Stranger—is the man of the house? Servant—Yes, but the woman of the house won't let him come out!

Fusionist—I believe in the office seeking the man. Regular—That's all right if you don't want the office.

Many a rich father has discovered that it is easier to get a daughter off his hands than to keep a son-in-law on his feet.

Bob—Gosh, Rob, where'd you rake up those seedy old shoes? Rob—Why, man, those are my patent leathers. Bob—But the patent has expired, eh?

Miss Carrye Moore—She calls him her intended. Are they engaged? Miss Cutting Hintz—No, but she intends to marry him.

Nipped in the Bud: Actress—I have been robbed of my jewels. Hotel Clerk—It won't do any good; there isn't a newspaper in the town.

Mabel—Why didn't you scream when he put his arm around you? Ethel—I wanted to, but couldn't, and when I could I didn't want to.

Undoubtedly: "I see that somebody says there is no such thing as luck in business." "He must be one of the lucky ones who have succeeded."

Edie—Silly! Dolls don't eat anything! Bertie—Don't, eh? Well, that old one of yours that I cut open was stuffed chock full of breakfast food.

What She Did: "And what did you do when your doctor told you you would have to quit wearing a corset and give up sweets?"

Ernie—No, she isn't going to marry Claude after all. Ida—But they say he can quote Emerson and Browning.

Quick Action: First Russian—You say the fight was quickly over? Second Russian—Yes; it was finished before you could say Jackpolskiy Robinsonopolotkskiy!

"Really," said Mrs. Oldcastle, "your little dinner last night was quite recherche." "Oh, dear," her hostess groaned.

She—Have you ever met my two dearest friends? They are just lovely and so devoted. He—How long have you known them? She—Why, I've known Annette nearly ten days and Margaret almost a week.

"You should strive to appeal to the imagination and the human interest of your pupils," said the principal.

"Mamma, what would you do if that big vase in the parlor should get broken?" said Tommy.

"But, mamma," protested Miss Bul-yon, "why are you sending out invitations for a diamond wedding? You haven't been married nearly long enough for that."

A weekly newspaper recently published the following in its "Answers to Correspondents" column.

Excavations conducted by Prof. Airoli in Rome's forum prove that the eternal city existed long before the time of Romulus.

Making War on Plumage Hats. Enthusiastic members of London's Audubon Society propose a law to authorize the confiscation of all hats decorated with the plumage of song birds.
