

CURED BY PERUNA
Of Nervous Prostration.

J. A. SIMPSON,
Sec'y Board of Education, San Francisco.

Hon. J. A. Simpson, secretary of the board of education of San Francisco, Cal., writes: "I have found Peruna an ideal tonic. Some months ago I suffered with neurasthenia (systemic catarrh), caused by too close application to office work. My system seemed worn out and I felt far from well. I found Peruna benefitted me very much. It built up the entire system and made me feel like a new man. I believe it is well worthy the high praise bestowed upon it."—J. A. Simpson.

"Summer Catarrh," a book written by Dr. Hartman, president of The Hartman Sanitarium, on the subject of the nervous disturbances peculiar to summer, sent free to any address by The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.

Enterprise.
Miss City (entering small country notion store, wherein was collected a little of everything)—Have you Black's "In Silk Attire?"
Clerk—No, but here's one new piece of Anderson gingham, ma'am.

Solicitous.
Little Ethel—I guess you don't like coffee, do you, Mr. Smith.
Mr. Smith—Why, yes, Ethel. I am very fond of coffee.
Little Ethel—Well, you make such a noise swallowing it that I thought it hurt you.

The Climax.
Tommy—You must be a regular lady-killer, Mr. Sappy.
Mr. Sappy—Why do you think that, Tommy?
Tommy—Well, Mabel said that after you left last night she nearly died laughing.

On to His Curves.
Reckless Youth—Father, dear, would it be asking too much for you to advance me a small loan—say about $50.
The Governor—Not at all, my son. You might ask me for double the amount with equal likelihood of getting it. You can't afford to be modest in these little requests a bit more than I can afford to grant them.—Ohio State Journal.

YOU KNOW WHAT YOU ARE TAKING
When you take Grove's Tasteless Chili Tonic, because the formula is plainly printed on every bottle showing that it is simply Iron and Quinine in a tasteless form. No Cure, No Pay. 50c.

The Kissing Bug.
"What was that?" asked the old gentleman, suddenly appearing in the doorway.
"I—I guess it was a kissing bug," she answered, hesitatingly, while the young man tried his best to look at ease.
The old gentleman looked at them both sharply.
"Does the kissing bug make people blush?" he demanded.—Chicago Post.

They Were False.
Blithers—He called me a liar to my very teeth.
Blithers—Serves you right; leave your teeth home next time.—Ohio State Journal.

The Hunt.
Mr. Muggins—Been hunting yet?
Mr. Moover—Yes.
Mr. Muggins—Shoot any ducks?
Mr. Moover—Wasn't huntin' ducks.
Mr. Muggins—No?
Mr. Moover—No—huntin' a house.—Columbus (O.) State Journal.

THE SODA FOUNTAIN CLERK.

He Has His Troubles, Like the Rest of the World—or Worse.

Consider now the meek and humble soda fountain clerk.

Who draweth off the moistened air with nimble turn and jerk.

His garb is always spotless white when first he puts it on.

But lo, before an hour hath passed its spotless white hath gone.

For then he hath vanished on the bosom of his vest, and streaks of red raspberry make his trousers seem a jest.

While chocolate and ginger give a tiger-like effect to the balance of the garments in which he is proudly decked.

His hair is limp and languid, and is parted square and true.

Above the very center of his nose, which turneth blue.

Because he hath to linger in the acid and the ice, to fix up funny mixtures for the one that hath the price.

He maketh strange concoctions in the line of fancy drinks, and all the while he watcheth for persuasive sorts of winks.

From early morn he twisteth at the soda water spout, and turneth the ice crusher till the ice hath given out.

He diggeth in the ice cream and he rusheth with the glass, while his deadly dead rival buys the soda for the lass.

Yea, verily, the soda clerk, he hath a sorry time, for he must know the way to get nine cents out of each dime.

And he must be a hustler, that there will not be a loss of ice or gas or water, or he'll tremble at the boss.

How often, oh, how often, hath the soda jerk grinned at the one who payeth nickels for a penny's worth of wind?

How often, oh, how often, doth a calm and peaceful smile go flitting o'er his visage when a drink goes out of style.

But, ah, alas, my son, sometimes he feelth very bad, and then is when the ladies come with garments rich and glad.

The ladies fill the rockers and the doorways and the stools, and insist upon a liquid that both elevates and cools.

And one declareth that she'd like some chocolate with cream, and, when he draweth it, straightway "Oh, no!" the maid doth scream.

And then she voweth that she hath already changed her mind, and wanteth just a phosphate with a piece of lemon rind.

And yet, again the other maids declare they do not know just what they wish—and on and on their mild objections flow.

The weary soda fountain clerk suggesteth this and that, from plain old lemon phosphate to a dose of anti-fat.

And finally the ladies fair with one consent conclude that chocolate and cream shall be their soda fountain food.

Now, when he draweth all the drinks, his troubles are not done—
Nay, verily, my trusting child, they are but half begun.

For each and every maiden there doth straightway rise and say:
"Now, girls, I'll think it's awful if you do not let me pay!"

All all protest, and all object, and all their plans defend.

And not a one takes out her purse her lovely cash to spend.

Now, finally, the soda clerk suggesteth that each maid shall pay for what she drank—and then beginneth the tirade.

For all the ladies vow in wrath—yea, yea, they almost sob—that they will his employer see, and take from him his job.

And then they take their parasols and sternly go away, and not a cent of all that bill do they take steps to pay.

The gentle soda fountain clerk, he falleth in a daze, and leanech on the vichy tube, and wicket things he says.

Is this not true, just as we have composed it, with much work?

It surely is—and if you doubt, go ask the soda clerk.—Baltimore American.

Study of Delirium Tremens.
The familiar symptoms of delirium tremens, known as "anakes," have been made the subject of study with some interesting results. It appears, says the New York Ledger, that what have been supposed to be hallucinations have a certain sort of evidence in fact. Certain blood vessels in the eyes become congested and assume a dark color. These, when they appear on the retina, which is ordinarily transparent, suggest to the nervous and overwrought patient the presence of some moving, living creature. Imagination, of course, increases the nervousness, and finally the mind becomes so disordered that the form of an offensive creature is suggested. As these fancies grow by what they feed on, it is easy to see how creeping and crawling things may fill the soul of the victim with the most horrible sensations.

Sawmill Operated by Air.
The only sawmill in the world where the machinery is operated by compressed air is located in Oronte, Me., and the water wheel and the air compressor are below the floor of the mill, with also large storage tanks. Pipes lead the air to the various machines, which technically are known as the carriage, nigger, log loader, log flipper, band log saw and two cut-off saws.

A Paper Church.
Bergen, Norway, boasts of a paper church large enough to seat 1,000 persons. The building is rendered waterproof by a solution of quicklime, curdled in milk, and white of eggs.

Afternoon Nap.
The New York Medical Record says a nap of half an hour or so in the afternoon after a meal is helpful, and favors rather than hinders good sleep at night.

There is no man so deep but that he has at least one shallow spot.

COSTLY MINCE PIES.

Raised a Boy's Damage Suit Against a Railway Company.

Johnny Foehl ate five mince pies at one sitting, and this little feat cost him exactly $5,000. His suit against the Camden & Suburban Railway Company for that amount for injuries sustained in being pushed from a car was progressing favorably to him yesterday in the Camden Court. Half a dozen doctors had sworn that he was an invalid as the result of the accident, when Willie Brower, one of Johnny's witnesses, in his rambling testimony told of Johnny's love for pies.

Counsel for the trolley company saw a glimmer of hope in this.

"Could he eat a whole pie?" was asked of Willie.

"Why, yes; he ate five within a few minutes last week," the boy replied.

The three lawyers who represented Johnny were on their feet in an instant demanding of the court to know what mince pie had to do with Johnny Foehl being injured by a trolley car. They wanted this portion of the testimony stricken out.

"Well," declared counsel for the trolley company, "any boy who can eat five mince pies at one sitting is not very much of an invalid."

The court admitted the mince pie testimony. Having got into the case, the pies remained to a finish.

Counsel for the plaintiff wanted to bring witnesses to prove the pies were small five-cent ones. They were willing to send for a pie to show the jury. The railway company's lawyers conceded that the pies were small, but contended that even so no invalid could eat five of them.

When all the testimony was in the court, relieving the jury, declared that Johnny Foehl had not made out a case. The mince pie testimony had been fatal to it.—Philadelphia North American.

Pays Claims on Sight—The Washington Life Insurance Company, of New York, has just paid the claim of Henry Davis, of Medford. Mr. Davis secured his policy just one week before his death. The proofs of claim arrived at the company's home office, July 2, 1901, and check in settlement was sent to Mrs. Davis the same day. This company has not had a contested claim in the past decade, an enviable record. The Washington Life is one of the strongest and best of all the great life insurance corporations. Its assets aggregate nearly $17,000,000; claims paid, over $36,000,000. No other company in the world offers larger guaranteed cash returns at maturity than those contained in the Washington Life's policies. This company's $5,000,000 office building in New York City is one of the world's finest structures.

PULLMAN ORDINARY SLEEPERS.
The tourist travel between the East and the Pacific coast has reached enormous proportions in the last few years, and calls for a special class of equipment. To meet this demand the Pullman Company has issued from its shops what it technically calls the "Pullman Ordinary Sleeper." These cars appear similar to the regular sleepers, being built on the same plan, but not furnished with the same elegance. They are equipped with mattresses, blankets, sheets, pillows, pillow-cases, towels, combs, brushes, etc., requiring nothing of the kind to be furnished by the passenger. Each car has a stove for making tea and coffee and doing "light housekeeping," and each section can be fitted with an adjustable table. A uniformed porter accompanies each car, his business being to make up berths, keep the car clean, and look after the wants and comforts of the passengers. In each of the trains which are dispatched daily from Portland by the O. R. & N. Co. is to be found one of these "Pullman Ordinary Sleepers." The car attached to the "Chicago-Portland Special" goes through to Chicago without change, and the one in the "Atlantic Express" runs to Kansas City without change. Passengers in this car for Chicago change to a similar car at Granger.

Much of the first-class travel is being carried in these cars, the rates being lower, and the service nearly equal to that in the palace sleepers.
