek. Mr. Suzer was in Cottage Grove Wednesday on his way to Drain and refused to talk of the contemplated deal, but volunteered the information that he believed he had struck it rich.

In perfect health there is always a fine feeling of buoyancy and exhilaration, of strength and conscious power. The reverse is the case when the Liver is Torpid. It is a dead weight that hampers every organ in the body and fills the system with impurities that undermine the constitutional strength.

In All Such Cases the Remedy is

HERBINE

THE GREAT TONIC AND INVIGORANT For Torpid Liver and Constipated Bowels.

When the Liver gets Torpid, it brings with it a long train of symptoms. The most prominent are: bad digestion, dizziness, constipation, vertigo—which means spots of blindness on stooping or rising suddenly, sallow complexion, flatulence or wind in the bowels, intolerable laziness which the victim is ashamed of but cannot overcome. Great discouragement, a feeling that everything and everybody is against him. The fine cleansing and rejuvenating influence of Herbine is just the thing needed in this condition. It acts at once on the Liver, Stomach and Bowels. The Liver responds promptly to its stimulating effect. The Bowels are emptied and purified through its excellent cathartic properties. The digestion is strengthened and the whole system renovated. As a result the patient feels better. He begins to improve with the first dose and a few days use puts him in fine vigorous condition. Try it.

Sold Everywhere at 50c per Bottle.
