HOOD RIVER APPLE FAIR BIG SUCCESS

The Elks were guided to the exhibit by a string of electric lights which ran from the depot to the entrance of the fair building. As they entered they were each given a handsome Jonathan apple wrapped in a wrapper on which was printed: "Greeting, Fair Association of Hood River to B. P. O. E. Portland, 1912."

On arriving inside the show the Elks sang several verses of a song that had been especially composed to apply to Hood River and its apples, and then gave three rousing cheers and a tiger.

The visitors were joined here by a large party of local members of the order, who went on to The Dalles with them.

The largest number of spectators during the show saw the apples Saturday, crowding the exhibit room and the streets. Most of the displays will be exhibited in Portland, but some of them have been sold for fancy prices. Five boxes were purchased from Oscar Vanderbilt by N. Niguma, a Japanese merchant, who will forward them to the mikado.

A fact that interested Portland visitors was that Hood River orchard owners who reside in the Rose City won so many prizes.

The full list of awards is as follows:

SAYS HOOD RIVER PEOPLE SHOULD SUPPORT THE NEWS

Ludington, Mich., Nov. 6, 1911.

Gentlemen:—I enclose check of $4 which pays my subscription to date, and a little more. Kindly discontinue as I do not wish to keep it up any longer. At one time I was very much inclined to locate in your city, but have now abandoned this idea. I wish, however, to say that I admire very much the aggressive spirit of the News in boosting for Hood River and the adjacent district. The News is entitled to and should receive the warmest support from all your citizens.

With kindest regards,
FOSTER LABAR.

UNIVERSITY CLUB'S BANQUET A SUCCESS

During several humorous incidents bearing on his change of ground, gave a very eloquent discourse on the work and needs of the University of Oregon, and also the influence of university men on higher civilization—what their aims should be, what they could accomplish, and what such an organization as Hood River was fortunate enough to possess, could do, not only for Hood River, but the state at large. Dr. Campbell's strong point was that the moral influence of the university should predominate the materialistic; that it should be for everything that is higher and better, and he asked the support of the club to obtain a better state university for this purpose.

Dr. Campbell was followed by Attorney E. C. Smith, whose remarks were of both a serious and humorous nature. Dr. John F. Beaumont, of Portland, a staunch supporter of the club and an ardent Hood River ranch owner, spoke of the great future for the valley and the influence the club could exert in its welfare. O. T. Wedemeyer sang "Brown October Ale" so well that he had to respond again, and Rev. H. A. MacDonald made a very strong plea for the library which the Woman's Club is so earnestly working for, stating that when a sufficient showing was made, the women would appeal to Andrew Carnegie to supply funds for the building. Judge Earl C. Bronaugh, who was at the banquet as the guest of J. E. Hall, was not allowed to hide his light, and responded to the call of the toastmaster with a polished address. H. G. Kauffman, secretary of the Commercial Club, made an appropriate talk apropos of apples keeping the men of Hood River Valley young, and Jack Latourette, of Portland, told a good story and spoke to the point briefly, saying that in proportion to the population the Hood River University Club was stronger than any organization of its kind on the coast, not excepting his native city. Elerslie E. Luther, of Watsonville, Calif., told what education was costing the taxpayers of the golden state, which last year spent over $2,000,000 in maintaining its schools and colleges, and said that he believed that the money thus expended was the state's greatest asset.

"And Lang Syne" was then sung by the assemblage and the banquet passed into history as the most successful of these affairs ever given by the club.

Valley Christian Church Notes

The Sunday school board of the Valley Christian church met with their friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Gibbons Friday evening, Nov. 3rd. After having visited socially for a while the meeting was called to order by J. E. Boyce, our superintendent. A short devotional service was held after which the business of the meeting was taken up.

The first report heard was from the secretary, which was approved. Following this the question of making quarterly reports to parents as to the conditions of the Sunday school was discussed. As a result of this discussion Mr. Sweany made a motion, which was seconded, that such a report should be made and a committee was appointed to outline a form for such a report.

The next subject under discussion was whether it would be a practical idea to have class rooms formed by means of curtains. A committee was appointed to take up this matter and report later.

Following this a motion was made and seconded to pay all expenses of all classes for amount spent for special decorations.

The need of teachers was next discussed and Mrs. Gaultier was appointed supply teacher.

All business having been transacted the meeting was adjourned after which we were served with splendid refreshments by our hostess.

Grace U. B. Church News

Last Thursday at the parsonage O. B. Hottman and Miss Ruth O. Brown were married by the pastor.

On Sunday morning at the home of Mrs. Flora Hartley, the bride's mother, Mrs. Gladys Adams and M. C. Hammack were launched on the sea of matrimony by the Rev. Parsons. A sumptuous spread was enjoyed by the immediate family and Wm. Hammack of Portland and Miss Lena Halliwell of Hood River. Mr. and Mrs. Hammack will be at home to their many friends in Portland.

Ballard's SNOW LINIMENT

Is the Right Remedy for All Abrasions of the Flesh.

If the wound is cleansed and the liniment applied promptly, the healing process begins at once and the wound heals from the inside outwardly, thus performing a perfect cure that leaves no scar. If the wound heals on the outside too quickly, pus forms under the surface and breaks out into a running sore that is hard to cure and inevitably leaves a bad scar.

Owners of blooded stock prefer this liniment to all others for that reason, and they use it not only on fine animals, but on human flesh, as it does its work quickly and thoroughly.

Price 25c, 50c and $1.00.
