

WE ENJOY the CONFIDENCE

Of our Customers and glory in it. Fair dealing, honest goods, low prices and up-to-date sale service are some of the prime factors of our success . . . . .

Ladies' Suits, $10.00 to $25.00

Ladies' Cloaks, $5.00 to $20.00

We undersell the credit stores by big percentages, as any thinking person must know. You don't pay for anyone's goods but your own here. We can sell cheaper and give you better goods and service than the misguided dealer who tries to carry a stock on his shelves, and also one on his books. If you deal at such a store, you can depend you pay heavily for it. They cannot buy goods as cheap as the cash stores, because they do not discount their bills. They are always like "a toad under a harrow"—and you pay for it.

A Joke On a Reporter
The News pleads guilty of misrepresentation to the extent of having "faked" a couple of items in last week's issue. It was therefore amusing, though not entirely unexpected, when they appeared the following day in another local paper as bona fide news items. One of them as it appeared in the News Wednesday was as follows:
"Captain C. P. McDuff, a retired sea captain of Gloucester, Me., has arrived in Hood River and expects to make his future home here. His wife and family will join him in the spring."
On Thursday this item appeared as follows:
"Capt. C. P. McDuff, of Gloucester, Me., has arrived in the city and is looking over the valley. He expects to locate in the West and his family will join him later. Capt. McDuff is a retired sea captain."
Here is the other that appeared in the News Wednesday:
"Mrs. Maria Smith left for Salt Lake City Monday, called there by the illness of her daughter."
This appeared the following day like this:
"Mrs. Maria Smith was called to Salt Lake City Monday because of the serious illness of her daughter."

Just as we expected, Wilson was elected, the town went dry and Woman's suffrage carried and now indignation meetings are being held all over the valley by the bed bugs because Mr. Bartness will persist in selling Iron Beds, Vermin Proof Springs and Seelye mattresses that are not tufted. There is absolutely no chance for an industrious bug to make an honest living.

The lectures from now on to the end will enter more thoroughly into the methods and results and aim to show that the truths of religion proper, belief in God, the human soul, and possible communion between are equally certain with the facts of science. It is a most interesting and thoughtful study. The outline of the next lecture is as follows:
1. Claim of science to possess exclusive knowledge and rightful sovereignty.
2. The faiths of science. A. Intuitive knowledge; B. Evidence; C. Authority; D. Analogy; E. Hypothesis.
3. Grounds and methods similar to those of religion.

WORK ON CELILO CANAL PROGRESSES

With a force of 500 men The Dalles-Celilo Canal is being pushed to completion as rapidly as the funds available will permit, according to Captain H. H. Robert, Corps of Engineers, U. S. A. Early next month about 100 Astorians, under auspices of the Chamber of Commerce of that city, will go up the Columbia and inspect the canal. Arrangements have been made for them to make the trip over the Spokane, Portland & Seattle Railroad. They will disembark from the train at the south approach of the Oregon Trunk bridge, which spans the river near the upper end of the artificial waterway. From there they will go over the entire canal site. At that time both the concrete and excavation work will be under full swing.

A few days later General Bixby, the chief of the engineers, will reach the district after having looked over the rivers and harbors under the jurisdiction of Major Kavanagh of Seattle. It is probable that General Bixby will make the trip from Pasco down the Columbia River as far as Celilo on the government steamer Umatilla, inspecting the canal before coming to Portland.
