FRUITION RETURNS

The last time I saw Fruition (pictured left), they were Peter Rowan's backup band for the show in the Gorge Room at the Hood River Inn. I remember it well, and not just because of the great music. I hiked through a foot of snow to get to the show — I guess that was back when we were having a real winter.

The roads should be clear on Friday, Jan. 23, when the band pulls into the River City Saloon, and I'll get to hear Mimi Naja's mandolin one more time.

'SAVE THE DATE'

'Bears' musical debuts

Time to "save the date" for a variety of community events in the community in the next few weeks.

■ Sundays through mid-February — Samplin' Sundays, noon to 3 p.m. at Mother's Market, 106 Highway 35: meet and talk with three vendors and taste their wares, at no charge.

■ Feb. 27 — "The Girl Who Lived With the Bears," an original musical, premieres at Hood River Middle School. It is written by Mark Steighner, "loosely adapted" from Native American folklore, and directed by Rebecca Niederheiser.

■ March 7 — Feast of Words, fourth annual auction benefiting Hood River Library District, sponsored by the Library Foundation, and featuring local music and catered food to go with the silent and live auction.

■ March 6 — Opening night for "Two for One: An Evening of Classic One-Acts," Columbia Center for the Arts; Harold Pinter's "The Dumb Waiter" and James McLure's "Laundry and Bourbon."
