

WHITE SALMON

(From the Enterprise) J. L. Sutherland made a trip up the Hood River for ten miles recently, and says that it is worth anyone's time to tour that valley.

The Enterprise understands that the Herman Yantz place of 240 acres, just beyond Gilmer, was sold to the Duncan Company, of Hood River and Glenwood, for $15,000. This company is apparently stirring things in the upper country.

The Mt. Adams people promoting the line up the hill from the North Bank road have been awaiting another conference with the railway managers. They are confident they can get the capital for the line, and feel very much encouraged over prospects.

When Mr. Ryan, a traveling salesman, recently drove into Underwood, his horses shied at a stationery automobile, overturned the buggy and sent it and Mr. Ryan over the embankment. He was badly cut and bruised, and a hurry call was made for a Hood River physician. He was taken to Portland and is now coming through all right.

Crews were laid off on the ranch of the White Salmon Orchard Co., of which L. R. Glavis is superintendent, and Mr. Richardson, the foreman, has returned to Seattle. Over forty men were employed, and about a half a dozen are retained. Over 125 acres were set to trees this spring, which, with the fifty acres of old trees, makes a good-size commercial orchard.

While in an intoxicated condition, Ben Osborne set the ticking and mattress afire in the cooler, where he had been locked up by Marshal Estes Monday afternoon. He would have perished miserably, and a large part of the town been burned, had not some small boys been running through the alley on their way from school and saw the smoke issuing from the barred windows.

O. C. Dean says that the effect of the injunction restraining him from landing at the foot of Front street, Hood River, during high water, will work to the disadvantage of passengers, for if he cannot go through the slough, he will have to land them at the present dock. If, on the other hand, another firm or company puts on a boat, they will, during high water, have the advantage in landing near the Hood River station.

So packed is the Congressional race of this place every Sunday that, if it continues, an addition will have to be built. Rev. Tate will leave Monday for his old home in Nebraska, where he will visit a couple of weeks. He goes as the guest of the A. O. U. W. lodge of a Nebraska city, who esteem him so much for the services he rendered that lodge throughout the state that they wrote him to get onto the Pullman at White Salmon, "come home for a couple of weeks, and expenses both ways will be paid." During Mr. Tate's absence, Rev. J. R. Hargreaves, of Hood River, will conduct the services.

White Salmon strawberries are to be served for the coming year on the diners of the North Bank, the Great Northern and Northern Pacific trains. After the fresh fruit is all gone, the menu cards of these cars will have "White Salmon strawberries preserved." The berries will be put up in individual jars by Mrs. Holcomb, and we are perfectly sure that many travelers who taste them will be interested to know more of the country that can produce berries of such rare and delicious flavor, for Mrs. Holcomb knows how to preserve them and keep nature's freshness. Small, neat labels will tell the story.

FARMER, SAYS EXPERT, NEGLECTS FINANCIAL SIDE

"The financial side of farming, the world's greatest industry, is almost entirely neglected by both the farmer and the schools," says Dean J. A. Bexell of the Oregon Agricultural College, author of a volume on "Farm Accounting and Business Methods," now in its sixth thousand.

"Professor Bailey, of New York, said, in discussing the matter of his own state, 'In visiting practically every farm in one of the counties of the state, we did not find one man who knew how much it cost him to produce milk or to raise any of his crops.'

"It is doubtless true," says Mr. Bexell, "that the farmer is becoming a factor to be reckoned with in the business world; that the average farmer knows vastly more about scientific farming than his father did. He understands more thoroughly the value of proper cultivation, of fertilization, of rotation of crops, and of diversified farming. But it cannot be said that he owes his success to improved business methods. He has been successful, rather, in spite of his ignorance in this respect, and because of the lavish generosity of mother nature."

The Oregon Agricultural College is now giving courses in farm business management by mail, for the benefit of those who can not attend the courses at the college. Some fifty have already completed the course.

WESTERN UNION ARRANGES FOR UPTOWN OFFICE HERE

A dispatch received here Saturday from the Western Union manager states that an uptown office of the company is to be established at Hood River, but that messages will be received any hour of the day or night at the railroad station also. The feature that many objected to in regard to establishing an office away from the depot was that the hours of service would be shortened.

Other objections were that the Hood River Apple Growers' Union and the Davidson Fruit Co., the greatest users of the telegraph service, considered the depot the more convenient on account of their fruit shipments, particularly during the strawberry season.

According to the announcement of the Western Union it will be possible to send messages from either place with an all night service at the depot. If this system is put into effect it is stated that there will be no objection to the new office. It is expected that the office will be placed in the rear of the Hood River Banking & Trust Co. building.

Neglected wounds produce old sores and these in time develop ulcers which eat away the vitality. Ballard's Snow Liniment Is a Healing Remedy for All Ailments of the Flesh of Man and Beast. The speed with which this splendid liniment heals up a bad wound or sore has surprised and pleased those who were accustomed to the slower and uncertain effect of less powerful remedies. It mends the lacerated flesh so quickly that there is but little time lost from work. In relieving rheumatic pains, neuralgia, sciatica, it has done and is doing a wonderful work. Many chronic victims of these diseases have found to their great satisfaction that it cures an attack in a fraction of the time required by the ordinary treatment. It is equally effective in the flesh ailments of animals. Owners of blooded stock value it highly for two reasons: It heals sores and wounds quickly, and leaves no disfiguring scars. This remedy is needed in every home. If its great power and efficacy was generally known, no family would be without it. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per Bottle. JAMES F. BALLARD PROPRIETOR ST.
