According to recent advices from Sebastopol, the Russian engineers have succeeded in raising twenty-five of the vessels sunk in the harbor, the greatest part, however, of light tonnage. Among them is the steamer Cherson, which has been repaired, and is already manned and in activity. Upwards of sixty other vessels, of which some twenty-five or twenty-six are first and second rates, remain to be lifted. The divers employed affirm that, with some three or four exceptions, the whole of the operations can be crowned with success; so that, in the course of three or four years the old divisions of the Black Sea fleet will be as numerous as before the war.

One of the most prominent citizens of Missouri—the owner of twenty-one grown up slaves, besides their progeny—has offered to emancipate all, provided general emancipation could be secured.—He knows and says, that the rise in real estate consequent upon the abolition of slavery in Missouri, would four fold pay for the slaves.

Utah's Capital is no more Fillmore. The Seat of Government of Mormondom is Great Salt Lake City, "until otherwise provided by law." The change was made by resolution of the Legislature on the 15th December last. The Supreme Court will hold its session hereafter in Great Salt Lake City, and the Legislature will be convened there.

The Pure Spirit.—The springs of everlasting life are within. There are clear streams gushing up from the depths of the soul, and flowing out to enliven the sphere of outward existence. But, like the waters of Silah, they "go softly." You must listen to catch the silvery tones of the little rill as it glides along. You may not witness its silent march, but its course will be seen in the fresh verdure and the opening flowers—its presence will be known by forms of life and beauty that gather around it. It is thus with the pure spirit. You may not hear its "still small voice," or heed its silent aspirations, but it has a moral strength and a holy influence that is felt by all around. The wilderness is made to smile in its presence, and flowers of new life and beauty spring up and flourish forever.

Small Pox.—For the prevention of pitting in small pox, an important suggestion has recently been communicated to the public of England by the senior surgeon of the Small Pox Hospital, London. His plan for preventing pitting in small pox has been tried with uniform success for the past twelve or fourteen years at the above hospital. It consists in applying the acetum cantharides, or any visiciting fluid, by means of a camel hair brush to the apex of each spot or pustule of the disease on all the exposed surfaces of the body until blistering is evidenced by the whiteness of the skin in the parts subjected to the application, when the producing fluid is to be washed off with water, or thin arrow root gruel. The pain attending the application is slight and transient.

The Sunflower vs. Fever and Ague.—Lt. Maury, of the National Observatory, at Washington, claims to have discovered a safe guard against the miasma of fever and ague districts, and this is nothing more than the cultivation of the Sunflower, which he has discovered has rare powers to absorb the deleterious gases in the atmosphere. The suggestion is truly a beneficent one—if such be found to be the fact. He says that farmers or citizens who live near what is called fever and ague marshes, or centres of miasma, should plant a row of sunflowers between these infected places and their dwellings. These sunflowers act like a wall in protecting the health of the family, because they absorb the gases driven by winds on their dwellings.

It is estimated that the clergy cost the United States six million dollars a year; the criminals twelve millions; the dogs ten millions, and the lawyers thirty-five millions.

"Is molasses good for a cough?" inquired Jones who had taken a slight cold, and was barking with considerable energy. "It ought to be," said Brown; "it is much sold for consumption."

A gipsy woman promised to show two young ladies their husbands' faces in a pail of water. They looked and exclaimed: "Why we only see our own faces." "Well," said the gipsy, "those faces will be your husbands when you are married."

Harness Maker & Saddler. THE subscriber has bought out the establishment formerly owned by A. K. Post, and is now carrying on the HARNESS and SADDLERY business in all its branches; the LIVERY STABLE belonging to the establishment, is also kept up, where horses and carriages are constantly kept for the accommodation of the public. Horses left at my stable, will always be treated with particular attention, and well fed. I have been connected with this establishment for some four years, and am now permanently located, where I shall always be happy to wait on all who may favor me with a call. W. B. PARTLOW. Eliza Kent Kane, DIED 16TH FEBRUARY, A. D. 1857. "Like to some shattered berg that, pale and lone, Drifts from the white North to a Tropic zone, And in the burning day Wastes peak by peak away, Till on some rocky even It dies with sunlight blessing it; so he Tranquilly floated to a Southern sea, And melted into Heaven!" —Fitz James O'Brien.

The Zodiacal Light—Important Astronomical Deductions. The Rev. George Jones, Chaplain, U. S. Navy, whose recently published volume of observations on the Zodiacal Light, issued in connection with Commodore Perry's Japan Expedition, has received a great deal of attention from astronomers and scientific men, arrived in this city by the last steamer from the South on his way to the United States.

Mr. Jones, feeling the want of new facts on the subject he is engaged in elucidating, went to Quito, in Ecuador, where, in the transparent atmosphere of that elevated region (9,800 feet above the level of the sea), and in a position near the equator, he hoped for success. We learn from him, that after a seven months residence in the above-named locality and its neighborhood, his hopes have been fully realized, and that in addition to many valuable observations on the Zodiacal Light he has been able to procure valuable data on other topics connected with astronomy.

At Quito, Mr. Jones informs us, that the Zodiacal Light is seen not only immediately over the east and west horizons, but forming a complete arch across the sky, and this at every hour of the night, and that he never failed to see it at every one of his observations.

Mr. Jones has collected a large amount of valuable data, which he intends to publish on his return to the United States, and he purposes preparing a paper on the subject, to be read before the scientific institution, that meets at Washington in August next, which, no doubt, will be anxiously looked for by astronomers in all parts of the world.

In the mean time Mr. Jones has kindly allowed us to anticipate, in some degree, this valuable communication by stating that the conclusions for which his observations furnish greater or less force are the following: 1st. That the theory respecting the nebulous ring around the earth is true.

2d. That this ring crosses the ecliptic in longitude 60 deg. and 240 deg., at an angle of about four degrees.

3d. That it is not at a very remote distance from the earth.

4th. That the nebulous matter of which it is composed is self-luminous, while also, it gives us the sun's reflected light.

5th. That space about our earth, and probably all space connected with our universe, of stars, is filled with self-luminous matter of great tenacity.

6th. That the milky way is composed of self-luminous matter, in some places greatly condensed, the substance from which all worlds were formed, from which perhaps worlds are now being formed, and into which perhaps they again resolve themselves.

7th. THAT THE MILKY WAY IS A SPIRAL IN SHAPE.

8th. That our place in this space is about one-third or one-fourth of the way from the Southern Cross towards Sirius.—Panama Star & Herald.

Monument to Henry Clay. The people of Kentucky will perform a most noble act, and one which will do honor to themselves as well as perpetuate the memory of one of the noblest sons of that State and one of the brightest names that adorns the history of American statesmanship, by erecting the proposed monument over the sacred and venerated dust of Henry Clay.

It is a tribute well deserved, and it is entirely befitting that his old friends and neighbors in and around Ashland, those who knew him best, loved him most, and hold his memory most dear, should be the movers in so creditable an act. The nation will rejoice at it, and thousands of true hearts, that did beat in sympathy with his own in his successes and disappointments in life, and which were stirred by the eloquence of his good words and influenced by his wise and patriotic counsels, will swell with gratitude to Kentucky's generous sons for having thus befittingly enshrined and honored the remains of their lamented Chief, in the noble Sage of Ashland—the immortal Henry Clay.

The editor of the Fort Wayne Times tells us that in a recent journey through Kentucky, he went to pay his devotions at the grave of Henry Clay. In the cemetery not far from Lexington, he searched for it, first among those covered with en-tablatures, slabs, obelisks, pyramids and imposing monuments, but the name was found on none of these; he sought it among less imposing tablets, but found it not. A lad, at last, led him to the spot, where a little mound, marked only by the path worn by the foot-prints of devoted countrymen, told that the Great Commoner still lived in the hearts of the people. Near by, was the monument affectionately inscribed by Mr. Clay to his mother.

On an adjoining eminence, which is a beautiful site—with an area of half an acre circular in form—the people of Kentucky are to erect a monument of Kentucky marble, of a beautiful design,
