Taken by Royalty

Royalties seem to possess more records in proportion to their number than most other classes.
The German Emperor is, of course, in the van. He has made 280 speeches unequaled by any of his subjects. He probably holds also the travel record for anyone except an engine driver. In one recent year he traveled on 100 days, covering in all 18,750 miles by land and sea. His average journeyings for the last seven years have been 13,- 000 to 14,000 miles a year. Another record of the Kaiser's is the ownership of the greatest number of estates held by any one person on earth. He has no fewer than eighty-three.

The Shah of Persia speaks three languages, but the Khedive leads the list with a good knowledge of six different tongues. His Arabic, Turkish, French and English are perfect, and he is sufficiently well acquainted with German and Italian to make himself understood without the least difficulty, though he is not really a fluent speaker of these tongues. Few men alive can do more.
The young King of Italy is the possessor of a magnificent collection of coins. There are 50,000 specimens kept in twenty-four great cupboards. These coins come from 200 different mints.
The old Roman coins are unequalled.
Besides being in the very first class as a writer of romantic word pictures, the talented Queen of Roumania is believed to be unequalled anywhere as an embroiderer. That this is no idle boast on the part of her admirers is proved by the fact that her work took the gold medal at the Paris exhibition in open competition with that of all the best seamstresses in Europe.

Nor was Carmen Sylva the only royal exhibitor at the great Paris show.
King Carlos of Portugal sent a very beautiful pastel drawing, for which he, judged as an artist, and not a King, received a silver medal.
Mention has been made of the Kaiser's large number of estates. The Czar beats him in acreage. He owns more land than any other human being. Russia's crown estates comprise over 550,000,000 acres of cultivated soil, to say nothing of uncounted square miles of forest, and about sixty-five mines.

A queer record belongs to Princess Sophie of Prussia. At her wedding she had to kiss 146 different royal friends and relatives. She is said to have accomplished the task in three-quarters of an hour.
The tallest reigning Queen is Wilhelmina of Holland, says the London Mail. She measures 5 feet 5 1/2 inches, the shortest, the German Empress. The tallest King is Oscar of Sweden; the shortest the Czar of Russia.

MARK TWAIN'S FIRST WINNING.
How He Bossed the Job of Rolling Stones Down Inclines.
In the Century Rev. Henry M. Wharton tells this anecdote of Mr. Clemens as a boy, which he heard in Hannibal, the humorist's old home: A favorite sport of the boys was to go to a hill near an old mill and start a loose rock down the steep side until, gathering force and velocity, it finally went crashing into the water below.
On one occasion an ill-directed missile assailed the mill and made a hole through it like the path of a thirty-pounder. The miller ran out and lifted up his voice in prayer, beseeching heaven to spare him and his property, promising, if the prayer was answered, never to ask another favor of the Almighty while he lived. One immense boulder, partly buried in the hillside, promised to the mind of young Sam a lot of fun. He called the boys together and thus addressed them: "Fellows, this is a bigger rock than ever rolled down any hill; it will take lots of work to move her, but when she starts all the world can't stop her. We can lift her out. I will be the boss, and you fellows work, and we will see the greatest thing that ever happened." Many Sundays were spent in toiling at the sides and underneath the great rock. The "boss" never for a moment lost his nerve, but cheered the others on in their work, until one day they succeeded in turning over the great mass of stone. Over and over it went, faster and faster, till the boys were frightened almost out of their senses. They did not know where or how the thing would stop. It was making for the road which wound around the hill; some one might be passing; or, even if not, the way might be forever blocked. They watched and wondered. At last it struck the road with tremendous power, and, taking a mighty leap, landed in the channel of the Mississippi River. Of course no one knew who did it, but it is said that it was necessary to send a government dredge to take the obstruction from the stream.

Silks in the United States.
Of all the silks used in the United States $26,000,000 worth is imported and $107,000,000 worth home made.
The domestic silk industry employs 24,000 men, 26,000 women and 6,000 children in 483 mills, with $81,000,000 capital.

A Bad Break.
"What is it, dear?"
"Why," faltered the bride, "it may be all right, but this man sends 'My happy returns of the day' with his present."
Prize fighters often require their second wind, but book agents never lose their first.
Some people make a virtue of necessity as a last resort.
