FRANKTON

Mr Robert Tazwell purchased a new team Saturday.

J. R. Phillips with a couple of men started work on the Post Canyon road last week.

A social dance was held at Menominee last Saturday night, the event being in honor of Virgil Absten.

Mrs. Bert Snyder of Ruthton has gone to Lyle to visit her parents until after the Fourth. Mr. Snyder will join her there July 1st.

Virgil Absten returned Thursday from McMinnville where he has been attending college. He was accompanied by his friend Mr. Reynolds.

Mrs. Marsh Isenberg had the misfortune to have the top and seat torn from her buggy Thursday, when her horse becoming frightened at some children passing near where he was tied—broke loose and ran away.

Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Cahoon and son Merin, drove to Husum, Wash., Saturday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Rush and Mr. and Mrs. O. Patrick. They also called on Homer Green and wife and returned home Monday, voting their trip to have been very enjoyable, and are much pleased with the White Salmon country.

COULD NOT PAY AND MEN MAKE COMPLAINT

A gang of men who have been building a road for Yasul Bros., in the Upper Valley came to town Monday and sought the county judge, claiming that the contractor would not pay them. It is claimed by Yasul Bros. that the contractor was to receive no money until the contract was finished. The latter said he could not pay the men because he had no cash. Monday evening he went to Portland, claiming that he could get money there.

For Sale—A fine lot of hay in the Mt. Hood district. Near Mt. Hood Post Office. Phone, Odell 38 or 2002-x.

SOLDIERS, CARPENTERS AND MASONS WILL PLAY BALL

A base ball craze has apparently hit the town. Even the old soldiers have become affected and will try conclusions on the diamond on the Fourth. Another contest will be between the masons and carpenters. The summons to the veterans is as follows:

Headquarters Canby Post Summons No. 1.

"All officers on leave of absence will report immediately to inspect their commands and prepare for active service. Prepare to cross bats with the Ancient Order of Sons of Rest, who have revolted against their keepers. The following disposition will be made of the post members: A. C. Buck, 1b., S. F. Blythe, 2nd b., Fred Dietz, 3rd b., Frank Noble, ss., John A. Wilson, right wing, J. W. Rigby, left wing, Newton Clark, pitcher, Geo. Crowell, catcher, T. D. Tweedy, center. Outfielders mounted on cracker boxes ready for action. The rules of the game will be strictly observed and no man will be allowed to use two bats at the same time except Tweedy and Crowell. In changing base, movements must be executed in double quick time with the left of column resting on the base with their eye on the pitcher.

"Reserves: Castner, Canning, Coffin, Copple, Hardman, Wells, Silliman, Stark, Williams."

The masons and carpenters will line up as follows:

MASONS.
John G. Zolls, manager, A. W. Bucklin, p., L. A. Woodard, c., T. Tauscher, 1b., A. J. Phelps, 2nd b., F. H. Seaton, 3rd b., Geo. Grubb, ss., Will Zolls, 1t., J. Miller, cf., Geo. Zolls, rf. Substitutes: J. Dobson, C. Hatch, W. W. Nason, D. McLucas, Bert Walsh, Oscar Shoup, S. C. Phelps, Clint Mooney, Karson Bucklin, Henry Steed.

CARPENTERS.
Bill Dunn, manager, Ed Hunt, p., Jess Dunn, c., Ed Dark, 1b., F. M. Slavens, 2nd b., J. H. Fredericks, 3rd b., J. Simonton, ss., Ed Eby, 1t., Dick Loving, cf., Will McNary, rf. Substitutes: G. F. Stranahan, Ed Kent, E. O. Hall, L. M. Bentley. Umpires: J. D. McLucas and S. W. Arnold.

Rossini's Reception of Wagner.
Wagner and some companions called upon Rossini. Hearing them on the stairs, Rossini hastily placed the score of "Lohengrin" on the piano, and when the German composer entered he said, pointing to it, "You see, illustrious maestro, I am studying your work."
"But the score is upside down!" exclaimed the other, seeing how the book was placed.
"Yes," returned Rossini calmly; "the fact is I have had it the right way up for some time, but could make nothing of it," and then all present began to laugh, including Wagner himself—Voice and Violin.

Able to Take Care of Himself.
"Camille, my child," said the gentle dame, "if what I hear is true, Mr. Harkyns is boasting of having made a conquest of you, and I trust you will see the propriety of requesting him to discontinue his visits."
"Don't you worry, maw!" exclaimed the imperious beauty. "When I found out that Hank Harkyns had told Eli Jones I was dead stuck on him I gave him the g. b. You bet he knows he's broke his pluck with me, all right!"—Chicago Tribune.

The Denial Habit.
"Let me caution you about one thing," said the alert sister of the prospective groom.
"Well?"
"When the bishop asks you if you take this woman to be your wedded wife, please don't say there's no truth in the rumor."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Flush Brand.
"Did you ever gaze on royalty?"
"Just once. It cost me $3.75, and the chap who held it drew two cards too."—Detroit Free Press.

By the verdict of his own breast no guilty man is acquitted.—Juvenal.

NORTHWEST GAINS BY CO-OPERATION OF FIFTEEN RAILROADS

Scientific farming has been given marked impetus in the United States during the past seven months through the generous co-operation of fifteen great railway systems which joined with the Great Northern road in transporting exhibition cars carrying the marvelous products of Oregon, Washington, Montana and Minnesota.

Lecturers accompanying these educational "expositions on wheels" have explained modern agricultural methods to thousands of farmers in the middle western and eastern states, in the hundreds of towns where stops were made. The railways that hauled these exhibition cars over their lines, thus furthering the movement to help advance the knowledge of the farmers in their sections of the country, were—
Michigan Central.
Monon Route.
Pennsylvania R. R.
Erie R. R.
Cincinnati Northern R. R.
Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis R. R.
Vandalia Ry.
Iowa Central Ry.
Minneapolis & St. Louis Ry.

Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Ry.
Chicago & Alton Ry.
Big Four Ry.
Bessemer & Lake Erie Ry.
Baltimore & Ohio R. R.
Chicago & Rock Island Ry.
The Great Northern Railway started this most extensive publicity campaign that ever has been waged, it having sent out three cars. These cars which just completed their schedules and returned to St. Paul, traveled 12,000 miles and nearly a million persons entered them to behold the wonderful things grown in the Northwest and listen to the lecturer explain the manner in which these premium products were successfully grown. The Great Northern Ry., following the leadership of Jas. J. Hill, who is deeply interested in the agricultural development of the Northwest, now is conducting experimental farms, where their experts teach the settlers the best and most scientific methods of farming.
Pupils of public schools, throughout the eastern states especially, were daily visitors in the exhibition cars and the children learned much from the lectures on the science of tilling the soil to bring forth nature's best efforts.

Dr. M. F. Underwood, a physician minister of San Diego, spent Monday in the valley as the guest of J. L. Carter. Dr. Underwood had just returned from Chicago and will visit in Seattle and Portland before returning to California. He was induced to visit Hood River by Mr. Carter.

who met him last winter in Southern California, and was emphatic in his appreciation and approval of Hood River. The doctor is the pastor of the New Church at San Diego, a faith closely allied to the Swedenborgian.
