Ps. 107.7. Changeful experience of ten leads to anxious believer to inmy heart, my mountain standeth firm, were in attendance. I shall never be moved. Lord, Thou dost hide Thy face, and I am troubled. It was but yesterday that I could read my title clear, today my evidences are bedimmed, and my hopes are clouded. Yesterday I could climb to Pisgah's top, and view the landscape over, and oice with confidence in my future inheritance; today my spirit has no hopes, but many fears; no joys, but much distress. Is this part of God's plan with me? Can this be the way in which God would bring me to heaven? Yes, it is even eclipse of your faith; the darkness of your mind; the fainting of your hope -all these things are parts of God's method of making you ripe for the great inheritance upon which you will soon enter. These trials are for the testing and strengthening of your faith; they are waves that wash you farther upon the rock; they are winds which waft your ship the more swifter towards the desired haven. Accord-ing to David's words, "So it might be said of you, so He bringeth them to their desired haven." By honor and by dishonor; by evil report and by good report; by plenty and by poverty; by joy and by distress; by persecu tion and by peace; by all these things is the life of your soul maintained, and by each of these are you helped on your way. Oh, think not, believer, that sorrows are out of God's plan; they are necessary parts of it. We must go through much tribulation to enter the kingdom of heaven, then even to count it all joy, when ye fall into divers temptation 'Oh let my trembling soul be still.

And wait Thy wise, Thy holy will, I cannot, Lord, Thy purpose se Yet all is well, since ruled by Thee.

Is what everyone hopes to have some day. It is the most wonderful trip in the world. There are more than 3,000 square miles of weird, marvelous, unimaginable things that can be seen nowhere else therefore if one ever sees them one must go to the Park, in the heart of the magnicent Rockies with snow tipped peaks all around. If Old Faithful geyser, a Paint Pot, Mud Volcano, or Emerald were to be found in Lincoln Park, Chicago; Central Park, New or Fairmount Park, Philadelphia; the people would flock to see it or them by tens of thousands. For a very small sum, comparatively, all these and hundreds more of nature's unduplicated marvels can be seen between June 1 and September 30 of each year, and one will enjoy, to boot,
