WAHLATPU VALLEY,
Jan. 30, 1856.

Mr. Editor—But very little of note has transpired since my last. The express has arrived from the Governor with the commission of the Colonel, who has taken command, and Maj. Chinn is ordered home, and has left for the valley. On the 23d of this month Capt. Hembree returned from a scout, and brought 250 head of horses, but the most of them were wild and unfit for service. He also discovered at the junction of Snake and Columbia Rivers a large band of stock herded by Indians; could not tell what number, but judging from the number of lodge fires in the distance, there was a large number of the red skins. We have three prisoners, who came in a few days ago. They say that the main body of Indians are encamped on Peluse river on the opposite side of Snake from here, and old Stock Whitly is commander-in-chief, and has gone to hold a council with Kamaiakin. They say they intend to give us another fight. We will be ready for them as soon as we get supplies and make necessary arrangements for getting the command across Snake River. The command would have marched before this time had the weather been favorable and our horses fit for service. The number of men now in the command this side of the Dalles is 380, all told. The weather has been very cold for the past month, the snow from 6 to 10 inches deep all the time, and a very poor prospect of its being any better at the present time, although I think it will not last a great while longer.

As a general thing the volunteers have a very hard time. Some of the companies are destitute of tents, except where they make them of blankets, and most all of them are destitute of clothing to keep themselves comfortable. A great many have had their feet frost-bitten, on account of having neither shoes nor boots. Some have substituted raw hide for shoes, and eat beef strait a great portion of the time. I hope there will be supplies furnished from this on, so that we can do something towards cleaning out the red devils. I think that we will be able to fit out our expedition for Snake River in 10 or 15 days, and see what we can do. The boys are all anxious for the expedition, and would be a great deal more so if the pack train would arrive with a supply of tobacco; doing without it makes the boys cross and somewhat out of humor. However, they do not get very dangerous, that is, to each other; but Mr. Indian must look out. It has been a great time for Jo Meek's business, as the snow has been so deep that he would not have much trouble chasing the Indians up the ravines and tomahawking them; and it is a fine thing that Dr. Sandford was with us, or old Jo would have been under the sod ere this time. He (old Jo) offered up several prayers to the Almighty to spare him a short time longer, as he wanted to be a candidate for Senior Major of the Regiment. He says that one day the volunteers killed Maj. Chinn, and buried him, and the next tried to raise him with a probing hook. He says he wants to be elected Maj., not so much for the honor but the pay, and that it would make his credit good below for whisky.—He says if he is elected he will show no quarter nor ask any, and I am of the opinion he will run a good race, and perhaps distance the field; but time will tell.

All the boys have to amuse themselves with breaking wild horses, and I do assure you it is sport. Aside from this, they have a debating society every night, and by the by we have a very interesting time listening to some eloquent speeches. I think of nothing more; you will hear from me again.

PARAWOKEN.

For the Argus.

Monmouth, O. T., Jan. 31, 1855.

Mr. Editor: SIR:—I write an answer to the arithmetical problem in your paper of the 19th ult.

The reason that by multiplying any given number by 5, it will be the same as dividing the number by 2 and annexing a cipher to the quotient when there is no remainder, and 5 when there is, is this: A cipher placed at the right of a given number increases its value ten times. Now it is plain that half of it would be five times the given number.

For the same reason to multiply any number by 25 will be the same as to annex two ciphers to the number and divide by 4, for adding two ciphers increases the value 100 times. Now if the given number is increased 100 times, one fourth of it would be the number increased 25 times, because 25 is one fourth of 100. N. H. B.

The reason is satisfactory as far as it goes, but why annex a 5 when there is a remainder?

☞ Maj. Chinn came down to Portland a few days ago. We believe he contemplates returning to Walla-Walla shortly.

☞ From all that we can learn, Capt. Cornoyer will be elected First Major instead of some others who are talked more of.

☞ The following will be recognized as one of VIOLA's best. Her love of the beautiful here is sanctified as an angelic sympathy, by its seeking the perfection of lasting beauty in Heaven.

For the Argus.

The Beautiful are First to Die.

There's beauty in the early dawn,
In the rosy tint of the morning skies,
When the dew-drops sparkle on the lawn,
And the twinkling stars have closed their eyes.
Yet the beauty of the rosy light
Is transient as the early dew;
For morning goes, and soon the night
Obscures the beauty morning knew.

There's beauty in the blushing flowers,
As they meekly lift their drooping heads,
Their bright leaves wet with evening showers,
Like diamonds shine in their lowly beds:
Yet Autumn comes, and his chilly breath
Snaps every flower from the fragile spray,
But their bright eyes tell us, e'en in death,
The beautiful first shall pass away.

Theres beauty in the sparkling stream,
As it glides along its peaceful way,
Like the silent beauty of a dream,
Which, ere we wake, has passed away.
But sparkling streams to the ocean haste,
And lose themselves in the rolling tide,
And it seems but a day since we saw them first,
Gushing all bright from the mountain side.

There's beauty in the rainbow bright,
"That stretches its wings o'er land and wave;"
Pure sparkling drops in the sunbeams bright,
Reflected from the hand that gave.
Yet while we gaze on the radiant bow
Its beauties melt in the azure sky,
For the loveliest objects are first to go,
The beautiful are first to die.

There's beauty in the human face,
And in the radiant sparkling eye;
But yet in all their loveliness,
The beautiful are first to die.
I had a friend in early youth,
One who did honor to the name;
The loved one was a friend in truth,
But the destroying angel came.

Though she was beautiful and bright,
By far too lovely long to stay,
Too soon we found the brilliant light
Of her black eye must pass away;
The rose-leaf faded from her cheek,
The sunbeam from her joyous eye,
And we felt the truth we need not seek,
For the beautiful are first to die.

I saw a merry child at play,
Close by his gentle mother's side;
As her fair white hands 'mid his bright curls play,
She gazed on her boy with conscious pride.
Yet the father's joy and the mother's pride
Were not enough to keep him nigh,
On a bright Spring day it was he died,
For the beautiful are first to die.

Yet there's a land more bright than this,
Where beauties all unfading are;—
A land of glory and of bliss,—
And death shall never enter there.
Then though earth's beauties pass away,
And 'neath the hand of death soon lie,
In that bright land of endless day
The beautiful shall never die.

TERRITORIAL LAWS.

An Act to provide for Auditing Claims against the Territory growing out of the existing Indian War.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oregon, That there shall be elected by joint ballot of both houses a commissioner on Indian war claims, whose duty it shall be to investigate and audit claims of citizens against said Territory growing out of the existing Indain war; provided, said commissioner shall audit such claims only as have not been duly vouched by the certificate or other sufficient vouchers, of the proper officer of any of the departments of the military organization of said territory.

SEC. 2. Said commissioner, before entering upon the duties of his office, shall take and subscribe an oath before any duly authorized officer, faithfully to perform the duties imposed on him by this act, and shall file the same in the office of the secretary of the territory.

SEC. 3. In the investigation of claims, when practicable the oath of the claimant shall be taken, but no claim shall be allowed upon the oath of the claimant alone, unless corroberated by such circumstances as shall satisfy the commissioner of the truth and justice of the same.

SEC. 4. In all cases wherein the pay for services rendered, the use of property hired or appropriated, or the price of property furnished to the territory, forming the basis of any claim, is fixed by law or the contract or appraisement of any officer or officers, authorized to make such contract or appraisement, said commissioner shall be governed thereby; and in all cases wherein no pay, price or value is fixed, he shall determine the same according to the equity and justice of the case; provided, that on appearance or intimation of fraud in any claim, said commissioner shall investigate the same from the begining, and award what should be justly paid.

SEC. 5 Said commissioner shall diligently inquire of and concerning debts, demands and setoffs, which the territory may have against the claimant and deduct the same from the amount allowed such claimant.

SEC. 6. Said commissioner shall have power to issue in the name of the territory all process, by summons, subpena and attachment, necessary to bring parties and witnesses before him, and the sheriff of any county shall execute the same at the expense of the party demanding process, and he shall have authority to administer all oaths in the premises necessary to carry out the provisions of this act.

SEC. 7. All claims allowed by said commissioner shall be by him recorded in a book to be provided at the expense of the territory and a certificate of such allowance given to the proper claimant.

SEC. 8. At the commencement of every session of the Legislative Assembly said commissioner shall report a list of claimants, and the amount allowed each; also a list of all claims by him rejected, with the reasons of his rejection; and no claim which shall have been bona fide passed upon by said commissioner, shall undergo an investigation by the legislature.

SEC. 9. Said commissioner shall keep his office at such places and points in different parts of the territory as shall subserve the interests, of the claimants, and he shall give thirty days notice by publication in newspapers and posting written or printed notices, wherever he shall change the location of his office.

SEC. 10. All books and stationary necessary in the discharge of the duties imposed by his act shall be provided by said commissioner at the expense of the territory.

SEC. 11. Said commissioner shall be allowed six dollars per day for each day he may be actually employed in the discharge of the duties of his office.

SEC. 12. This act to take effect and be in force from after its passage.

A NEW BOOK COMING!

WE have the pleasure of announcing that we have in press, and shall publish about the first of December, a new work of fiction, entitled

ROSE CLARK,

A ROMANCE—BY FANNY FERN.

The last work, and first continuous tale of this brilliant and fascinating authoress, "Ruth Hall," achieved a success unexampled in the annals of letters. In the language of a leading periodical, it "created a more profound sensation than any which has been issued during a quarter of a century." But it is unnecessary to allude to the merits of "Ruth Hall." Judging from the number of copies of it we have sold, we judge that every body in the United States has read it. As respects the work we have now in press, ROSE CLARK, we can only say that we regard it as, in every respect, a greater, better work; and are confident it will not only sustain, but even increase the reputation of its distinguished authoress. We have reasons for thinking "Rose Clark" will make a greater sensation than did "Ruth Hall."

It will form an elegant 12mo volume of over 400 pages. Price $1.25, on receipt of which copies will be sent by mail, post-paid. It will be for sale by all booksellers. Published by 40-3w MASON BROTHERS, New York.
