

Money Saving Remnant Sale

Hundreds of good lengths, for Waists, Dresses, Skirts, Table Linens, Toweling, Embroideries, Laces, Flannels, Silks, White Goods, Etc., all marked at prices to insure quick selling

CLEARANCE SALE

On Men's Suits and Overcoats
Hundreds to Select From--ALL REDUCED

FRANK A. CRAM

LOCALS AND PERSONALS

Feed the birds.
For Sale—5000 d'Anjou pear trees. Inquire of F. E. Jackson. 2-3
Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Gillis spent several days last week in Portland.
Mrs. F. G. Hutchinson spent the last of the week with her husband in Portland.
Mrs. H. L. Howe and daughter, Miss Helen, are attending the short course at the O. A. C.
Mrs. G. A. Molden went to Salem Friday, called there by the death of her mother, Mrs. Rosa Bernardi.
Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Fording left Thursday for Seattle, where they will spend a short time before going to Southern California for the winter.
Rev. G. W. Kennedy was at The Dalles the last of the week officiating at the funeral of C. C. Sargent, who died in that city Wednesday afternoon.
John R. Putnam, county commissioner elect from the Upper Valley, spent last week in the city attending the sessions of the county court and acquainting himself with the duties of the office.
At a meeting of the newly-elected directors of the Commercial Club last week officers were elected as follows: W. L. Clarke, president; Dr. J. F. Watt, vice-president; J. E. Robertson, treasurer, and R. E. Scott, secretary.
Suit for divorce has been filed in the Circuit court by Carrie Satterlee against William M. Satterlee. They were married December 8, 1897, at Madison, Neb. Mrs. Satterlee alleges that her husband's treatment of her has been cruel. She sues for divorce, custody of their two children and not less than $50 a month alimony.
Mr. and Mrs. Claude E. Cople celebrated their twelfth wedding anniversary with a dinner New Year's evening at their home. The table was centered with a pretty arrangement of Richmond roses and ferns, the place cards were dainty pictures of bridal couples, and the ice cream moulds were hearts ornamented with Cupids and pairs of tiny doves.
Local Elks are anticipating a pleasant evening next month. The entertainment committee of the lodge is making arrangements for a big Colonial party to be held at the temple at The Dalles on Washington's birthday, Saturday, February 22. The affair will be for Elks, their wives and lady friends only and promises to be a great social event. Everyone will be expected to attend in costume and it is expected that a line of costumes will be secured in Portland for the occasion.

E. H. Wolf left Monday for Canton, Illinois.
C. A. Cass was a Portland visitor yesterday.
Very stylish trimmed hats $1.98 at Miss M. B. Lamb's.
$8.00 and $10.00 hats going at $2.98 at Miss M. B. Lamb's.
W. S. Nichol was a visitor in Portland the last of the week.
A daughter was born Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Howard.
Mrs. E. S. Kier went to Portland yesterday for a brief stay.
W. M. Yates of Dee spent the week end visiting friends in town.
Mrs. Floy Campbell is spending the week with friends in Portland.
R. W. Arens is among those attending the short course at the O. A. C.
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Massee went to Portland Monday to spend a few days.
W. H. Schmick has returned from a trip to Cleveland, Ohio.
Regular Sunday excursion to Park dale. Pleasant trip for yourself and friends.
The stork brought a little daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Barton of the Heights Sunday.
George W. Blodgett and A. C. Sollenbach have been spending several days in Portland.
Cal. M. Young of Eugene spent last week as the guest of his sister, Mrs. Claude Cople.
If you want insurance in companies that pay losses promptly and in full call on A. W. Onthank.
N. H. Rubolton and family of the Upper Valley left Monday to spend the winter at Pasadena, Cal.
Miss Mary Montgomery returned the first of the week and resumed her duties as teacher at Mt. Hood.
Most of the University of Oregon students returned to college Sunday after spending the holidays here.
The Modern Woodmen of America will hold a joint installation with the Royal Neighbors at K. of P. Hall Friday night.
Please remember to post the dates of proposed public gatherings in the directory of entertainments at the public library.
Dr. and Mrs. J. M. McVay are expected Monday from Southern California where they have been spending several weeks.
Rev. C. H. Remington of Manitou, Col., has been the guest of his brother, W. W. Remington, for several days. As Manitou is a summer resort Mr. Remington takes his vacations in the winter. From here he went to Bismark, N. D.
Mr. and Mrs. Jay P. Lucas entertained a number of young ladies very delightfully Thursday evening on the occasion of their 11th wedding anniversary. A delicious course dinner was served after which an enjoyable evening was spent.
Wanted—Men and women to learn watchmaking and engraving, few months only learning. Practical work from start. Positions secured for graduates. Practical trade not overdone. Write for particulars. Watchmaking School, 210 Globe Building, Portland, Ore. 437c
Christian and Missionary Alliance Sunday School at 9:45, H. C. Dietz, superintendent. Preaching at 11 a. m. Young People's Meeting at 7:15 p. m. Evangelistic service at 8 p. m. Prayer meeting Thursday evening at 7:45. These are all gospel meetings. Our motto: "Jesus Only." All are cordially invited. W. P. KIRK, pastor.
For Sale—5000 d'Anjou pear trees. Inquire of F. E. Jackson. 2-3
Don't follow the beaten track unless you are satisfied to remain beaten.

Will do sewing by the day. Reasonable. Phone 113-X. 53-55p
H. H. Patton and family of Oak Grove are packing their household effects preparatory to moving to Estacada.
Since the Saturday evening dances at Heilbronner Hall have been discontinued a Saturday Night Club has been organized and dances will be given every Saturday evening at the Commercial Club Hall. Harmon's orchestra will furnish music. It is said that no rowdism will be tolerated and that the dances will be orderly in every respect. All are invited.
The Hood River County Teachers' Conference will hold its next meeting Saturday, January 18, at 2 p. m. in the Hood River High School building. City Superintendent J. O. McLaughlin will deliver the address of the day. There will also be a musical program. Teachers of the county are invited to attend. The program will be published next week.

FRANKTON
Little Elma Gray has been very ill since Christmas but is able to sit up at present.
Mr. and Mrs. E. Lock have been recent lagrippe patients.
P. A. Reed and family returned New Year's Day from their visit at Scotts Mills, Oregon.
Robert Tazwell and wife are both ill with lagrippe.
Archie and Winnie Eastman are both ill this week.
A new furnace was installed in the Frankton school Saturday.
The meeting of the Four Leaf Clover Club, which was to have been held tomorrow (Thursday) has been postponed on account of the storm. Also notice change in place of meeting. Instead of being at Mrs. Marsh Isenberg's it will be with Mrs. J. R. Nickelsen.
Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Noble entertained at dinner New Year's Day. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Marsh Isenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Noble of Hood River and Mrs. R. S. Cohoon and son Merlin and Miss Vivian Stokoe.

What is a house without some kind of music in it? What will a Music House be in Hood River without your patronage? Waggener's Music House has the goods, and Waggener wants your trade.
A new furnace was installed in the Frankton school Saturday.
The meeting of the Four Leaf Clover Club, which was to have been held tomorrow (Thursday) has been postponed on account of the storm. Also notice change in place of meeting. Instead of being at Mrs. Marsh Isenberg's it will be with Mrs. J. R. Nickelsen.
Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Noble entertained at dinner New Year's Day. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Marsh Isenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Noble of Hood River and Mrs. R. S. Cohoon and son Merlin and Miss Vivian Stokoe.

J. C. Johnsen

Home of GOOD SHOES

Where the Best Values Come From

USE OF WHO OR WHOM.

Where Grammar Bunks Up Against Idiom and Gets a Jolt.
The employment of the nominative "who" for the accusative in certain forms of interrogation has become so imbedded in common usage that resort, even now, to the strictly orthodox practice frequently requires, on the part of educated men, positive effort or prolonged training. It somehow does not seem natural. In the past assuredly this nominative form, where precise grammar would require the accusative, turns up with almost invariable regularity in works which set out to represent colloquial speech.
"Who is it from?" says the mother in Jane Austen's "Pride and Prejudice," to her daughter, who has just received a letter. "Who is it like?" says the heroine of "Jane Eyre" to St. John Rivers as she shows him the pictures of Rosamund Oliver. Such examples could be multiplied by hundreds. There are cases, indeed, when the use of "whom" would strike upon the ears of most of us as painfully pedantic.
"Who the devil is he talking to?" says Sir Lucius O'Trigger in Sheridan's "Rivals," as he notices Captain Absolute soliloquizing. To tolerate "whom" in place of "who" in such a sentence as the last would require the speaker to be so thoroughly steeped in grammar that the sense of traditional usage, which has been hardening into idiom, has at last been completely overcome. That height of linguistic virtue few of us there are who attain.—Thomas R. Lounsbury in Harper's Magazine.

FURY OF A SPIDER.

An Insect Tragedy as Seen Through a Magnifying Glass.
One day, rummaging in an old desk, I found a magnifying glass. It was September, and in a sunny, weed-ridden corner of the garden I had discovered a big black and gold spider who had strung her web between two tall burdocks and was doing a thriving business in grasshoppers.
Seated on the ground, I now surveyed her through the glass for an hour as she hung in the middle of her engine of destruction. When I touched the net with my finger she swung frantically to and fro, prompted doubtless by some instinct of self preservation, but otherwise was as motionless as if carved in jet.
Grasshoppers were not very plentiful as yet, but at last a large green fellow flew plump into the toils, the spines on his legs that had so often discoursed sweet music becoming entangled. Instantly the crafty spider was all alive. Darting upon her victim, she took her station above him, and, hanging by two legs, seized him in her other six and rolled him round and round, unsawing him in a band of silver silk until he was as helpless as a mummy, and then she bit him in a dozen places with fangs oozing with poison.
At the spectacle of her evil eyes glittering with the lust of killing, magnified as they were by the glass, I turned sick and rolled over on my face among the weeds and lay for a long time miserably inert.—Atlantic Monthly.

Strange Freak of Memory.

There is a strange story of how Sir Walter Scott, producing "The Bride of Lammermoor" during illness, was afterward found to have forgotten entirely what he had thus created. According to James Ballantyne, "the book was written and published before Mr. Scott was able to rise from his bed, and he assured me when it was first put into his hands in a complete shape that he did not recollect a single incident, character or conversation it contained. The original incidents of the story, which he had known from boyhood, he still remembered, but he knew no more about the story he had written than he did before he began to write or even think about writing it." These facts were corroborated by Mr. Lockhart, Sir Walter Scott's son-in-law and biographer, so that they are placed beyond question.

FRANCIS H. IRWIN MEETS SAD DEATH

Acutely despondent after several months of failing health, Francis H. Irwin of Oak Grove shot himself Thursday while on his way home from town. As his ailment had been of a nervous nature, which had at times affected his mind, it is not believed that he was mentally responsible at the time.
Mr. Irwin had come to town on some errands. While passing the ball park upon his return he stepped inside the gate and shot himself through the head. Death was instantaneous. No inquest was deemed necessary.
Francis Huntington Irwin was born in Franklin, Pa., September 5, 1885. Although the span of his life was but little over 27 years it was filled with industry and achievement. From his early youth his scholastic career was notably successful. Graduating from the Franklin High School, he entered Washington and Jefferson College where he graduated in 1906 with first honors in a class of 49 graduates. He had previously been awarded the Junior oratorical prize and also won the standing cash prize for the ablest thesis on a classical subject.
During the two years following his graduation he was professor of history, mathematics and English in the Washington Academy, an adjunct of the W. and J. institution, and then taught for one term in the Franklin High School. His health having become impaired, he sought the benefits of a change to the outdoor life of the Northwest and in the summer of 1909 located in the Oak Grove district of the Hood River Valley, where he engaged in ranching. There he was subsequently joined by his father, H. M. Irwin, and his sisters, Misses Gertrude and Mary Louise Irwin. In the winter of 1910 he taught in the Aberdeen (Wash.) High School and last winter was professor of Latin and Greek in the Allen Preparatory School at Portland.
Both as student and instructor Mr. Irwin was always a popular favorite with the younger people. His sincerity and wholesome cheer won their hearts and, being proficient in gymnastics, he was able to enter into and lead in their athletic pastimes.

The break in Mr. Irwin's health occurred last spring, a nervous prostration, due to the strain of overwork. Although making occasional rallies, his general condition steadily failed and his mental faculties finally became involved. For at least a month before his tragic end he suffered from acute melancholia, with its attendant despondency, was bewildered and irrational at times, and at the last was undoubtedly irresponsible for his acts.
Mr. Irwin brought the fraternal college spirit to his new home, and was a member of the University Club of Hood River and vicinity. He was always actively interested in the Y. M. C. A. and gave that cause his best service. He was a member of the First Presbyterian church of Portland.
All his life, from boyhood, he was a genuine Christian, always squaring his practice with his profession. He marked out a plain path for himself, set a correct standard, and held a straight course. He had many sincere friends in this vicinity. Those who knew him appreciated his beautiful character, and held him in affectionate regard, esteeming him for what he truly was—a gentle, clean, manly spirit, without a touch of the vulgar or base.
Surviving the deceased, besides the relatives named above, are two brothers, Lieutenant Hiram L. Irwin, U.S.N., of Washington, D. C., and Arthur M. Irwin of Point Richmond, Cal.
Funeral services, held in the Bartmess chapel on Saturday afternoon, were attended by a goodly concourse of neighbors and friends. The service was conducted by Rev. E. A. Harris, pastor of the Congregational church, who gave a brief discourse appropriate to the occasion. The only music was the singing by George R. Wilbur of the Congregational church choir of the hymn, "Jesus Calls Us," which was a favorite with the deceased. The pall was borne by Harry M. Francis, Paul R. Hughes, V. T. Moteschenbacher, Ashley Miller, Chester Huggins and Geo. C. Gladen. Interment followed in Idlewild Cemetery.
Don't be satisfied to pay as you go. Save enough to get back.

Old Eyes
see more brightness in life when they look through lenses that suit their special need. Don't ruin your eyes by wearing the wrong glasses. We make a specialty of examining and testing the Eyes of old and young, and fitting them with suitable Glasses.
Arthur Clarke
Jeweler and Optician
Opp Butler's Bank

Insure with Reed & Henderson, Inc.
Fire, Accident, Life, Automobile, Plate Glass, Burglary, Employer's Liability, including FARMERS and ORCHARDISTS.
Also Judicial, Official and Indemnity Bonds
Resident Agent for: U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co. Northern Assurance Co., of London Commercial Union Assurance Co., Ltd., of London Hanover Fire Insurance Co. of New York Pelican Assurance Co. of New York
Real Estate Loans Investments

WE DESIRE to thank our patrons for the share of business they gave us the past year. We shall especially try to please you the coming year. Our stock of Groceries is all fresh and up-to-date. If you are not trading here now, it will be to your advantage to give us a trial
"The Best Things to Eat"
WOOD'S Grocery
J. M. WOOD, Proprietor
PHONE 7 FREE DELIVERY