

FORMER HOOD RIVER CITIZEN

The following obituary of James McBain appeared in Sunday's Oregonian in a dispatch from Waukibus, Wash., where Mr. McBain resided after leaving Hood River:

"James McBain, who died here recently, was prominent in the industrial development of this section. He was born at Aberdeen, Scotland, June 18, 1861. Until 16 years of age he followed the occupation of shepherd boy for the flock masters of the Highlands. Then he entered as an apprentice to a marblecutter and stonemason. After five years he completed his service and came to America, landing in New York in 1881. "He did his first stone work in America in Cypress cemetery, near New York City. He came to the Cascade Locks in 1892, where he worked four years until the completion of the locks. He then moved to Hood River, where he laid the foundations of the Baptist, Unitarian, Episcopalian and Catholic churches. The latter cathedral has a cornerstone that is two feet by ten feet that has wrought within, a receptacle for the church's archives, that testifies to the skill of Mr. McBain as a stoneworker.

"He opened marbleworks at Hood River in 1902, which he conducted nine years. He married Miss Lola J. Dennison at Portland in 1883. There survive a widow, two daughters, Lois M. and Katherine, two sons, Thomas and Darwin McBain.

The McBain quarry will now be operated under the direction of the McBain estate and John Flerie, the latter a native of Aberdeen, Scotland."

TAMP OSBORN ARRESTED AS PENDLETON GAMBLER

"Tamp" Osborn, well known in the baseball world as a veteran pitcher, now under suspension, was arrested last night on a charge of conducting a gambling game in one of the local hotels. He was this morning arraigned, waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to the grand jury under $500 bonds. Falling to secure the bonds he is behind the bars of the county jail.

It is said Osborn sold imitation Elk teeth just before the Elks' convention, says a dispatch from Pendleton.

BITULITHIC CHOSEN FOR LEBANON STREETS

At an adjourned meeting of the city council, the bids for the paving of a mile of Lebanon streets was awarded to the Federal Construction Co., says the Oregonian.

There was an unusually large number of bidders for the work here and for a large variety of paving.

After thorough investigation of all the different kinds of pavement the council adopted the bitulithic.

One of the leading inducements for the selection of this kind was the remarkable record for durability it is making elsewhere.

The area to be paved is a little more than 25,000 square yards and the completed work, including curbs and drainage, makes the total cost of public improvements for the city for this year exceed $112,000.

HOOD RIVER'S LARGEST AND BEST STORE

EACH MAN EARNS $25 PER MINUTE

For going down 200 feet under the surface of Puget Sound in a new submarine, each man received $250 a piece, not long ago. This is a vessel constructed by the Seattle Construction & Dry Dock Company for the government. The descent into the deep was for the purpose of demonstrating the little crafts ability to withstand 13,248 pounds of pressure to the square foot. The test was a success in every way and the men got their money for putting in just ten minutes of time.

ORCHARDS SURPRISE MICHIGAN VISITOR

John E. Tracy, an attorney of Me-nominee, Michigan, made a trip through the Hood River valley this week with his brother-in-law, Hosmer K. Arnold, of Portland. Mr. Arnold owns 20 acres on the West Side, south of the Belmont Planer, which he has been improving for several years and now has an orchard that will come into bearing next year. Mr. Tracy expressed himself as being delighted with the Hood River valley and surroundings, having often seen our fruit in Eastern markets, but had no conception of the development and progress made by Hood River and the Hood River Valley in the past eight years, since he last visited Oregon.

Farm Boys in Clubs

In connection with the work of the Lewiston-Clarkston School of Practical Horticulture, boys' agricultural clubs, the membership open to the lads of the two cities and the valley, are to be organized. The announcement was made yesterday by Prof. W. S. Thornber.

The initial step will be a series of lectures. Mr. Thornber said that the plan was to admit to membership boys ranging in age from 10 to 20 years. The work will be carried on during the summer months and the plan will include excursions to the nearby producing districts. The objects sought are to give to the boys practical knowledge along agricultural lines. As horticulture is pre-eminent in the valley, the work will be centered about that industry.

The West Side Improvement Club is surely composed of a live bunch of fruit growers and all-around boosters. The idea of a monthly meeting at which to gather to have discussed and to discuss the live things that are of direct interest to the Hood River orchardists is original with them and they are making the gatherings a mighty big success. The last meeting was largely attended. The next meeting will be held in the Oak Grove hall on August 6 at 1:30 p. m. at which Prof. Hyslop of the O. A. C. will speak on the subject of cover crops. THE DRUGGIST

The doctor's work is only half what has to be done for the patient. And if the druggist be lacking in ability and care the prescription might as well have never been written. But we make a special study of each case and our own medical knowledge is thorough enough to be of great use to us in those sometimes occurring cases when the doctor, in his haste, makes a slight error.
