PULSE of the PRESS The three best immigration agents any State can employ are sound laws, safe courts and plenty of schools.—Macon Telegraph.

The people who are most eager to share their troubles are usually those who are most stingy with their good luck.—Philadelphia Record.

A New York doctor wants all idiots drowned. We are afraid that the doctor will be among the first to leave us.—Fairmont (W. Va.) Times.

In declaring that ten men would soon own the entire United States Mr. Lawson appears to have overlooked Mrs. Hetty Green.—Detroit Free Press.

Medical societies are urging us to cultivate ambidexterity. In this age of grab, the man who can use but one hand is apt to fare poorly.—Washington Post.

The patriotic devotion displayed by a Jap in going away to war is emphasized by the fact that he can divorce his wife for talking too much.—Montreal Star.

It appears that there is a shortage in the Hawaiian postoffice. But, of course, this sort of thing doesn't naturally follow the flag.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Czar, like Napoleon III. and Emperor Maximilian of Mexico, will yet learn that you can do anything with bayonets except sit on them.—Macon Telegraph.

The Government should bear in mind that cotton facts are more valuable than cotton estimates. The people don't want a guessing bureau.—Memphis News-Scimitar.

At a New York auction sale autographs of famous men sold for from $15 to $25. Mrs. Chadwick must feel she did pretty well with her autograph collection.—Washington Post.

If Professor Wiley could suggest some remedy for the artificial prices that food commands the value of his investigations would be further increased.—Washington Evening Star.

A bill has been introduced in the Kansas Legislature to prohibit football and having in the State educational institutions, but it makes no reference to the glee club evil.—Kansas City Star.

It might be expected that the Chicago packers would be "reticent" under the circumstances. What is there for a person to say who is "caught with the goods"?—Kansas City Star.

American farm products were worth approximately $5,000,000,000 last year. This is why panics may come and panics may go on Wall street, but the country goes on forever.—Atlanta Constitution.

After Congress gets through with Judge Swayne for charging up $10 a day to Uncle Sam for his hotel hash, it will no doubt discipline any of its members who are thrifty enough to collect 20 cents a mile mileage from Uncle Sam while riding on a free pass.—Atlanta Constitution.

And now the Chicago Health Board has discovered that the napkin is the home and the fastness of millions and millions of deadly and predatory microbes. However, there is no law against the old-fashioned method of using the coat sleeve or the tablecloth.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Lillian Russell has refused to sing in the home of a New York society woman for any price whatsoever. The fair Lillian says it is undignified and not in keeping with the ethics which should govern artists to sing in private houses. And, since she doesn't need the money, Lillian will probably have her way about it.—Savannah News.
