FROM HUTS TO PALACES.

Improvements Have Entered Into the Lives of Hawaiians.
It is a far cry from a grass-thatched hut to a modern palace with pillars and porticoes, stone foundations and marble floors, but a few short years has witnessed this change in Hawaii, the beautiful summer garden of the Pacific Ocean. It is less than a decade since the people of that country lived almost exclusively in huts, windowless and with but one door for ingress and egress. From a distance these habitations looked not unlike haystacks that dot the prairies of the West. But civilization took root easily in the tropical country. The brown-skinned, sunnily-dispositioned people were apt at imitation, and the manners and customs of America soon became the manners and customs of Hawaii. Now the islands have been modernized and Americanized. The huts have given way to handsome palaces and well-built dwellings. The dirt floors have been replaced with polished woods and glancing marble. The thatched roofs are supplanted by those of tile, slate and shingles. The towns have been changed as if by magic from slovenly, irregularly massed houses to straight streets, handsome dwellings, and Hawaii is now abreast of the world.

WHY PYRAMIDS WERE BUILT.

Great Piles Erected for Advertisement of the Pharaohs.
The interest of the Delhi and Benares observatories lies for us in the fact that they recall a time in the past when astronomers sought for exactness by the erection of huge structures of stone. Of these the great pyramid is by far the greatest and most perfect example. Britain has its own monument—Stonehenge—which has been claimed as, if not indeed an astronomical observatory, at least an astronomical temple, and many attempts have been made to determine the date at which it was erected. The difficulty, not to say impossibility, of solving this problem in the present state of the monument may be inferred from the fact that the dates which different careful observers have deduced for its erection extend over a period of more than 2,000 years.
The real work of astronomy was never done in edifices like these, says a writer in Knowledge. Nor, indeed, does it require much knowledge of human nature, essentially the same 5,000 years ago as to-day, to see that the true secret of the pyramid, the amply sufficient cause for its building, was the vanity of the ruling Pharaoh. Alike at Delhi, at Ghizeh and on Salisbury plain, as by the Euphrates, to "make a name" was the exciting motive. Astronomers may have been employed to superintend the work, astronomy, or the cult of the celestial bodies, may have been the excuse, but the real object was advertisement.

The Filipino Band.
It will be noted that several Filipino bands turned out to help welcome Governor Taft upon his return to Manila. Those who are in a position to know are of the opinion that a welcome that could be planned without the assistance of a Filipino band would be much more acceptable to the one who received the welcome. A Filipino band is said to be a cross between a hurdy-gurdy and a creaking farm wagon. It is a mingling of the tender notes of the fussy-gussy with the more strident tones of the tree toad. A Filipino band when playing en masse can be heard clear across a narrow street, but while it may not be ear-splitting it is peculiarly irritating to hearing appliances that are not accustomed to its finer atrocities. The natives claim that one can be acclimated in a comparatively brief time, more or less. And yet persons who have lived there several years still insist that when they hear a Filipino band they want to go right away and hide in the refrigerator.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.
The number of consumptives in Germany is estimated at over 225,000.
