piano and violin duets, art songs, the Canticum vocal ensemble and Europatopia, a gypsy klezmer band led by Joel Kabokov.

A string quartet made up of CGOA musicians all playing instruments that are not their "regular" instrument will also be featured. Last year's chamber music concert was a sell out.

Chill 2 is part of a busy winter season that also includes The Gorge Sings! (Again) in February as well as a special February performance by the Sinfonietta with Dr. Erik Steighner from Pacific Lutheran University as soloist, said a CGOA press release.

The first-ever Gorge performance of the classic musical West Side Story opens March 6.

The Chill 2 Chamber Music Concert is free, with donations accepted.

More information about CGOA events can be found at gorgeorchestra.org.

CHILL 2 begins a varied set of performances from CGOA this winter and spring.

Back by demand, the Columbia Gorge Orchestra Association presents Chill 2, a second annual concert of chamber music, at 2 p.m. on Jan. 12 at Hood River Valley Christian Church, 975 Indian Creek Road.

Artistic Director Mark Steighner describes the performance as "an intimate, casual and enjoyable celebration of small-scale music, performed by CGOA musicians and guests."

Included on the program will be piano and cello duets,

TRASH TALK

Q. Where can I recycle my Christmas tree after the holidays? Trevor, The Dalles

A. Trevor, residents can bring trees to the transfer stations for recycle drop off at no charge. Residents with curbside yard waste service can cut up and place in the yard waste/organics cart if they prefer. A tree left in its entirety curbside will have an additional charge. Lights, decorations, and stands need to be removed.
