WHITE SALMON

(From the Enterprise)

T. F. Gannon has purchased the Roy Slocum quarter section of land adjoining the C. J. Winchell place up the White Salmon river for $12,000, the sale being made through Mr. Winchell. Mr. Gannon is a fruit drier of twenty years' experience, and will eventually develop a plant to care for what he does not dispose of from his future orchard as fancy apples.

W. W. Swan has been figuring with the Northwestern Electric Co. to freight their material to the dam site, the intention being to get an auto truck. The company, however, can make no contract until it definitely determines the dam is to be completed, and this cannot be done until solid foundation is found for building the concrete piers.

A number of Austrians went through town the other day with their packs on their backs, bound for Portland, after a stay of three weeks. The superintendent of the gang had come to the conclusion there was nothing to be made in clearing 90 acres of the White Salmon Fruit Company's tract at $60 an acre and $2 per thousand feet for the logs.

TEACHERS' AND PARENTS' ASSOCIATION WILL MEET

Next Monday, February 19, at the high school building the School and Home Association will hold one of the most important meetings in its history. The speaker of the evening will be J. H. Jeffry, now of Hood River, who comes to us out of a rich experience. His theme is, "Music in the Public Schools." The members and all others in Hood River are urged to be present for the address and also for the get-together opportunities that are afforded. The subject of music is of special interest in relation to our own schools, for training in singing is one of our great needs. The meeting will be called to order at 8 o'clock.
