

Marriage Not a Hindrance to the Career of a Woman Singer

No Reason For Opera Stars to Remain Single

By MME. MARCELLA SEMBRICH, Grand Opera Singer.

INDISCRIMINATE ADVICE TO YOUNG WOMEN SINGERS AGAINST MATRIMONY SHOULD STOP. PARENTS AND FRIENDS OF YOUNG ARTISTS SHOULD RESENT THE EFFORTS OF FAME SEEKING INSTRUCTORS TO PREVENT MARRIAGE ON THE PART OF THEIR BUDDING PUPILS. THESE ATTEMPTS ARE NOT ONLY UNHUMANITARIAN, BUT CONSTITUTE AN UTTERLY MISDIRECTED ZEAL.

Not that I recommend marriage for every woman singer regardless of everything, but I refuse to recognize the duty or right of any one to legislate for singers in this manner.

There are many persons who say opera singers should not wed. This is decidedly pernicious doctrine, and no one can conscientiously indorse it who appreciates the operatic environment.

Women of the opera are better fitted for marriage than most women, for they are STRONG IN BODY AND MIND. Their children should be proportionally healthier than the average child. They can live domestic and happy lives, as has been sufficiently proved. AS MARRIED WOMEN THEY SING EVEN BETTER BECAUSE THEY ARE HAPPIER, even if all do not realize this fact.

Why discourage a sacred and indispensable state merely to satisfy the misguided WHIM OF SOME AVARICIOUS TEACHER who fears the loss of his pet pupil? His advice is unquestionably bad, and fortunately it miscarries, as a rule.

Summons

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, in and for Hood River County.

Nellie Lehman, Plaintiff vs. Joseph E. Lehman, Defendant.

To Joseph E. Lehman, defendant: In the name of the State of Oregon, You are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above named Court and entitled suit, on or before the last day of six consecutive weeks from the date of the first publication of this Summons, as hereinafter stated, and if you fail to so appear and answer, for want thereof, plaintiff will apply to this court for the relief demanded in her said complaint and will take judgment and decree of this Court for a divorce from the bonds of matrimony on the grounds of habitual drunkenness and of cruel and inhuman treatment, for the care, custody and control of her minor child, John William Lehman, and for other equitable relief.

You are hereby served by publication of this Summons by order of Honorable George R. Caster, County Judge of Hood River County, Oregon, made September 10, 1912, which order prescribed that you shall appear and answer said complaint on or before the last day of six consecutive weeks from the date of the first publication of this Summons, to-wit, October 23, 1912, and the 11th day of September, 1912, as the date of said first publication; and you are notified that said date is and will be the first publication of this Summons.

GEORGE R. WILBUR, Plaintiff's Attorney, Hood River, Oregon.

JAVA'S ISLAND OF FIRE.

It is Really a Lake of Boiling, Bubbling Mud and Slime.

The greatest natural wonder in Java, if not in the entire world, is the justly celebrated "Gheko Kamdka Gumko," or "Home of the Hot Devils," known to the world as the Island of Fire. This geological singularity is really a lake of boiling mud situated at about the center of the plains of Grobogana and is called an island because the great emerald sea of vegetation which surrounds it gives it that appearance.

The "Island" is about two miles in circumference and is situated at a distance of almost exactly fifty miles from Solo. Near the center of this geological freak immense columns of soft, hot mud may be seen continually rising and falling like great timbers thrust through the boiling substratum by giant hands and then again quickly withdrawn. Besides the phenomenon of the boiling mud columns there are scores of gigantic bubbles of hot slime that fill up like huge balloons and keep up a series of constant explosions, the intensity of the detonations varying with the size of the bubble.

THE HISTORY OF ZINC.

Introduced into Europe from India Under Several Names.

Zinc was introduced into Europe in the seventeenth or eighteenth century by men from India. It was known then as calaem, splauter or tuttanago and was the same metal which the famous alchemist, Andreas Lebarvius, described in 1606 and which he declared consisted of silver, cadmia, mercury and arsenic.

Late in the sixteenth century keen competition was going on between the Portuguese and the Dutch in the Indian seas, and a Portuguese ship having been captured by the Dutch, her cargo of calaem or "Indian tin" found its way into Europe. Nobody at that time knew what it was, and it was a piece of this cargo that became the subject of analysis by Lebarvius.

Zinc, it seems, was first produced in India, but soon became an important industry in China. The first Chinese book which mentions zinc, calling it yu-uen, according to the Engineering and Mining Journal, is the "Benkonggallou, or Technical Encyclopedia. China was the sole producer of zinc until the middle of the eighteenth century, disregarding a minute quantity of that metal which was occasionally obtained as a byproduct in the lead furnaces of Goslar in the Harz mountains.—New York Post.

Strangers in Fez.

"The people of Fez are charming," declares J. F. Legard in the Pall Mall Magazine. "During one's walks or rides through the town it is quite the exception to be spat-at, as is often the case in other ultra-Mohammedan towns, and the crowd is, on the whole, merely smiling and inquisitive, like a crowd in Naples or any other south Italian town. Now and then some fanatic—generally an epileptic—will try to raise a disturbance and will be gently removed by his friends—the Moors are kindness itself in the face of poverty or affliction—but, except for these and a few casual curses from the old and soured, the Christian dog may pursue his way in comparative peace, provided he does not attempt to enter a mosque or pass the barriers placed in front of those streets leading up to the tomb of Moulay Idriss, the founder and patron saint of Fez."

Mistakes of Authors.

The author of "Don Quixote" makes the party at the Crescent tavern eat two suppers in one evening. Scott in one chapter of "Ivanhoe" gives the Christian name of Malvoisin as Richard, subsequently altering it to Phillip. Pope makes a weasel eat corn. Kingsley makes John Brumblecombe read the prayer for "all sorts and conditions of men," though in the time of Elizabeth the prayer book did not contain it. Sir Archibald Allison speaks of "Sir Peregrine Pickle" when he means Sir Peregrine Maitland, and the same author translated "drott de timbre" as timber duty, "a bowler," which is only equaled by Victor Hugo's translation of "Firth of Forth," "premier de quatre."

Lions as Watchdogs.

A Rhodesian farmer is reported to have trained two African lions to protect his premises. They act as night patrols, and are keenly on the alert to every sound. For a considerable time he had employed dogs, but they were invariably poisoned. He tried the experiment with lions as the result of his knowledge that the "king of the forest" will not touch poisoned food.—London Globe.

Threats.

I consider it a mark of great prudence in a man to abstain from threats or any contemptuous expressions, for neither of these weaken the enemy, but threats make him more cautious and the other excites his hatred and a desire to revenge himself.—Machiavelli.

The Right Thing.

"What did you do with your book whose left you found loosened?" "Put it through a legal process." "What do you mean?" "Had it bound over to keep the piece."—Baltimore American.
