THE WEEKLY HISTORIAN

One hundred Years Ago.
An army of blacks began to march to the north of the island of Hayti, to beset the city of St. Domingo. Italian privateers culminated their depredations on French and English commerce.
Aaron Burr and his second, Mr. Swartwout, arrived at St. Simons, Ga., on a visit to Senator Butler.
The rice crop of South Carolina was completely destroyed by the great hurricane which swept over the Southern States.
Mr. Dearborn, son of the Secretary of War, left for Algiers with presents for the ruler of that country.
Spain formally demanded America's complete renunciation of east and west Florida.
An American newspaper declared that it would be wisest to retain the island of New Orleans and sell the rest of the Louisiana purchase to Spain for what it would bring.
Seventy-five Years Ago.
In Paris, at meals, all women were provided with pins to fasten up their sleeves, which were so large as to be inconvenient.
The gold fever which had struck the Carolinas extended to Georgia, where digging for this metal daily was carried on.
The first public school in Baltimore was established.
Col. Trumbull, the artist, recommended the application of beeswax to the backs of the pictures in the capitol at Washington to preserve them.
Great preparations were commenced to celebrate the approaching marriage of Ferdinand, King of Spain.
The first steam sawmill in Pittsburg began operations.
Fifty Years Ago.
The French and English Baltic fleets separated in order to prepare for the home trip.
The allied forces consisting of 25,000 British, 25,000 French, and 8,000 Turkish troops moved against Sevastopol.
In the battle of Alma, Crimea, the allied forces defeated the Russians.
The British consul to the Sandwich Islands presented his protest against the annexation of those islands by the United States.
The French and English Baltic fleets left those waters homeward bound.
Florence Nightingale, with other nurses, arrived at Scutari to care for the suffering among the Anglo-French army.
The theater at Boulogne was burned and the Emperor acted as a fireman.
Forty Years Ago.
Gen. Sheridan defeated the Confederate forces under Breckinridge and Early at Bunker Hill in the Shenandoah valley, capturing 3,000 prisoners.
A McClellan meeting at the Lindell hotel, St. Louis, was broken up by a party of Union soldiers.
The draft was being put into force in nearly every Northern state.
Corrections in the apportionment cut the draft for Illinois districts 50 per cent.
The Cook county, Ill., board of supervisors offered a bounty of $10 to brokers for each man secured for enlistment.
An engagement between French and Mexican forces on the Rio Grande became a quadrangular fight in which the French and Confederates were routed by the Union and Mexican soldiers.
New York was depressed over the reported blowing up of Admiral Farragut's flagship, the Hartford, by accident off Mobile.
Thirty Years Ago.
Gov. Kellough, who was removed by the White League, was restored to the executive post of Louisiana, McEnery surrendering.
The grand jury of the District of Columbia refused to indict Charles A. Dana of the New York Sun for libel on charges made by "Boss" Shepard.

THE WASHINGTON—SEATTLE

THE SCENIC HOTEL OF THE WORLD.
This magnificent tourist hotel is Seattle's most prominent architectural feature—being situated upon the highest point of land in the downtown district—300 feet above sea level. It is, however, easy of access by private tramway, by regular hotel conveyance, by street car or by carriage. The scenery from The Washington is the most superb to be found on the Pacific coast. The appointments and furnishings of The Washington are entirely modern and high-class; the cuisine and service are most satisfactory. The rates are exceedingly reasonable for a fashionable Tourist Hotel.
The Washington is situated in the midst of six acres of beautiful grounds, which with the broad driveways, green lawns, and a profusion of roses and carnations, make the location an ideal one. The scenery from The Washington and grounds is unsurpassed in the West—no other point in Seattle giving such a magnificent view as can be had from this hotel. President Roosevelt was charmed with the scene that met the eye, from the verandas and grounds of the hotel, and so expressed himself. Thousands of others, in public and private life, have come and gone since the opening of this grand hostelry, who have added their tribute to the many expressions of pleasure and satisfaction derived from a glimpse of the Puget Sound country from this vantage ground, including as it does a view of mountains, lakes, Sound, harbor and all Seattle. Write for illustrated booklet.
