OUR WORLD AS A MOON.

Fine Display a Full Earth Would Give to the Selenites.
Were we transported to the planet Venus a peculiar set of views could be obtained of our earth, enabling us to see ourselves, to some extent at least, as others see us. Venus is about the same size as the earth, is somewhat closer to the sun and has more atmosphere than the earth. When the earth and Venus are nearest together they are, of course, on the same side of the sun, and in consequence of this the earth does not seem more than a very small part of Venus illuminated, but Venus, on the other hand, sees all of one side of the earth illuminated and is therefore able to claim she has something that takes the place of a moon, for the earth to Venus at this time looks very large and bright, almost as much so as our moon does to us.
If we could see all the illuminated surface of Venus on these occasions we should have quite a distinct second moon. When we do see all of her illuminated surface she is on the opposite side of the sun from us and consequently at an enormous distance, yet she is so brilliant as to prevent us from seeing her surface distinctly.
But to our own moon we appear in the best light as a moon. A full earth as seen from the moon, according to Todd and other astronomers, is a very inspiring sight. It can at once be seen why this is necessarily true. The earth is several times larger than the moon and would appear in the heavens as a disk about fourteen times the size of the moon. It would probably shine with a variable light, due to the shifting clouds of the earth, though the light is, of course, reflected from the sun, and the reflection is due in part to the upper surfaces of the clouds.
The outlines of the continents of the earth appear very clearly to the moon as if they were formed in paper mache on a globe. Cities of comparatively large size could be made out with ease in case observers were there to make them out. The intensity of the reflected earth light would be as much as fourteen moons and would enable the Selenites, if such there were, to read or work in comparative daylight.--Harper's Weekly.

Notice to Contractors
Office of School Clerk of District No. 11, Hood River, Oregon, May 27 1912. Sealed proposals will be received here until 1:45 P. M. on the 11th day of June, 1912, for the construction of a school house in School District No. 11, Hood River county, Ore. The Board reserves the right to reject all bids.
Each bidder must accompany his bid by a certified check payable to H. M. Francis, clerk of the Board of Education for District No. 11, for at least ten per cent of the amount of his bid. This amount will be forfeited to School District No. 11 should the bidder fail upon the request of the Board of Education to enter into a contract with the Board to construct the work as per plan and specification within five days after the award of contract.
The successful bidder will be required to furnish a contractor's bond in amount of not less than 50 per cent of the total amount of his bid, for the faithful performance of the work, with two satisfactory sureties, or the bond of some approved Security Company, for an amount not less than 50 per cent of the total amount of his bid. Payment to be made as follows: Seventy-five per cent of the value of the work performed during each month, to be paid for at the close of the month; the final payment to be made upon the completion of the work and acceptance of the same by the architect and Board of Education. Plans and specifications can be had at the office of Mr. Sutton on and after the 4th day of June, 1912.
Each contractor taking out a set of plans must deposit Five Dollars ($5.00), which amount will be returned to him upon return of the plans. Information furnished upon application.
H. M. FRANCIS, Clerk of the Board of Education.

The Dry Season Is Nearly Here

Look at your wagon wheels and see if the tires do not need tightening. Loose tires will cause loose spokes and otherwise damages the wheels. Better have this work done before you use the wagon to haul your crop of berries. Bring your wagon to us and let us put it in good shape for the coming dry season.
