Brooks in the manner recognized by gentlemen.

The narrative caused much laughter. He said to Mr. Woodruff,-"Go, little wretch, there is room enough in this world for you and me." In his judgment the cock that crows and will not fight is despised even by hens and pullets. [Laughter.] Alleding to the remark of James Watson Webb, which had been quoted, that the act of assault deserved death on the spot, he said, if those who indersed that sentiment wished to play the game of chivalry, lat them, with their whole Repub lican crow, come and take the life which. they say, is forfeited. If his opponents were satisfied with the present state of the case, he was. He returned his thanks to his friends, especially to good Northern democrats and ganilemen who had the manhood to stand by him-not forgetting John Scott Harrison. Some gentlemen, he toe on Elections, declaring Mr. Archer inbelieved, had voted against him contrary to stead of Mr. Allen the elected impresenta their wishes, but were operated upon by tive from the S, outside pressure-and he spoke in com- triet of Illicois. mendation of those who gave their votes without indulging in vilification. He concluded by saving: Mr. Speaker, I an-nounces to you and the House I am no longer a member of the Thirty-fourth Congreas.

Confusion, hisses and applause followed, during which Mr. Brooks ratired. It was a long time before order was thoroughly restored.

July 15 .- The House proceeded to the consideration of the resolution expressing its disapprobation of the conduct of Messrs. Edmundson and Keitt in relation to the assault on Mr. Sumner.

An ineffectual effort was made to have a vote taken on the case of each, separately, and in consequences of this failure the resolution was rejected by a vote of 76 against 125.

On motion of Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, the vote was reconsidered, when he offered a substitute for the resolution so as to enabl-the House to pass on Mr. Edmundson and Mr. Keltt separately. He said if Mr. Keltt wished to be heard he should not insist on the pravious question.

Mr. Millson appealed unsuccessfully to Mr. Campbell, to withdraw his motion, he (Millson) wishing to occupy the attention of the House for a few minutes in discussing a new aspect of the question. Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, replied, if he should yield the floor to the gentleman from Virginia, he must necessarily give way to others. The subject had been discussed in all its aspects, and the substitute did not change the principle of the original proposition. Much time had already been consumed, the session was far advanced, and the business of the House not transactedtherefore he insisted on the previous question.

Mr. Letcher wished to sny, that in a new aspect of the case an effort was made to cut off debate.

Mr. Dunn called attention to the wording of the substitute. The House has been called upon to declare its disapprobation of "said act" of Messes, Keitt and Edmundson. He wanted to know to what the words "said net" had reference.

The Speaker replied it was explained in the preamble, which was yet to be acted upo

By request, the preamble from the report of the Committee was read, setting forth the facts connected with the assault, and concluding with the american that it sppeared from investigation that Measure. Keitt and Edmundson, some time previous to the assault, were informed of the purpose of Mr. Brooks to commit violence on fend. Mr Summer, for words used in debate, and Mi

The House then took up the reso utions the Committee on Elections that J. C. Allen was not and Wm. B. Arehor was elected a Representative from Illinois and first dollar in human flesh !" " entitled to his seat.

Mr. Wushburn, of Maine, advocated the resolutions.

The report of the majority of the Committee says that Mr. Archer was elected by two majority, and the report of the minority of the Committee states that Mr. Allen was elected by one. The subject was debated and the House adjourned; July 18 .- The Illinois conjusted election case was taken up, and Mr. Archer addressed the House in his own behalf.

The resolution that Mr. Allen was not entitled to a seat was adopted, by 94 against 90, and the resolution that Mr. Archer was entitled, rejected, by 80 against 91. An effort was made to reconsider the last vote, but it was lost by 4 majority. Resolutions were then passed that a va ancy exists in the Seventh Congressional District of Illinoia, referring the election back to the people, and giving Mr. Archer, contestant, mileage and per diem to date.

Measure Brown and Elevant of Liverpeol, and took no measures to discourage or prevent the same, but on the contrary anticipating the United States had been conclused. the assault, were present on one or more occasions to witness it.

Under the operation of the previous ques tion, the resolution censuring Mr. Keitt was adopted by yeas 106, nays 96. That consuring Mr. Edmundson was rejected by yeas 60, nays 136.

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, moved an amend ment to the preamble, to make it further appear that Mr. Keitt attempted to prevent an officer of the Senate and others from in. terfering to prevent a continuance of the blow, on Mr. Sumper.

Dunn's objection moved the amendment of the preamble by simply striking out Mr. Edmundson's name, letting Mr. Keitt's stand.

The preamble was then adopted by 104, against 83.

Mr. Keitt said he should ask the House to-morrow to hear him on some matters, He should endeavor not to violate Parliamentary propriety, and felt quite sure he would not do so.

MR. KEITT'S SPREIN AND RESIGNATION. July 16 .- Mr. Keitt said it was not his purpose to widen any brouch or exacorbate any feeling. He much preferred the opposite. He vindicated South Carolina against the charges brought against her for her conduct in the Revolution. He vividly depicted the sufferings and patriotism of the South Carolinians, contending that the exploits of Massachusetts In that struggly had been greatly exagorated. After speak ing in disparagement of Massachusetts, and in to complimentary terms of Mr. Bur. lingame's sentiments and chetoric, he said he was in the Senate when the assault was committed. He knew that it would be committed unless Mr. Summer should make an explanation or apology, but he repeated, he knew not the time when nor the place where the assault would be made. He did not anticipate it would be in the Senate chamber. Nurthern papers had attempt. ed to establish complicity on his part, charging it as a Slaveholding net, and had at tempted to fix the responsibility on South Carolina. Those who wish to drag in dust the garments of their State might do it --He certainly should not the garments of his own. It appeared that his offence was that heilid not turn informer-a character which he branded as infumous. He would never violate the confidence reposed in him. even by his bitterest enemy, against the best friend he had.
