The Oregon Argus.

A Weekly Newspaper, devoted to the Principles of Jeffersonian Democracy, and advocating the truth of every issue

Vol. III.  OREGON CITY, OREGON. AUGUST 9, 1837.

THE BOOK OF THE LAW.

There is a spiritual book, New York, known as the Book of the Law, composed of a series of essays, or meditations, written by one of the most extraordinary men of the day. The book is written in a most sacred and divine style, and is intended to lead the reader to a knowledge of the true nature of the universe, and to a better understanding of the work of the Holy Spirit in the world. The book is divided into four parts, each containing a series of essays on different topics. The first part, entitled "The Law of the Universe," contains essays on the nature of the universe, the origin of life, and the nature of the human soul. The second part, entitled "The Law of the Spirit," contains essays on the nature of the Spirit, the nature of the human heart, and the nature of the human mind. The third part, entitled "The Law of the Will," contains essays on the nature of the will, the nature of the human body, and the nature of the human intellect. The fourth part, entitled "The Law of the Word," contains essays on the nature of the word, the nature of the human speech, and the nature of the human understanding.

The book is written in a most sacred and divine style, and is intended to lead the reader to a knowledge of the true nature of the universe, and to a better understanding of the work of the Holy Spirit in the world. The book is divided into four parts, each containing a series of essays on different topics. The first part, entitled "The Law of the Universe," contains essays on the nature of the universe, the origin of life, and the nature of the human soul. The second part, entitled "The Law of the Spirit," contains essays on the nature of the Spirit, the nature of the human heart, and the nature of the human mind. The third part, entitled "The Law of the Will," contains essays on the nature of the will, the nature of the human body, and the nature of the human intellect. The fourth part, entitled "The Law of the Word," contains essays on the nature of the word, the nature of the human speech, and the nature of the human understanding.

The book is written in a most sacred and divine style, and is intended to lead the reader to a knowledge of the true nature of the universe, and to a better understanding of the work of the Holy Spirit in the world. The book is divided into four parts, each containing a series of essays on different topics. The first part, entitled "The Law of the Universe," contains essays on the nature of the universe, the origin of life, and the nature of the human soul. The second part, entitled "The Law of the Spirit," contains essays on the nature of the Spirit, the nature of the human heart, and the nature of the human mind. The third part, entitled "The Law of the Will," contains essays on the nature of the will, the nature of the human body, and the nature of the human intellect. The fourth part, entitled "The Law of the Word," contains essays on the nature of the word, the nature of the human speech, and the nature of the human understanding.

The book is written in a most sacred and divine style, and is intended to lead the reader to a knowledge of the true nature of the universe, and to a better understanding of the work of the Holy Spirit in the world. The book is divided into four parts, each containing a series of essays on different topics. The first part, entitled "The Law of the Universe," contains essays on the nature of the universe, the origin of life, and the nature of the human soul. The second part, entitled "The Law of the Spirit," contains essays on the nature of the Spirit, the nature of the human heart, and the nature of the human mind. The third part, entitled "The Law of the Will," contains essays on the nature of the will, the nature of the human body, and the nature of the human intellect. The fourth part, entitled "The Law of the Word," contains essays on the nature of the word, the nature of the human speech, and the nature of the human understanding.