TRUMPET CALLS.

Ram's Horn Sounds a Warning Note to the Unredeemed.

THE man is not rooted in Christ who is fruiting in sin. The best healing may come from the lowliest herbs. To cherish an enemy on the heart is to nourish an enemy there. If a man loves the person of Christ he will live the picture of Christ.

The perfect mirror makes men forget itself. The life of faith does not depend on the death of reason.

Our losses and our gains furnish the true estimate of life. Religion is to the moral what gravitation is to the natural.

The most glorious task is made up of insignificant trifles. The praise of religion may be quite different from its practice.

A man may go through life with the multitude, but he must go through death alone. It is easy to advocate Christian service, when you feel you are called to be a master.

ADOPTED BY THE GOVERNMENT.

Former Soldier's Invention Revolutionizes Army Cooking. From the position of private in the regular army of the United States at a salary of $13 a month to that of government contractor in transactions involving thousands upon thousands of dollars is a broad leap for a man to make in a few short years. Yet such success has been accomplished by a young man whose home is now in Chicago. His name is Francis H. Buzzacott. Mr. Buzzacott rose from the rank of private to the position of an opulent contractor through the instrumentality of patents secured by him on a unique conception of cooking range for use by the army in the field. For years he fought and struggled against reverses and infringements, and is just now beginning to enjoy the fruits of his unique career. Within the last few days he closed a contract with the War Department for 800 of the ranges patented by him, and this deal involves returns amounting to $27,000, a sum sufficient to round out a snug $200,000 which the soldier contractor has received from the government within the last two years.

The range which has been responsible for the remarkable rise of Mr. Buzzacott is an ingenious affair, popular with the War Department because it is compact, portable, extremely durable, and simplifies cooking in the field and open air. It is made of malleable iron, which can be beaten and pounded with sledges, but which will not break. When in transit the range forms a chest in which are packed the boilers, pans and other cooking paraphernalia for 100 men. It requires no packing, burns any kind of fuel, can be got ready for cooking in five minutes after being taken from a wagon or train, and as quickly taken down and loaded again if an emergency should arise. The range is made in three sizes. One for twenty-five men is intended for the medical department, another for six men is for officers and special detachments, while the third, with a cooking capacity of 100 men, is for troop, battery, or company use.

EMPEROR MENELIK NOW A TEMPERANCE REFORMER.

Emperor Menelik of Abyssinia has become a great temperance reformer. Moved by the drinking excesses of his nobles, he has forbidden the sale of intoxicants in any part of his domain, and the heaviest penalties await the one who ventures to infringe the law.

How to Keep Young. One of the secrets of keeping young, vigorous and supple-jointed, is to continue to practice the activities of youth, and to refuse to allow the mind to stiffen the muscles by its suggestion of age limitations. If men like Peter Cooper and William E. Gladstone, who kept up the vitalizing exercises of robust manhood when far into the eighties, had succumbed at 40 to the thought of approaching age, how much of their valuable life work would have remained undone!—Success.

Of the First Water.

Customer—Do you guarantee this anthracite? Dealer—Apply any chemical test, sir; that is anthracite of the first water.

Unkindly Communicative.

Mr. Cash—Clara holds her age well. Mrs. Cash—Yes; but she tells everybody else's."
