HOBBO DEMANDS MEAL GETS NINETY DAYS

"Harry Redmond, a hobo about 45 years old," says The Dalles Chronicle "demanded a free meal yesterday from two Dalles women. He got it alright, but today he paid dearly for what he had to eat, being sentenced to serve 90 days in jail.

"Mrs. Lew F. Cullens, wife of the proprietor of the Casino theatre, was entertaining a neighbor, Mrs. Fisher, at her home on East Fourth street, Tuesday about noon, when Redmond stalked into the house in a drunken condition.

"Here, damn you two, get me some dinner," he said.

"Badly frightened the two ladies thought it wise to heed the command, thinking the man would leave as soon as he finished eating. He followed them around as they prepared the edibles, commanding them to work with all possible speed. He would not let them get out of his sight while he ate he watched them so closely they were afraid to cry for help or leave the room. Finishing eating, Redmond jumped up and said, 'Have you any money in the house?'

"Mrs. Cullens fainting then and the intruder started toward a bedroom, probably intending to make a search for money and valuables. However, as he passed in front of the door leading to the outside Mrs. Fisher gave him a vigorous push and the unexpected attack sent the drunk out of the house. The door was slammed and locked and then Mrs. Fisher cried for help. At that Redmond ran away.

"The women gave Chief of Police R. R. McDonald a good description of the hobo and the officer arrested the man on Second street yesterday afternoon."

HOWELL AND GLISAN SENTENCED FOR LIFE

Del Howell, indicted for murder in the first degree, was allowed to plead guilty to murder in the second degree in the circuit court at The Dalles and was sentenced by Judge Bradshaw to the penitentiary for the remainder of his life.

The crime for which Howell is to serve a life sentence is the killing of J. C. Fowle, mayor of Shaniko, and cashier of the Eastern Oregon Banking Company.

Howell was for many years a prominent figure in Shaniko, where he conducted a livery and feed stable, and during the building of the railroads into Central Oregon and the rush of settlers to that section, had an extensive business, accumulating a considerable amount of money. For several years he was deputy sheriff of Shaniko under Sheriff Levi Christman, but had not held that position for more than a year. He has a wife and two children, on whom the blow of the husband and father being taken from them for life, is severe.

William Glisan, who was indicted for murdering his mother at Antelope, Oregon, also pleaded guilty and was sentenced to life imprisonment. Fred Eveland, who killed Dave Mannasau at The Dalles on the morning of October 12, was indicted by the grand jury for murder in the first degree.

Pickpocket Works Boldly

As two ladies, visitors at The Dalles, were standing opposite the Grand theater about 2 o'clock one afternoon last week, they noticed a rather dark, short man, who appeared to have been standing in the vestibule of the theater, reel out and trip, sprawling across the sidewalk, evidently the worse for liquor. Just then a well-dressed man passed and stooped over the prostrate fellow, as the ladies thought to help him up, but instead they distinctly saw him turn both trousers pockets wrong side out, heard the clink of a coin as it dropped to the walk and he recovered it, and also heard the clink as he dropped them into his own pockets and walked unconcernedly away without a glance about. The streets happened to be well-nigh deserted and the ladies were so astounded at what they saw, and so unfamiliar with the city, that they failed to notify a policeman. The pickpocket was evidently an expert at the trade.—Optimist.

A Good Position

Can be had by ambitious young men and ladies in the field of "wireless" or railway telegraphy. Since the 8-hour law became effective, and since the wireless companies are establishing stations throughout the country, there is a great shortage of telegraphers. Positions pay beginners from $70 to $90 per month, with good chance of advancement. The National Telegraph Institute of Portland, Ore., operates under supervision of railroad and wireless officials, and places all graduates into positions. It will pay you to write them for full details.

MANY HOOD RIVER STUDENTS AT U. OF O.

Hood River ranks as high as any town in the state in the number of students at the state university in proportion to the size of its high school. Each year a good many enter from the graduating class. In order to keep up this good record there was organized in the fall of 1908 a Hood River Club at the university. All students who have attended the Hood River schools are eligible to membership. At first there were only about seven members, but now there are at least twenty. This club is one of the active clubs of the university, it being the duty of each member to pledge himself or herself to return the next year with a new student. Speeches are made at the high school at vacation time, on college life and the work which is being accomplished. In the spring prospective students are entertained at Eugene in the interest of the university.

Recent tests made in Eugene by Prof. Sweetser, the head of the bacteriological department, show that the water is now free from bacteria. An up to date sand filter was installed last year by the city and it has proven a success in every way. Daily tests have been made from different parts of the city and then compared with the river water and show a decrease of as high as 308 bacteria from the river to four from the filter. Recent development has shown that the typhoid scare of last year was not from the city water, but from old wells which have been filled up. Parents need have no fear in sending their children to Eugene on account of the water.

Ferdinand Struck, who graduated last June, is teaching in the Tacoma high school. He is head of the manual training department and assistant trainer of athletes.

Este Brosius, a member of the class of 1913, is out of school this semester, traveling in Europe.
