OSTRICHES NOT STUPID BIRDS.

Story that They Hide Their Heads When Frightened Base Slander. There are many giants in Africa 9 feet high. Some of them weigh 500 pounds and are strong enough to kill a panther at one blow. Perhaps you think such big fellows must be clumsy, but they are not. They can run faster than any horse, spring 12 to 14 feet at a leap. This all sounds like a fairy story, says a writer in the Cincinnati Commercial-Tribune, but not so when you hear that these African giants are ostriches.

Perhaps you have been told some foolish stories about these birds—that when pursued they stick their heads in the sand and because they cannot see imagine that no one can see them.

This is base slander. Instead of being stupid, ostriches are very cunning. Their long legs will take them away from men—unless they have their families to protect. Then all is different. The papa ostrich sends mamma ostrich and the baby ostriches off at full speed, while he runs the other way. What do you think he does next? He rolls on the ground, pretending to be hurt. The hunter rushes toward the fallen bird, thinking he can easily catch him, mentally counting how much money he can make out of the splendid tail feathers which adorn the bird's tail.

After the papa ostrich thinks his family has got a good start, up he jumps and skims over the ground, leaving the disappointed hunter to think that the ostrich is not as silly as he has been led to believe.

A singular thing about ostriches is the way they bring up their little ones. To begin with, there are a good many eggs in the nest (dug out of the hot sand), but the eggs are of different mothers. Ostriches do not lay eggs every day. Being far apart they would not hatch together. When the nest is prepared all the female ostriches in the neighborhood are invited to contribute an egg apiece, the hostess returning the favors in due time.

Ostrich eggs are delicious. One weighs three pounds, or is equal to a dozen of a hen's. They are very convenient, too, for the hunters in the desert. They not only furnish a delightful meal, but a dish to cook in. The shell is hard and thick and the egg is set on the fire, a hole is broken in the top, it is stirred with a stick and when it is done the saucerpan serves as a dish as well.

TALKS ON ADVERTISING

When a farmer plants his wheat in the fall he doesn't expect a harvest in a week or a month. When you give an order for a ten-story office building you don't go around to the site the following day and expect to find a complete building.

The farmer knows he must wait until the seasons and the chemicals of the earth work their changes, and you know that your building must proceed by gradual stages, brick upon brick, until finished.

So it is with advertising. The first insertion does not influence the public mind, nor the last, but one added to the other, every one gathering strength from those that precede it, gradually influence the public mind and bring to your bank the business you desire.

A single week or a month of advertising is merely a blow or two of a cork against a bar of steel. Its effect is absolutely nothing. It is money and effort wasted, but the continuous, persistent hammering, week after week, month after month, is just as sure to start the pendulum of business swinging your way as day is to follow night.

UNCLE SAM VALUES HER.

Miss Estelle Reel is His Highest Paid Woman Employee. The highest paid woman in the United States government service is Miss Estelle Reel, who is superintendent of all the Indian schools. She is very handsome and distinguished-looking, and not much over 30 years of age. Though she has headquarters at the Indian bureau in Washington, most of her time is spent in traveling about all over the country, her task being to improve the management of and the educational methods adopted in the day schools, boarding schools, kindergartens and other establishments maintained by Federal authority for training the minds and bodies of our youthful aborigines. Miss Reel's power in such affairs is well-nigh absolute, and she has instituted many important reforms in the schools. Her pay is $3,000 a year plus traveling expenses, and she earns the money.

Just a Little Slap. Tess—I thought you weren't going to send Marie MacInnes an invitation to your tea?
Jess—Oh! I decided that I couldn't hurt her feelings that much.
Tess—So you sent her one?
Jess—Yes, but I addressed it to "Miss Mary McGinnis."—Philadelphia Press.

If a woman is young she always gets considerable wear out of a garment before the bill comes in.
