

MEMORY.
BY WENDELL MACKWORTH TRAED.
Stand on a funeral mound,
Far from all that love thee;
With a barren heath around,
With a cypress bower above thee;
And think while the sad wind frets,
And the night in cold gloom closes,
Of spring, and spring's sweet violets,
Of summer, and summer's roses.

Sleep where the thunders fly;
Across the tossing bellow;
They camp the sky;
And lonely deck thy pillow;
And dream while the chill sea-fawn
In mockery dashes o'er thee,
Of the cheerful heath, and the quiet home,
And the kiss of her that bore thee.

Watch in the deepest cell
Of the female's dungeon tower,
Till hope's most cherished spell
Has lost its cheering power;
And say, while the galling chain
On every limb freezes,
Of the huntsman hurrying o'er the plain,
Of the breath of the morning breezes.

Talk of the minstrel's lute,
The warrior's high endeavor,
When the honeyed lips are mute,
And the strong arm crushed forever;
Look back to the summer sun;
Then say to the broken-hearted one,
"Is pleasant to remember!"

Premature Matrimony.

Marriage is a divine and beautiful arrangement. It was designed by Providence not solely as the means of keeping up population, or as a mere social and economical convenience; but as the blending of two spirits into one—the masculine representing "wisdom," and the feminine "affection."

When there is a true spiritual affinity between the two, then the design is accomplished. Premature marriages are among the greatest evils of the times; and it would not be a bad idea in these days of reform, if an "anti-marrying-in-a-hurry" society were instituted. Now-a-days people leap into the magic life circle with no more consideration than they would take of a dinner—little thinking that when once in, they are there until their end comes. There is but little, sometimes no mutual analysis of disposition, and comparison of taste and affections. They seem to fancy that if there are any discrepancies, the fatal Gordian knot, which can be seldom cut and never united, will harmonize all.

The numbers who have felt this truth—the numbers still feeling it to their heart's core—are incalculable. They recognize it as the great mistake of their lives. The chain is not to them a silken one, but a cable of iron, that tightens around them more and more, crushing all hope and energy, substituting hate for love, and eating out with its rust the very inner life of the soul.

Boys and girls now marry to a greater extent than ever before, instead of waiting till they become full-grown and matured man and woman. The young dandy as soon as he gets out of short jackets and finds a little force gathered on his upper lip—and the young miss, as soon as she emerges from the nursery and abbreviated frocks—think they are qualified to assume the most solemn responsibilities of life. And so, if "Pa" and "Ma" won't consent, they post off to some Gretna Green, and there take obligations they will never cease bitterly to regret.

Marriage should never be the result of fancy. The ball-room and the evening party rarely develop real character. Under the exhilarating influence of the dance, the glare of lights, and the merry squib and joke, the dissolute young man may appear amiable, and that slatternly scold lovable. Matches made at such places, or under similar circumstances, are not of the class that originated in heaven. They more generally are conceived in the opposite place, and bring forth only iniquity.

The true way to learn each other is to do it at home, in the parlor, in the kitchen, and on occasions that test the temper. We see the result of these unions in the almost daily divorces that are taking place, in the running away of husbands, leaving their wives and children to starve, and the eloquence of wives. Not only this, but we witness in the broken-spirited men, made old in the prime of life, struggling on for mere food and clothing, and shelter, and in woman—cross, dirty, sluttish and wrinkled.

It would be quite impossible for us to depict faithfully the multitude of physical and moral evils that result from these sinful alliances—for sinful they are. They ruin the body, corrupt the morals and stupefy the mind. And the result does not stop with husband and wife. There are the children; they partake of the foolishness and vice of the parents, both physical and moral, and go out into the busy world stunted and gnarled. God pity them!

We would not be understood speaking against the institution of marriage. It is holy, beautiful, and beneficial. But let every one take his mate, or none. Let not the brave eagle pair with the stupid owl, nor the gentle dove with the crows crow. Like should like. It is a glorious sight to see two old people who have weathered the storm and basked in the sunshine of life together, go hand in hand lovingly and truthfully down the gentle declivity of time, with no anger, nor jealousy, nor hatreds garnered up against each other and looking with hopes and joy to the everlasting youth of heaven, where they two shall be one forever. That is true marriage—for it is the marriage of spirit with spirit. The love is woven into a web of gold, that neither time nor eternity can sever.—The Eclectic.
