

YAKIMA EDITOR POKES SARCASM AT WENATCHEE

Colonel W. W. Robertson, editor of the Yakima Republic, takes a tilt at Wenatchee in regard to apple crop conditions in connection with the recent freeze in the Yakima Valley. The Colonel says:

"The Wenatchee Daily Republic says that it is too early to say what shape the apple crop of Wenatchee is in, but that it is all right and will be a dandy. Cherries were hurt some, but not enough to amount to anything, and the peaches were slightly dinged, but not hurt. Wenatchee prints no weather reports, but the inhabitants suffered a great deal from the heat a couple of weeks ago. Former Mayor, John A. Gellatly writes us that about 3 a. m. two weeks ago his nose was sunburned until it blistered. One resident of Wenatchee fried eggs on the pavement the night the thermometer went down to 28 in Yakima. The night it went down to 27 here the air in one of Bill Clark's automobile tires got so hot that it exploded and wrecked the machine. The next night, which was still colder in this valley, all the inhabitants of Wenatchee walked the streets in their nightgowns trying to keep cool, and at 7 in the morning the thermometer registered 128. The Wenatchee fruit crop is now considered safe unless it burns up."

DYNAMITERS ARRESTED BUT MAKE GET AWAY

Deputy State Game Warden L. S. Fritz arrested three Dalles men Friday for dynamiting a trout stream. Their preliminary hearing was held before Justice Donthit that afternoon and they were bound over to appear at the May term of court under $200 bonds. Ed. Baker furnished the necessary bonds and Justice Donthit let the others, Harry Heebner and Jacob McCowan go with the promise that they would find bondsmen during the evening. They made an effectual getaway that night and have not been heard from since. The penalties are heavy in cases of fishing by means of explosives.

The violation of the game laws occurred on Lower Eightmile and offenses of the sort have been going on for some time. Local sportsmen are opposed to any such way of fishing and are willing to aid the deputy in his attempts to stop it.—Optimist

Geo. W. Marlor Dies

News of the death of Geo. W. Marlor, father of David F. Marlor, who recently married Miss Clara Blythe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Blythe, was received here last week. Mr. Marlor was assistant United States treasurer and was in charge of the New York sub-treasury.

He has been connected with the treasury department for many years and has occupied many positions of trust. Mr. Marlor is stated by the department to have been the most expert and most rapid money counter in the United States and on one occasion counted $2,000,000,000 in bills of large denomination in 90 minutes. The bills ran in amount from $100 to $1,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Marlor went east and were present at the funeral.

Stale Beer for the Orchard

The Wenatchee Republic says: "A professor of agriculture at Pullman College announces that he has made the discovery that stale beer will kill cut worms. If the professor will not discover a large deposit of stale beer, his remedy will have some commercial value. In this section of the state, stale beer disappeared many months ago, and since then the cut worms have operated with a boldness that bodes ill for summer cabbage." [This fits the case at Hood River exactly.]

Aquarium Exhibit at Astoria

The State Department of Fisheries will maintain an extensive exhibit in Astoria during the Centennial Celebration showing in detail the methods of the propagation of fish, and salmon in particular. A number of Aquarium tanks showing the species of live fish native to the State of Oregon as well as a fish hatchery in active operation will make this exhibit complete and an educational feature of great interest to all centennial visitors.

Business Active at Stevenson

With five regular packets daily and a fleet of half a dozen gasoline boats engaged in the recently established salmon fishing industry, and a beach covered with thousands of cords of wood for the sail barges plying between this point and The Dalles, Stevenson presents a lively scene on the river front these days. By the way the fare has been cut to 50 cents on the Open River Line.—Stevenson Pioneer

AFTER MANY YEARS BOAT WHISTLE STIRS MEMORY

Over 40 years after he had last heard the whistle of the Mississippi river steamboat, Belle of La Crosse, J. T. Wasson of Vancouver, heard the same whistle now on the Columbia riverboat, The Monarch, formerly the Charles P. Spencer. When Mr. Wasson heard the whistle of the Portland boat a few days ago he remarked to the captain, J. M. McIntire, that the whistle must be an exact duplicate of that of the old Mississippi boat upon which he took his first journey away from home when a boy of 19 years. He was then informed that the whistle was taken from that boat.

The whistle, according to Captain E. W. Spencer, was brought to Hood River in early days by Captain Davidson, the father of P. S. and Frank Davidson, and who built the first big saw mill here, and is over 60 years old. The Charles J. Spencer is now owned by the Monarch Lumber company, and its name has been changed to The Monarch.

Examination for Forest Clerk

The United States Civil Service Commission announces an examination on June 3, 1911, for the position of forest clerk in the Forest Service at salaries ranging from $1100 to $1200 per annum. A knowledge of typewriting and an elementary knowledge of stenography and book keeping is required for this examination, and as considerable difficulty has been experienced in securing eligibles for these positions, all qualified persons are urged to make application for and take the examination. Males only will be admitted to this examination, and the age limits are 18 to 40 years of age. For application blank and full information regarding the examination apply to the Commissioner's local representative at the post office, this city, or to the undersigned.

Says Medford is Pattern

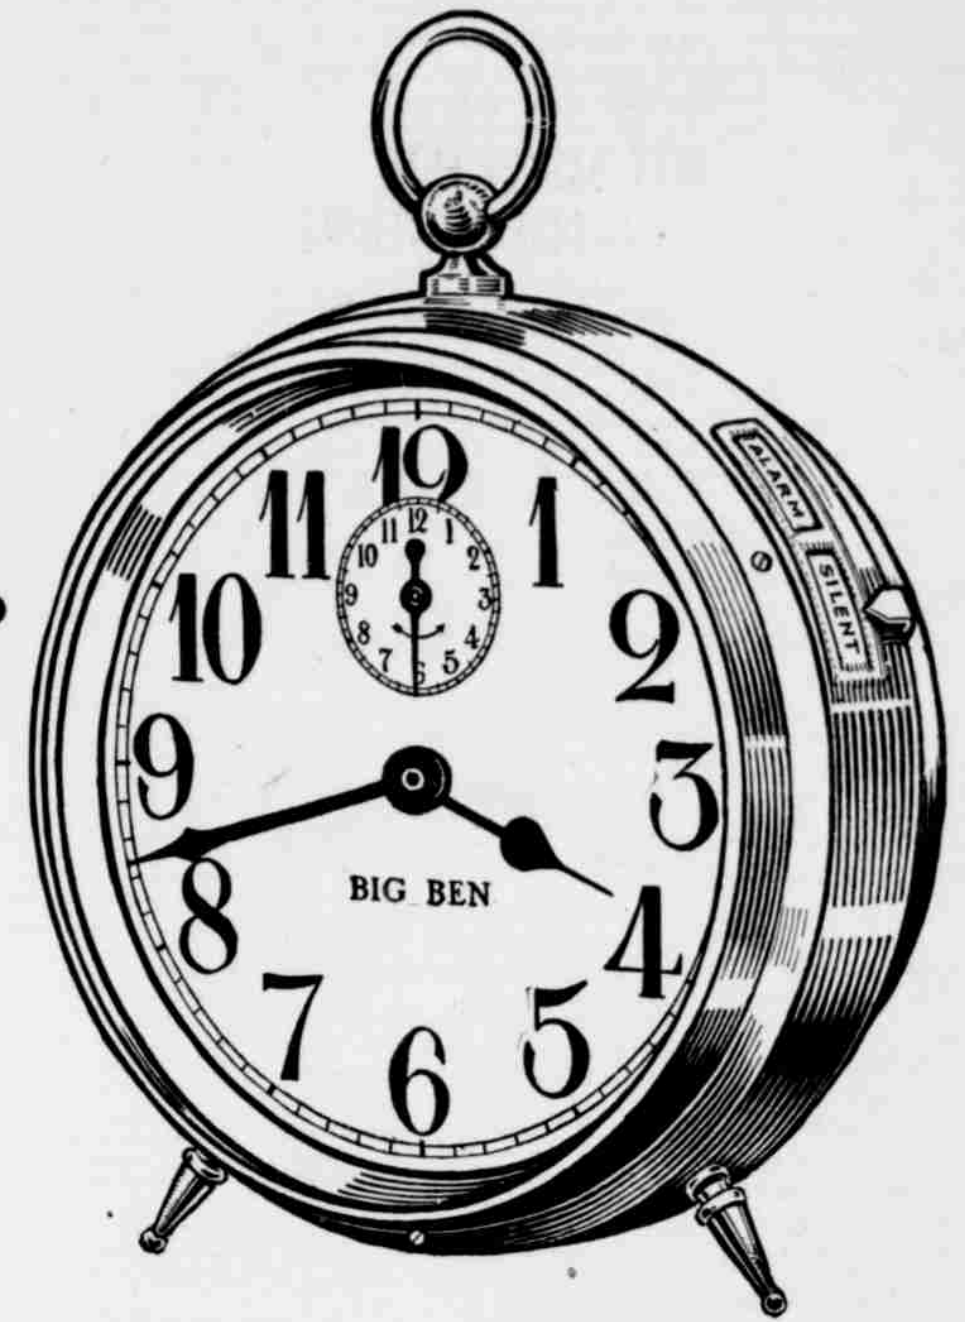

C. A. Malboeuf, former manager of the Medford Commercial Club and now Secretary of the Northwestern Fruit Exchange, spoke on Wenatchee and Medford compared, at Wenatchee recently, and said that while Medford was taken as a pattern in Oregon and was the most progressive city there, outside of Portland, Wenatchee was distinctly her superior.

THE TOWN OF LYLE

Has Been Replatted and Thrown Open to the World

THE old buildings which were on leased ground will be torn down and faced around to conform to the new plat. A bank building, six mercantile stores, new post-office, school and church, besides many other buildings will be built immediately. Contracts have been let and word started on a mile of cement walks and grading; water will be piped to every lot.

Our Sunday special train from Portland was a huge success. Every visitor was pleased and is now a booster. Over Thirty Thousand Dollars worth of lots were sold. Lyle lots sell to all who see them. Take advantage of your opportunity and become the happy possessor of a lot in Lyle. Values are soon to advance soon. See Rainey & Fleming at Hotel Oregon and arrange to have them take you to Lyle.
