COMING ATTRACTIONS.

"BARBARA FRIETCHIE." "Who touches a hair on you gray head dies like a dog," were the immortal words in Whittier's poem that have caused the blood of thousands of Americans to tingle with patriotism. These are the words, too, of Stonewall Jackson in the war drama, "Barbara Frietchie." This is to be presented in this city at Cordray's Theater for one week, commencing next Sunday matinee, with Mary Elizabeth Forbes in the title role. It was first produced in the West in San Francisco during the visit there of President McKinley, and was not only witnessed by nearly all the members of his cabinet, but by the governors of four states and their staffs. The play is in four acts, with the scenes laid in and around Frederick, Md.

AN ALL ABIDING FAITH. The Illinois Central Railroad Company has an all abiding faith in the future of the Great Northwest. A short time ago, this was manifested by the establishment, in Seattle, of an agency to take care of their interests there. The latest effort is to put on a splendidly equipped new train service between St. Paul and Chicago. The new trains will be running Sunday, November 2. They will use their own rails between Chicago and Albert Lea, Minn., and the Minneapolis & St. Louis Ry. track from Albert Lea to Minneapolis and St. Paul, running into the union depot at St. Paul, which is the same that is used by all lines in that city.

The train is to be known as "The Chicago, St. Paul and Minneapolis Limited" and will consist of sleeping car, buffet library car and reclining chair car through without change between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul. Dining car service will also be maintained, supper being served out of Chicago and breakfast into Chicago. Trains will leave St. Paul at 7:10 p. m. and arrive in Chicago 9:30 a. m.; leave Chicago at 6:10 p. m. and arrive at St. Paul 8:40 a. m., making close connection at St. Paul with all western lines. Tickets can be purchased via this line, in connection with all western lines, at all stations. For further information regarding rates, routes, time, etc., call on or address,

On Wednesday of this week Mr. J. Glasco entertained a few friends in honor of his 30th birthday.

News has been received of the murder by her husband of Mrs. Lizzie Moore, better known to our citizens as Mrs. Lizzie Clipper, in a fit of jealous rage he shot her. They were living in Hanford, Cal. He had formerly served a term in the penitentiary for cutting a man it is said in this case also about his wife.

On Wednesday of this week a verdict of murder in the first degree was returned in the case of Geo. Smith, who shot his wife on the 22d of August, in this city. No other verdict was expected, as the facts in the case showed premeditation. His lawyer asked for and was granted a week to make a move for a new trial.

D. C. Allen, of Chicago, a Pullman porter, after lingering in the hospital five or six weeks, died September 29. He was born in Yazoo, Miss., March 3, 1870. Mrs. Allen, his wife, arrived in Portland Sunday. The funeral was held Monday at 2:30 at the undertaking parlors. The train porters had charge of the body. Rev. Tolson officiating.

The Apple Dumping social given at the Mt. Olivet church was a credit to the committee. The dumpings were delicious and few were contented to stop without sending their plates back for a second supply. The committee had a liberal number on hand and were able to fill all the demands. A neat sum was realized for the benefit of the church.

We learn that in the near future we will have an orchestra composed of colored gentlemen and ladies who will be able to furnish music for any and all entertainments. They intend to give a concert and entertainment in the near future to assist to defray the expenses of procuring the necessary instruments. It is a worthy cause and should be encouraged.

Rev. Tolson and wife were agreeably surprised Tuesday evening by the ladies and friends of Bethel A. M. E. church gathering in the parsonage with baskets laden with plenty of everything to satisfy the inner man. A jolly crowd, a delightful evening; a number of songs and musical selections; a short speech by the pastor, then all departed for their several homes.

John W. E. Wright, the eldest son of Rev. J. W. Wright, of the A. M. E. Zion church, surprised the family by paying them an unexpected visit last week. They had not had the pleasure of being together for over two years. He is at present in the employ of the P. Dining Car Co. On the 20th inst. a few friends were invited to meet at a reception in his honor at the parsonage. A very pleasant evening was spent.

The fact that Mrs. O. L. Linthecum has taken charge of the lunch counter at Messrs. Allen and Walker's establishment is sufficient guarantee that any one desirous of partaking of such a meal as your mother used to cook will make no mistake in giving her a call at No. 152 N. 6th street, where she has cozy quarters and is ready to serve meals that the most fastidious will be satisfied with. While she has only been established for a few days the fame of her meals has gone far and wide.

The mock trial at the Paul Lawrence Dunbar Literary society drew a large audience who were amused, instructed and entertained from the beginning to the end of the performance and whilst the jury were not gallant enough to grant the lady in the case the damages that she claimed as the result of the breach of promise, the sympathies of the audience were with her and that to a great measure consoled her for the loss of her case. The meetings of the society with the approach of winter are increasing in the number to attendants and also in interest. All are invited. The meetings are held each Thursday evening at the A. M. E. Zion church, 13th and Main street.

Monday, October 31, will long be remembered by the throng of merry little folks that gathered at No. 840 1st street in response to invitations issued by Mrs. M. E. West, requesting their presence in honor of the birthday of two of her grandchildren, Miss Edith and Master Severn Gray. The afternoon was spent in games, music and dancing. Light refreshments were served, the kind that appealed to the eye and palate of the young folks and at dusk they were dismissed. Miss Edith and Master Severn were each the recipient of many tokens of friendship. Lack of space and the large number that participated prevents us from giving the list of names or presents.

Having learned that the 17th inst was Mr. W. H. Carter's birthday, a large number of friends took possession of his place of abode and upon his arrival proceeded to meet out to him the dose prescribed by ancient usage of a "blow for each year and one to grow on," but as the rod was yielded by feminine hands it did no serious harm. The evening passed swiftly away enlivened with music, song, dancing and games. At midnight a sumptuous repast was spread after which the festivities were resumed and kept up till a late hour in the morning when the merry company took their departure, wishing him many happy returns of the day.

Three years ago, unknown, a perfect stranger to Portland, Mrs. Emma Moore arrived in Portland and opened a boarding house on a small scale. She was her own cook, waiter and dishwasher. Strict attention to business and excellence of service soon brought increase of business to her and today she stands in the foremost rank, having found it necessary to secure larger and more commodious quarters, from time to time, as her business increased. She has now taken the premises a 105 and 107 N. Park street, where, with a corps of efficient assistants she is prepared to furnish meals at all hours. In addition she has neatly furnished rooms for rent and is prepared at all times to furnish hot baths. She has dubbed her new quarters "The Castle" and the name is no misnomer as the appointments are elegant and commodious. Mrs. Moore's success is but another proof that there are opportunities for success in our midst for any and all who will start a business and give it their attention.
