1800 A FEW CONTRASTS 1900

During the century the Bible has been translated into more than 350 languages, which nine-tenths of the human race can read.

To-day the Christian religion is accepted by practically 500,000,000 people.

The first iron was vessel built in the world was the United States steamship Michigan, which is still on duty on the great lakes.

In 1800 the Indian canoe was practically the only floating vehicle on the great lakes, which hold one-third of all the fresh water in the world. To-day the lake fleet numbers several thousand steel steamers.

Only fifty years ago but one woman worked to every ten men. At present the ratio is one to four.

One hundred years ago it took a month to cross the Atlantic. Now the trip is made between two Sundays.

In 1800 there was not a cooking stove in the United States. Now we are beginning to cook without fire by the aid of electricity.

One hundred years ago one-sixth of the people of the United States were slaves. To-day there is not a slave on the American continent.

Within the century the population of the United States has been multiplied by fourteen.

In 1800 only 4 per cent of the people of the United States lived in cities. To-day 50 per cent live in cities.

A hundred years ago the largest fortune in the United States was $250,000. Now there are several fortunes of more than $250,000.

During the century the center of population of the United States has moved from a point twenty miles east of Baltimore to Western Indiana, a distance of 265 miles.

During the century a total of about 19,000,000 people have come from foreign countries to make their homes in the United States.

In 1800 the total revenue of the United States government was $10,848,000. For 1890 it was $515,132,000.

The first practicable steamboat was built in 1802 and the first railway locomotive in 1804.

In 1800 a man could travel only by coach or on horseback. To-day there are more than 200,000 miles of railroad track in the United States alone, being more than six times the mileage of any other country.

The proportion of passengers injured in the "good old stage coach days" as compared with the present is as sixty to one.

The total value of the agricultural products of the United States in 1800 was $100,000,000. In 1900 it will be approximately $3,000,000,000, while the farms of the country are worth five times as much.

Up to 1791 there were but three banks in the United States with an aggregate capital of $2,000,000. Last year there were 3,651 national banks in the country.

The first savings bank in the United States was established in 1816. In 1820 there were ten savings banks in all, with 8,035 depositors. In 1899 there were 942 savings banks, with 5,687,000 depositors, and with total deposits of $2,230,000,000.

The first Y. M. C. A. was organized in 1844 by George Williams. There are now 1,429 associations in North America alone, with 230,000 members.

In 1800 there were 963 postoffices in the United States and 1,875 miles of postal routes. In 1899 there were 75,000 postoffices and 497,000 miles of postal routes.

In 1810 it cost 25 cents to send a single sheet by mail a distance of 400 miles. To-day a letter containing several sheets may go as many thousand miles for 2 cents.

Envelopes were first used for letters in 1830 and the first issue of postage stamps was authorized in 1847.

In 1848 it cost 40 cents to send a letter from New York to San Francisco.

Merchandise was first admitted to the mails in 1861.

The number of pieces of mail matter of all kinds which passes through the United States mails annually at the present time is about 6,570,000,000.

In 1800 there were not more than thirty colleges and other institutions of higher education in the United States. At the close of last year there were 480, with a total of 12,000 professors and teachers.

By act of the Continental Congress, passed in 1785, one thirty-sixth part of all the public lands belonging to the United States were set apart perpetually as an endowment for the public schools of the country. Under this and succeeding acts 71,000,000 acres have been granted during the century for the support of public schools, and 1,103,000 acres to universities and colleges.

The modern Sunday school dates from 1780, when the first school of the kind was started by Robert Raikes at Gloucester, England. At present there are 110,000 Sunday schools in the United States, with 2,500,000 teachers and 9,000,000 pupils.

In 1800 all surgical operations were performed without the use of anaesthetics. The use of chloroform was not discovered until 1847. Ether was first used to deaden pain in 1846.

In 1800 the total exports of the United States were $31,000,000. This year they are $2,000,000,000.
