A goodly share of Hood River men folks were more interested last week in Portland's climb for the baseball pennant than they were in the visit of President Taft. When the Portland papers arrived the sporting page was perused first, afterward the account of the big man's visit, what he said, what he had to eat, how he liked Portland, etc. When the pennant is clinched the fan will have time to consider small things like a visit from America's first citizen, but not before.

C. B. Dalzell, deputy factory inspector, was here the latter part of the week looking over the machinery in the various manufacturing enterprises here. He reports that the state regulations are being complied with pretty generally and that Hood River is getting to use considerable machinery.

Plunged in the calchouse for having inhibited too freely of Peruna or Hostetter's Bitters a Hood River resident last week made things lively for the city marshal by setting fire to the jail bedding. While little damage was done, owing to the timely arrival of the custodian of the peace, the scare occasioned the departure from the straight and narrow path is said to have had a most salutary effect.

Increasing business has made it necessary for Postmaster Lucas to apply to the post office department for additional help and he is endeavoring now to get another clerk. W. S. Chapman, one of the owners of a large tract of the river property opposite the depot, was here Friday inspecting a roadway which is being made from the railroad right of way to the river, and which, it is said, is to connect with a warehouse and dock to be constructed in the near future.

Many Hood River housewives are getting to depend on Japanese help for housecleaning and other home duties. In fact the demand for this variety of labor has become so great that the service of these Oriental house servants has to be booked ten days ahead. Notwithstanding this fact, it is almost impossible to get other help of this kind. The Japs have a monopoly at present and the situation does not seem likely to improve. While women prefer an $8 a week position in a store or factory to a much better equivalent in the home, housekeeping, of necessity, must remain on a more or less unsteady basis unless one can afford a dishwashing machine, the vacuum cleaner man and a fireless cooker.
