MCCORMICK RAKES

Our Rakes are constructed so as to get all the hay in the least possible time. They are self-dumping, light, but very strong in construction. Can be used with either one or two horses, with but a few moments lost in making change from pole to thills.

After the hay is cut comes the hard work of taking care of it. Without proper fixtures much time is lost. We have all the fixtures for stacking, either in the field or in the barn.

We have carriers for either wood track or steel track or cable track. Rafter brackets and track eyes for fastening track in barn. Floor hooks in abundance. Wood sheave pulleys or steel pulleys, or snatch block pulleys - in fact anything you may want to facilitate your work.

If you want to equip your barn with a complete outfit, telephone us and we will be delighted to quote you prices on a complete outfit. You can save time and money with but a surprisingly small investment. Let us quote you now.

This Sign on the Radiator

Is Your Guarantee of Quality

Here's the part that you don't generally see when buying a wagon. It shows the heavy reinforcement on the under part of the gear.

Note the length of bell on the steel skein and heavy ironing throughout. Every pair perfect.

See how the single-trees are ironed the full length in back. Double-trees have special clip for fastening to pole - not simply a hole bored through the wood.

See how heavy the bolster plate is made. How the bolster stakes are substantially ironed. It takes years and years and years to wear out a Mandt Wagon.

A long 52 inch Neckyoke goes with every wagon. They show strength and durability.

Note the Pole with the safety hitch, and long steel strip underneath for reinforcement.

And See What You Get For Your Money

On this rear gear, note particularly the heavy ironing. Note, too, there are no bolts going through the rear axle to weaken it. All fastened by clips. See the heavy gear brake. Large roller. Heavy brake beam.

Polarine is the new name for Zeroline. On account of some eastern company manufacturing under the name Zerolene, the Standard Oil Co. advise us they have changed the name of their brand to Polarine. The quality, however, remains the same. This is the oil you see advertised extensively in all the late magazines and periodicals.

For your transmission, we have the ever and justly popular

Havoline Light Transmission Oil

A non-fluid oil which lubricates and at the same time cushions and quiets the gears.
