Riches of Oregon Soil Prompt United Action for Education

A bill will be prepared and submitted to the Legislature providing for the cooperation of county, state and federal governments to exploit the riches of Oregon's soil. This bill will provide for appropriations by the state, to be combined with government and local funds to carry forward a splendid system of agricultural education throughout all Oregon. Co-operative demonstration skilled instructors under the direction of the Oregon Agricultural College.

A general committee of representative business, professional and educational men is at work on the proposed law, putting it in shape to present later to the state law makers. According to Dr. Kerr, of the Oregon Agricultural College, the work of that institution should be demonstrated among the farmers, giving them, at their homes, the opportunity of seeing the very latest methods of agriculture. All interests will work together to supply this need.

A "Touching" Story.

The young lady who had sat for a crayon portrait was not altogether pleased with the result. "It looks like me, of course," she said, inspecting it doubtfully, "and yet I think there are some things about it that ought to be changed."

She suggested that the eyes should have rather more of an upward look, that the right hand should be a little less prominent, that the hair should be made more wavy and that certain changes ought to be made in the drapery.

"That would require a great deal of retouching," said the artist, "and should have to charge you about $10 additional."

"Oh, dear!" she exclaimed, with a pout. "I shall have to give it up. Papa won't stand my 'retouching' him to that extent."

The Eagle.

According to Washington Irving, the Delaware Indian had a superstitious reverence for the eagle, believing that a guardian spirit in the form of this bird watched over them, hovering in the sky far out of sight. When pleased with their actions, he sent abundant crops and made them have great success in hunting, but when displeased he would vent his rage in the thunder, which was his voice, and the lightning, which was the flashing of his eye, and strike dead the object of his displeasure. They also believed that the feathers of this bird would render the wearer invisible and invulnerable.

One Way of Putting It.

"My dear boy," said Ennepek, who happened to be in a confidential mood, "you will never know what real happiness is until you get married."

"You don't mean it!" exclaimed Singleton, astonished at such a remark from such an unexpected source.

"It's a fact," rejoined Ennepek; "but then it will be too late for you to appreciate it."—London Answers.

Rapidly Aged.

Client (to matrimonial agent)—You showed me this lady's photo last year and told me she was twenty-five, but after making inquiries I find she is over thirty. Matrimonial Agent—Well, you see, her father died lately and that aged her very much.

Great Provocation.

"You say, madam, that you were under great excitement when you struck this woman."

"Yes. She had just found the family Bible with my age in it."

The Easiest Task.

Probably the easiest task is for a poor man to tell what a rich man should do with his money.—Athenian Globe.

Men of Big Business Forget That People Rule

By ELBERT H. GARY, Head of the United States Steel Corporation

QUESTIONS of great magnitude and concern are at present agitating the minds of the people throughout the world. Men of big business may be STUBBORNLY OBLIVIOUS of some of them, but we ought not to be. We refuse to consider, or at least postpone consideration of, many of them. The questions are international, national and domestic, and they involve the welfare of every one.

We are disposed to wrap around ourselves the CLOAK OF SELF RIGHTEOUSNESS, or we proclaim that we rely upon the stability of the government or the majesty of the law, and we consider ourselves safe, whether within our vision everything seems to be calm and tranquil or otherwise.

WE SOMETIMES FORGET THAT IT IS THE MASSES OF THE PEOPLE WHO DETERMINE FINAL RESULTS; THAT THEY MAY ESTABLISH AND ABOLISH GOVERNMENTS; THAT THEY MAY MAKE AND UNMAKE CONSTITUTIONS. SOONER OR LATER THEY BRING ABOUT CONDITIONS SATISFACTORY TO THEM, EVEN BY RESORTING TO DESTRUCTIVE MEASURES. THEY HAVE THE MIGHT, AND THEY CAN DETERMINE FOR THEMSELVES WHAT IS THE RIGHT.

They believe in the sentiment, to quote from a French writer on French history, that "there is a bigotry in politics as well as in religion, and it is the worst of bigotry to reject change as something which is inherently bad. LAWS TO BE PERMANENTLY USEFUL MUST VARY WITH THE VARYING CONDITION OF MAN.
