ELMAR SPEAR. She is Only Seven Years Old, but Weighs 180 Pounds. Green County, Ark., boasts one of the heaviest girls in the United States for her years. She is Elmar Spear and age is only 7. Despite this she weighs 180 pounds. Her height is 51 inches. Elmar is phenomenally strong and can readily lift a man weighing 200 pounds and carry him across a room. She enjoys excellent health and her mind is as bright as her body is abnormally developed. If her present rate of growth and development is maintained she will probably be the largest and heaviest woman in the world.

The Butterfly King. The London Express, in announcing the death of William Watkins, one of the foremost entomologists of the day, gives this interesting story of his life: Of Welsh extraction, he began collecting butterflies when he was a schoolboy of nine. At that time there were fields in the vicinity of Peckham, and the first butterfly Mr. Watkins ever caught was the "peacock." From thenceforth he became an ardent entomologist; he gradually went on collecting moths, and eventually he made this the business of his life.

London's Hospitals. More than 1,000,000 people are treated in the hospitals of London each year. Resigned to His Fate. The following story of a negro slave is told by a French officer conducting an exploring expedition recently up one of the rivers which flow into the Congo: "One night while we were in camp there came from the jungle a youthful voice crying out to our boatman in the Yakoma tongue: 'Halloa, Sangos! Do you know on the Ubanqui the Yakoma chief Dembassi of the village of Di-massa?' 'Yes! we know him.' 'Is he still living?' 'He was living when we left Ubanqui.' 'He is my father. When you see him on your return, salute him for me. Tell him that his son, now become a man, has not much to complain of in his situation, but that he longs for his native country, his father's village and his friends. Tell them that I am a slave of the Sango chief, and that he treats me well.' 'How came you here?' asked the boatman. 'My father, debtor to a Bongou, sold me to his creditor eight times twelve moons ago. From market to market I have passed, through many hands to finish here fifty moons ago. You will give my message to my people, will you not?' Taught How to Kindle Fires. Up in Oregon they are teaching in the special schools a number of simple household duties. For instance, one of these is how to kindle a fire. Now, at first blush, it would seem to be trifling with time to teach a boy or girl how to start a fire in a stove or on a hearth. But as a matter of fact the mass of children grow up without understanding that art. It requires a certain skill and knowledge, which it is found the many do not have. Fire mismanagement by girls has been a prolific source of woe. It means ill-cooked food, waste of fuel, loss of time and danger to life and property. But, then, why should parents by neglect of home duty force this new task upon even a special school system?

RELATIVE SIZE OF THE CELESTIAL EMPIRE. The above map shows at a glance, with an approximation to accuracy, the relative areas of China, Canada, Australia and all Europe, without Scandinavia and Russia. Europe will be readily recognized, standing white on the black background of Australia. Canada forms the shaded background to Australia, and the black line running roughly around all represents the area of China. The diagram and the figures attached give some idea of the vastness of the Ancient Empire, which recently has fallen into anarchy and chaos.
