

Society Notes

A double announcement was made Tuesday of the engagement of Edwin Randolph Pooley of Hood River and Miss Dorothy Newhall of Portland. The announcement was made here by Mr. Pooley at a stag dinner given in honor of the occasion, at which his brother, Richard Pooley, was host, and at which many of the young men friends of the new recruit to the ranks of bachelors were present.

According to the journal the announcement was made in Portland when a party of the girl friends of Miss Newhall were invited to enjoy tea with Miss Florence Morrison of New York, who has been visiting at Hood River for some time. Miss Newhall is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harris Newhall, and a sister of Roger Newhall. After finishing at Portland Academy Miss Newhall attended National Cathedral. From February until June of this year she traveled abroad with the Nobles. Mr. Pooley is the elder son of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Pooley, of Philadelphia and New York. He has a younger brother, Richard Pooley. Mr. Pooley is a Harvard man, and has spent some time traveling abroad. Mr. Pooley, Sr., has extensive manufacturing interests in Philadelphia. Mr. Pooley, Jr., is owner of one of the largest bearing orchards in Hood River. While in Portland Mrs. Pooley will be the guest of Mrs. R. E. Hoge and Miss Morrison will be with Miss Newhall. The wedding will take place some time in December.

The masquerade given by the Tennis Social Club was, of course, one of the features of the social season, as well as one of its most enjoyable and successful events. The costumes were unique, original, comical and elaborate. The Scottish Highlander bumped arms with the negro mammy of the south, while the Spanish gypsy girl threw languishing eyes at the devil himself, and the proud dame of colonial times coquetted with the most fantastic of clowns. Ghosts of both sexes flitted about in profusion in the half light, on the best of terms with their sister spirits—the awesome witches of fairy tales. The simple country girl, sunbonneted and be-aproned, giggled charmingly, while a negro dandy, whose costume made that of the swiftest of swell New York Thompson street niggers look like a cancelled postage stamp, swept all before him. The erinoline skirt, with its adjunct of exquisite pantalettes (excuse me) naively peeping out at the merry scene, was charmingly represented. The Dutch girl and the French grisette were there en costume, to say nothing of the cowboy in bandana and chaps. Disguised as an Irish biddy, in a costume as unattractive as the wearer is attractive in real life, a young matron wheeled about her over-grown charge, a vision in pink, in a go-cart. The good music furnished by Vogel's orchestra added to the gaiety of the throng, which had many surprises when unmasking time came. The decorations were suitable to the season of Halloween, and were also the refreshments, and the affair enjoyable both to maskers and spectators.

Halloween festivities were many, and several delightful parties fitting to the season were given, beside the larger affair of the masquerade dance. Miss McLaren entertained her Sunday school class of girls at her handsome home on Sherman avenue. The porch was lighted with colored lights, and other suitable decorations were placed in the interior. Games were indulged in and luncheon served. Mrs. E. O. Hall also gave a Halloween party in honor of Miss Theona Hall, at which the guests were fourteen of that young lady's friends. The decorations were elaborate, as was also the supper, which was partaken of on a table at the large dining table.

Another affair that took place on Halloween night was a reception given jointly in honor of Miss Mae Davidson, who has just returned from the east, and Mrs. Gladys Hartley Adams, whose engagement was announced last week. The party took place at the home of Miss Ida J. Bryant, and the guests were all J. E. G. girls. Games and frolic were the order of the evening, with luncheon as the concluding feature. Mrs. F. H. Morlan also made Halloween a festive occasion by giving a jolly party for Miss Fisher and Miss Johnson, employed in Morlan & Lathrop's store. The party was attended by a number of the young friends of these popular young ladies, and a very enjoyable evening spent. The decorations were highly original and the luncheon elaborate.

Miss Helen Davidson, who is a student at the Portland Academy, was recently home for a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Davidson. Miss Davidson entered the academy shortly after returning from her extended visit in California, and is one of several Hood River young people who are attending Portland educational institutions, two others being Marion Van Horn, who is at St. Helen's Hall, and Ned Van Horn, who is a student at the Hill Military Academy.

Live Wires Change Name

Owing to the full attendance and interesting question for discussion, the Sunday meeting of Rev. Peart's Bible class at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Myers on Jericho Lane was one of the most enthusiastic sessions during the career of this lively little class.

A discussion of the question "Did Moses write the Pentateuch?" elicited some very intelligent opinions from members.

After voting to change its name from The Live Wires Class of the Valley Christian Church to the Union Advanced Bible Class, the members accepted an invitation from Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Shoemaker to meet at their home at 10 o'clock Sunday.

Live Local Topics

Whitehead's for lime and vitriol. Chicken Dinner at the Hotel Oregon during the Apple Fair.

Extensive improvements to the S. E. Bartness home, corner 4th and State streets, have recently been made. A concrete basement was put under the building and the yard in front of it has been filled in. It has been newly painted and is now one of the most attractive in the city.

At the business meeting of the Loyal Berens Monday evening, Miss Ware was re-elected teacher; Mr. Allen, president, and Miss Evans, secretary. Mrs. McConnell was chosen vice-president; Irl Blagg, treasurer, and Miss Carter, corresponding secretary. Plans were talked over for increased activity of the class.

ATTEMPT TO STEAL HOOD RIVER AUTO

The arrival Monday night of C. H. Sprout, manager of the Hood River Apple Growers' Union, at the place where he had left his $2,000 automobile standing, in the nick of time, prevented it from being stolen. Just as Mr. Sprout reached the machine an unknown man was cranking it up. Three other strangers were inside and when they saw Mr. Sprout come up the three men jumped out of the machine and with their companion ran off in the dark. Mr. Sprout immediately reported the matter to City Marshal Lewis with a description of two of the men, but all efforts to find them have proved futile.

CENTRAL VALE

Messrs Goner and Fernyough are making a westward porch expansion on their bungalow.

Miss Bessie Moss, who is teaching school at Fir was here Saturday and Sunday visiting her brother, Mr. Moss.

Job Sheppard is remodeling the house on his place in Central Vale. They expect to occupy it in the spring.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Roberts and children were visitors at the home of Mrs. Alice Leininger the latter part of last week.

People seemed to be afraid to venture outside their homes (probably because of the wind) Sunday afternoon and as a result the Bible school suffered.

W. G. Cruse returned from Boise, on a business trip, and reports that some of his people are thinking of making a home here and buying some land.

The children of Central Vale school gave an entertainment at Halloween. They spent the evening playing games and telling fortunes. They served a lunch of coffee, doughnuts and cake.

F. X. Arens recently purchased 40 acres of Central Vale dirt from Dr. Nichol. His son held a barn raising Saturday—the largest barn in Central Vale. A large bungalow will go up in the spring.

The thrift who recently took a contract from the Central Orchard Co. to grub fifty acres in Central Vale had the misfortune to get his leg badly hurt. Another case of walking behind the sweep.

The pupils of the school are preparing for a basket social and a short program for the twenty-fifth. Something in the way of novelties can be expected. A more complete announcement will appear later.

The magnetic power of the moon is so alluring that quite a crowd of young Central Valeites attended Enderby at the Union church in Odell Sunday night. It's strange how those two moons can shrink when conditions are favorable.

Mr. and Mrs. Burden and two children of London, England, are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Job Sheppard. Mr. Burden is an experienced harness maker. They are exceptionally well pleased with Hood River valley and expect to locate in the west.

FRANKTON

Robert Elliott recently purchased ten acres of W. C. Trigg and will build shortly.

Miss Jeannette Elliott visited with her friends over Sunday, returning to Portland Monday.

Next Sunday afternoon Rev. Parsons will fill his appointment at Columbia school house. Everyone should make a special effort to be present.

The harvest days are drawing to a close, as is testified by the loads of apples that are being marketed each day. The apple crop in our section, as elsewhere, was light, but of excellent quality.

W. C. Trigg is greatly improving his place by blasting out rocks and stumps and leveling the land. When he completes his work he will have a very fine place.

PINE GROVE

Carl Grove is in Idaho on business. Grandpa Davis has been quite ill, but is slowly improving.

Rev. E. L. House of Spokane was a Pine Grove visitor this week.

Howard Berrian went to Portland on business last Friday, returning Saturday.

Sunday school and preaching services at the usual hour next Sunday morning. Services at Odell in the evening.

The Ladies' Aid of the Pine Grove church are to give a chicken pie dinner. When? Next Saturday. Where? Bell building, above the apple show. Come.

At the close of the services at the church last Sunday morning two little ones, George Hans Lage and Archie Maxwell Lester, were christened by the resident pastor.

Spooks really inhabit graveyards. If there is any doubt of this statement it can be verified by a group of Pine Grove young ladies who were out seeing the sights Halloween night.

A new kind of auto was seen passing last Friday, one of the two-horse power kind. The objection to this kind is the driving as it takes two, one to manage the horsepower and one to steer the gear.

We are very sorry to learn that C. T. Roberts has sold his fine farm and expects to give possession the first of December. Mr. Roberts and family will be missed as they have many friends in this community. Mr. Roberts is one of our school directors.

The high wind Sunday did considerable damage. Trees being blown across the track delayed the train bound for Hood River several hours. A large tree was blown across the new Neal Creek bridge, barely missing the men who were working there.

The Ladies Aid held a business meeting at the parsonage last Friday and will hold another this afternoon (Wednesday, Nov. 8.) at the same place. All members are urgently requested to be present as there is important business to be transacted.

While Miss Irma Ashere and her little brother Fleming were coming to Sunday school last Sunday morning the horse ran away throwing both out. Fleming escaped with a shaking up, but Irma received a bad cut in the face by being thrown on a sharp rock and was considerably bruised otherwise.

The beautiful Hill home was a scene of merry enjoyment last Saturday afternoon when a number of little ones from both town and country helped Miss Ruth celebrate her seventh birthday. The Misses Turney assisted the young hostess in entertaining. A dainty supper was served by Mrs. Hill, assisted by Miss James Osborn and Starrite. The beautiful birthday cake with its seven candles was presented by Mrs. Osborn. All had a delightful time and hope Miss Ruth will have many more anniversaries.
