BELMONT ORCHARD SELLS FOR $18,000

An important land sale in the Belmont district took place Monday, when the J. L. Henderson Company, Inc., sold 15 acres of Prof. L. F. Henderson's fine orchard for $18,000.
 The orchard which is situated on the Fairview road has 12 acres in bearing and is in perfect condition. The purchaser was W. Fort Jackson a young Englishman who has been connected with business interests in San Francisco, and who is a graduate of Oxford college.
 Mr. Jackson bought the orchard as a home place and will come to Hood River with his family in June to live. As soon as possible he will erect a residence on part of the tract which is unimproved.

INTERESTING STORY OF UPPER VALLEY

boro Orchard Company, which is setting out 100 acres. Adjoining this tract is an orchard of A. B. Billings. Gravenstein trees brought returns to their owner last year and the local Apple Growers' Union secured an f. o. b. price of $1.50 per box for them.
 "Of the 2000 acres now under cultivation about 80 per cent has been set to orchard. It is estimated that this section has 25,000 acres of land waiting to be developed, which shows the possibilities of the country when all the available land has been put out in cultivation. Of course the Hood River strawberry thrives, and owing to the ease of irrigation, a surprisingly large proportion of the crop of the whole valley is now shipped from Parkdale. Nearly all of the young orchards contain from one to ten acres of strawberries set between the tree rows, yielding a most acceptable income during the early stages of the orchard.
 "There is probably no section anywhere in which the water for irrigation, used on the hay and berries, is to be had for less money. The first ditch was put in by a few of the pioneers about 15 years ago, and with the original stock subscription of $1 an inch for 2000 inches an assessment was not necessary until four years ago.
 "One of the most unique features of the upper valley region is the difference in the characteristics of its inhabitants. Among the original homesteaders is a small colony of French people. Their hospitality adds pleasure to the passing traveler. He can imagine himself in the land of the Swiss chalet as he drinks the rich fresh milk offered by a neat hostess or tastes the home vintage, sitting in the shadow of the snow peak and listening to an interesting story told in an Oregon-French patois.
 "The interest of the guest is aroused when the host appears with an appetizing product of culinary art and upon comment he remarks very modestly and yet with much pride that he is a professional waiter. More than a dozen heads of these French families spend the Winters in the coast cities, where their excellent service is well known by those who dine at the larger hotels. They garner in a harvest of tips to expend on the improvement of their ranches on which they work themselves during the Summer. Louis Nix, the first of the Frenchmen to settle in the region, is their leader. He is a very dignified personage and spends his Winters in Seattle, catering to the wants of the hungry.

"More than a score of young Eastern college men have recently built bungalow homes in the region. Yale, Harvard, Cornell and other of the larger institutions are represented.

"Of the college graduates participating, Clarence MacGuffey, a Yale man, is the son of the author of the primary school readers, as well known to older Americans as the famous 'Blue Back Speller.' A number of this coterie are prominent socially in eastern circles. Everett Brown, formerly a member of the famous New York 'St. Nicholas Hockey Team,' is now more stalwart than ever, enjoying a bachelor freedom on his ranch and becoming an adept horticulturist."

MRS. ROSE TO APPEAR AT PINE GROVE HALL

Mrs. Walter Rose will appear in Dramatic Recital at Pine Grove Hall Friday evening, May 12. Mrs. Rose is a reader of marked ability. The program to be given Friday evening is quite different from most dramatic recitals, as each number is a short drama within itself, and is acted out by one character in costume with stage setting.
 One of the best numbers on the program will be "Sissy Hawkins". Sissy is a country girl who is sent to the near neighbor's to "borrow" While making this neighborly call "Sissy" exhibits her ability to dance a jig. The whole number is full of humor from beginning to end. Another good number will be "Miss Cumming's Coming Out."
 Watch for the posters.
 Music will be a part of the evening's entertainment.
 Prices 25c and 15c.*

HEIGHTS RESIDENTS ENTER PROTEST

Believing that they are not receiving proper attention from the city council, residents of the heights presented a petition to the council Monday night, asking for the appointment of a night marshal for that district. A. C. Staten appeared as spokesman for the hill people, and, in addition to asking for the appointment of a marshal, asked for street lights and crosswalks. Mr. Staten said that on account of their being no marshal, windows had been broken in one of the stores and disorder prevailed.
 As a proper man for marshal, Mr. Staten offered the name of J. H. Gill. The matter of a marshal was referred to the police committee. In regard to the lights, it was stated that the light company had refused to install any more lights at present without a thirty year contract with the city, and this, the committee said, it refused to do. The crosswalk matter was referred to the street committee.

A communication was received from T. D. Tweedy, objecting to having 12th street oiled, but saying that he would be willing to pay for any kind of permanent paving. When the ordinances came up, later, for oiling 12th and State streets, they were referred to the street committee for amendment.
 A sweeping order in regard to fire escapes was passed. The order provides for exits and fire escapes at the Monroe Theatre, Odd Fellows hall, K. of P. hall, Masonic hall, the Hellbronner building and Artisan hall, and gives the marshal authority to have the instructions of the council carried out. It was recommended, also, that several buildings on the hill be investigated, for the purpose of providing them with fire escapes.

The Waconia park project, which was brought up, and is being asked for by the Woman's Club, occasioned some discussion. S. Coppel, who addressed the council, suggested that the ground be cleared and grubbed this summer and left until fall before it was seeded. N. C. Evans spoke against doing anything with the park this summer. It was stated that, with a short water supply, it would not be possible to make a success of growing grass in it until the fall rains. Mr. Coppel said that the people around the park were willing to clean up the space in it, but thought the city ought to take care of the streets, and said that some of the work had already been done by the property holders fronting on the park. On motion, the matter was referred to the street committee for action.

Several ordinances making sewer assessment allotments were passed, and the street committee was instructed to have sidewalks that had been ordered some time ago, laid in various districts.
 Frank Grant, Portland's city attorney, acting as attorney for the Investors Security Company of Des Moines, Iowa, who submitted a bid for the water bonds, addressed the council. Mr. Grant stated that the company would like to have their bid reconsidered in case the Ulen Company, to whom the bonds were awarded, refused to accept them. He said he understood the council had turned down the bid of the Investors Security Company on account of the fact that their attorney, Judge Wood, had refused to accept any Oregon bonds. Mr. Grant stated that if Judge Wood refused to accept the bonds, the company would submit them to two other prominent firms, and he thought there would be no difficulty in having them accepted. No action was taken, pending word from Ulen & Co., but the city recorder was instructed to communicate with Mr. Grant in case they were refused by that firm.

Wanted—To buy a good milk cow at reasonable price. C. W. Parker, R. D. No. 3, Hood River, 18-19-p
