'Two for One': CAST offers pair of one acts

Columbia Center for the Arts presents an evening of two classic one acts — Harold Pinter's The Dumb Waiter, and James McLure's Laundry & Bourbon, opening Friday.

Both are essentially comedies of manners: how do people with tensions and interpersonal issues relate to each other in settings and situations that are typically human and at the same time unconventional?

The Dumb Waiter is a funny and intriguing story of two British hit men as they wait in a basement for their next assignment. Ben, the senior partner of the gunmen, is a "company man" who does his job and never questions his assignments. Gus, haunted by the memory of their last job, knows that something is wrong when their normally flawless routine is interrupted by some mysterious happenings — a sealed envelope suddenly appears under the door, and then more messages start arriving by way of the dumb waiter including strange lists of food orders. Told through Pinter's unmistakable wit and set in an atmosphere of mystery and menace, The Dumb Waiter is considered the best of Harold Pinter's early plays. David Dye and Ray Abanto sit in a basement room and talk and argue ... and wait.

In James McLure's hilarious Laundry & Bourbon, the action centers on the discontent and gossip of three small-town wives whose marriages have turned out to be less than was hoped for. Set in Maynard, Texas, on a hot summer afternoon, Elizabeth and her friend Hattie while away the time folding laundry, watching TV, sipping bourbon and Coke, and gossiping about the many open secrets which are so much a part of small-town life. They are joined by the self-righteous Amy Lee who, among other tidbits, can't resist blurting out that Elizabeth's husband Roy has been seen around town with another woman. But Elizabeth has a secret of her own in this funny and touching comedy.

Tickets are $15 for adults and $12 for students and seniors and are available online, at Waucoma Bookstore and in the gallery at Columbia Center for the Arts, 215 Cascade Ave. in downtown Hood River.

PET OF THE WEEK

Rocket the puppy loves tennis balls and snuggle time

This week volunteers at Adopt A Dog have selected Rocket as the program's adoptable pet of the week:

Talk about a Rock Star! Rocket is about 8 months old, 15 pounds, and is awesome, dude! He's super spunky and playful and has all the right moves down. He started out a shy wallflower, just wishin' and hopin' and thinkin' and prayin' that someone would notice him and just pick him up, for goodness sakes! And once that happened, he got his groove thang goin' on and Rocket turned into a fetching machine.

He knows how to go for it! I just love watching that boy run! He's gotten some leashed walks under his belt, and gets to meet lots of new friends in the neighborhood, so his days are filled with excitement and fun. Rocket is still a puppy and needs a patient home willing to help him with that whole house-training thing. And he's a snuggler and lap warmer, so ya gotta put up with that!

And he's got energy, so regular exercise would be nice ... and tennis balls! Now that he's discovered fetch, he kind of insists on his new home taking up the sport, too!

Rocket is current on shots, microchipped and will be neutered next week. The adoption fee for Rocket is $200. The fee to adopt is charged to recoup standard veterinary expenses. Since many of our dogs are in foster, please call ahead to meet Rocket in Odell at the Hukari Animal Shelter 3910 Heron Dr., or call for more information at 541-354-1083. Adoption hours are Wed., 5-7 p.m. and Sat., 9-11 a.m. You can fill out an application online at our website, hoodriveradoptadog.org, or download and scan and email to us at adoptadog@gorge.net, or fax it in to 1-877-833-7166.

We offer 24PetWatch microchips, which include free registration into the 24Pet-Watch pet recovery service. For more information visit www.24petwatch.com or call 1-866-597-2424.

A huge 'Thank You' to all who attended my surprise party, sent cards and gave me good wishes in person. Special thanks to my daughters, who really "Got me". The support of family and friends is priceless, and turning 80 was a hoot!

Sincerely,
Jo Smith
