ALL IS READY FOR THE PORTLAND SHOW

The plans for the Pacific Northwest Land Products Show have been perfected, and during the week of the show, November 18th to 23rd, inclusive, there will be displayed the largest and most complete educational and comprehensive exhibit of all orchard and soil products of the Pacific Northwest ever shown west of New York City. Total floor space 60,000 square feet, under one roof.

All of the older districts, Hood River included, as well as new districts, have arranged to exhibit in both the Artistic Apple Display and District Agricultural Display, and more than twenty districts whose products have never been shown before will be entered in each class.

Individual orchardists and farmers in large numbers have entered for the attractive cash and other prizes offered for box and plate displays of apples, pears, nuts, and other products.

Dried fruits, processed fruits, by-products, jellies and preserves from all sections will be exhibited, not only in district displays, but also in competitive classes.

A special class has been arranged for the potato, and many entries have been made, showing from ten to thirty commercially valuable varieties each, and competition will be keen for the $175,000 in cash prizes, silver cups and medals offered.

There will be special exhibits of all up-to-date and improved farm machinery, appliances, tools, spraying machines, etc., in space specially assigned for such display.

Mike Spelled It Then

"There's a dead horse on Guerrero street," announced a San Francisco patrolman, coming into a station after his day on duty.

"Well, make out a report," ordered the sergeant.

"Why, you make out the report, don't you, sergeant?"

"I don't. You make out your own reports. You've passed your civil service examinations."

Mike equipped himself with a pen and began scratching laboriously. He asked, "How d'you spell Guerrero?"

"G'wan. You're writing that report."

An interval of silence. Then: "Sergeant, how do you spell Guerrero street?"

"Stop bothering me," the sergeant ordered. "I am no information bureau."

Pretty soon the patrolman got up, clapped on his helmet and started for the door.

"Where are you going?" demanded the sergeant.

"I'm a-goin'," said the policeman, "to drag that dead horse around into Sixteenth street."
