

MODE OF ADDRESS.—Said a sprightly little girl the other day, addressing her mother, "Will you give me some milk?" "You?" said the mother, "Who is you?" The little girl smiled, and changed the mode of address, and said, "Mother, please give me some milk?" or, "Mother, if you please, will you give me some milk?" Or in other words, every well-bred child in addressing his or her seniors, avoids the use of a pronoun in the form of a direct address. Children thus instructed and trained observe the same mode of address when they arrive at the age of maturity.

The manner of addressing persons, used by adults, betrays, not infrequently, the want of good-breeding, or the lack of common civility or politeness. It is painful oftentimes, to hear at a table, or in a conversational circle, the person presiding, it may be a young lady, addressing those whom she serves, "will you have this," or that, without otherwise designating the person addressed.

Besides the lack of civility so manifest, it is oftentimes a matter of inconvenience especially if so seated as not to catch the eye and thus determine who is really meant by "you." Every adult has some title, and when addressed, it should be prefixed to his family name, unless the person making the address be a Quaker, when it is usual to employ the first name.

In addressing young ladies of a family, where there are two or more daughters, it is the custom to address the elder, or eldest, with the title of Miss prefixed to the family name; and the other or others, with the title prefixed to the christian name.—These little forms and courtesies of common life, when duly and gracefully used, do much to soften the asperities, and magnify the amenities of social life.

Parents, teachers and guardians of children and youth, cannot too highly estimate the importance of good manners. The future happiness and success of your children and wards will depend greatly upon the manner of their early training. If they are well bred, well instructed, and well trained, they are in possession of what is better than a good estate, when of age, provided manners and money are compatible.

There is a pleasure in the exercise of good manners, that none but the possessor ever knows or can know. And it is a great misfortune for any child to grow up uncultivated in what pertains to common civility or politeness, much greater than growing up without the hope of inheriting property. Said a gentleman who had traveled extensively, "The only weapon of defence that I ever had occasion to use, was a civil tongue. The courteous use of this, everywhere and upon all occasions, has prevented my ever having any serious difficulty with anybody."

THE INFLUENCE OF WOMEN.—It is better for you to pass an evening once or twice a week in a lady's drawing room, even though the conversation is rather slow, and you know the girl's songs all by heart, than in a club, tavern, or in the pit of a theater. All amusements of youth to which women are not admitted, rely on it, are deleterious in their nature. All men who avoid female society have dull perceptions and are stupid, or have gross tastes and revolt against what is pure.—Your club swaggers, who are sucking the butts of billiard cues all night, call female society insipid. Poetry is insipid to a jester; beauty has no charms for a blind man; music does not please a poor beast who does not know one tune from another; and an epicure is hardly ever tired of water, ranchery, and brown bread and butter: I protest I can sit all night talking to a well regulated, kindly woman, about her girl coming out, or her boy at Elton, and like the evening's entertainment. One of the great benefits men may derive from a woman's society is, that he is bound to be respectful to them. The habit is of great good to your moral men, depend upon it.—Our education makes us the most eminently selfish men in the world. We fight for ourselves, we yawn for ourselves, we fight our pipes and say we won't go out, we prefer ourselves and our ease; and the greatest good that comes to a man from a woman's society is, that he has to think of somebody besides himself, to whom he is bound to be constantly attentive and respectful.—Thackeray.

BECHER ON BOYS.—Henry Ward Beecher is said to be a patron saint of boys. The boys of Brooklyn, it is said, would make him the President of the United States to-morrow, if it depended on their vote. He saves them from the Police—he pays their fines when they break windows—he tells them he used to like to do it himself. The evening before the fourth of July, the usual Plymouth Church prayer-meeting was somewhat disturbed by the firing of crackers in the entry and under the windows. Most ministers would have put on a solemn face and given peremptory orders to seize or drive away the boys; but Beecher smiled and said: "that's somewhat annoying to us, but I presume the boys enjoy it; indeed, I remember a time when I used to enjoy such things myself."

He that lets the sun go down upon his wrath and goes angry to bed, is like to have the devil for his bed-fellow.

TALKING.—Those talk most who think least; as frogs cease their croaking when a person brings a light to the water side.

THE "SECRET" CANCER CURE.—Much has been written about Dr. Fell's secret now being employed by the surgeons at the Middlesex Hospital, London. Dr. Fell's treatment is described in a late medical work as follows: "In the first instance the skin over the tumor is removed by some liquid caustic—nitric acid. The thus exposed tumor is then covered with a layer of an ordinary caustic, chloride of zinc, spread on linen. This creates a superficial slough. This slough is then scored to a certain depth by several incisions of the knife;—into these furrows strips of linen covered with the caustic are inserted. In this way the tumor is thus destroyed still deeper. The incisions are gradually extended in depth from time to time, fresh caustic being introduced into them at each dressing, till in this way the whole tumor is seriatim converted into one large eschar, which separates by a surface of demarkation, according to the ordinary principles of surgery."

The constitutional treatment which has been affirmed to eradicate from the system the tendency again to originate cancers, is affirmed by the same authority to consist in the internal administration of iodine of arsenic.

RIPENING THE PEAR.—The whole secret of keeping the pear, is to preserve them in barrels; if the quantities are small, let them be put together, with the simple separation of a double sheet of clean thick brown paper. If the selection of sorts which ripen at the same time is judiciously made, they may all be taken out at once, ripened up in a slightly higher temperature, and produced in all their beauty and excellence. Whoever has hesitated about growing the winter pears on account of the difficulty of ripening, may dispel their fears, if they will try this method of keeping them.

DARN THE EXPENSE.—The following occurred recently at a church which has, we are told, something of a reputation for its noisy mode of worship. During an evening prayer-meeting, one member was praying with much earnestness and an abundance of zeal, rubbing and spitting on his hands, and shouting at the top of his voice, whilst a number of other members were chiming in, endorsing what the praying member said, and joining in the entreaty and supplication by such exclamations as "yes," "do Lord," "yes Lord," &c.; the praying member went on with his prayer, growing more and more excited more animated, more enraptured, beseechingly supplicating and imploring, saying, "come down here, Lord—come right down among us—come right down to night—come right through the roof!" Another member, equally excited and enthusiastic, and who it seems was carried away by the shouting brother and had the tantrums about as bad, here joined in, and said: "Yes, come Lord, right down through the roof, and I'll pay for the shingles!"—Syracuse (N. Y.) Standard.

HUMAN LIFE.—Flowers have bloomed on our prairies, and passed away, from age to age, unseen by man, and multitudes of virtues have been acted out in obscure places, without note.

A man, for being told the truth, thanks you the first time—votes you a bore the second—and quarrels with you the third.

The slang phrase, "not a red cent," must shortly become obsolete, for the new cent is as white as silver.

We always love those who admire us, but we do not always love those whom we admire.

A country editor, rhyming upon his own occupation, thus begins his "few stanzas":—"First I pen'd a paragraph, And then I penned my pigs."

Arkansas Poetry. An "original contributor" of the Fayetteville (Ark.) Independent furnishes for its columns the following "gem of poetry":

WARREN WETHER AND WARREN LOVE. Translated from the German expressly for grays-hams maggins, by Reuben.

The wether goes quite warrum. And the sweet rules tricken down my head and neck and arms and body clean down to my feet, and wet in every stick of cloze, which spiles my charrum.

I see Jane, Jane, the wethers mighty hot and she says reuben that's a sartin fact and Jane side like a blen coty pot and her sole seemed in hard pain rackt.

see I Jane spose a mad K 9 broot beast should run at you, and epe his mouth and put his pizen teeth on you savelegely, at least 6 inches jess above yer little foot!

Jane see you wood beat him renben that i no; see I wood whip him if i had to follor him clean to the rio grand in mexico ide beat him with a club and make him holler.

Jane lookt at me so sweet, I lookt at Jane; and we both felt considerably noggled, and we was both happy 'nough to go insane and we set there for a short time and bused!

SANDS' SARSAPARILLA. FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD, AND FOR THE CURE OF Scrofula, Mercurial Diseases, Outaneous Eruptions, Rheumatism, Liver Complaint, Stomachic Ulcers, Dyspepsia, Lumbago, White Swellings, &c.

Disenlargement of the Glands and Joints, Fever Sores, Erysipelas, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Loss of Appetite, Pimples, Ecles, General Debility, and as a GENERAL TONIC FOR THE SYSTEM IT IS UNRIVALLED.

Science has never yet explained the philosophy of digestion. We know that the material food is first converted into the semi-fluid called chyme, and afterwards, by the action of the biliary secretions and other fluids, into chyle, a milky fluid, which, in its passage to the veins, becomes blood. But how this is effected, we know not. Now it is evident that if this vital fluid be diseased or impure, the substance formed from it cannot be healthy, and every disease of the body will arise from it. This condition of the system is developed in various forms: sometimes, outwardly, as in Scrofula and other chronic and eruptive diseases; or inwardly, as in Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Swellings, and decay of the Bones. It is evident, then, that a medicine which will CLEANSE AND PURIFY the elements of the blood, will cure these deplorable disorders; and practical experience has established the fact that SANDS' SARSAPARILLA is that medicine. By expelling the very seeds of disease, it restores to the stomach its tone; it cures the skin eruptions, the virus; and to the blood, its healthful character.

ASTONISHING CURE. Copy of a Letter addressed to our Agents in Chicago, Ill., showing its value in cases of Fever Sores.

Meers, J. H. Dear Sir: Gentlemen.—I obtained from your store a bottle of SANDS' SARSAPARILLA, and was then induced to try it, without doubt, for a week, occasioned by a violent pain from a severe Fever Sores, of long standing, on my right leg. My physicians advised me to have the limb amputated, but I was the only one who believed in preserving my life. After using half of the bottle, the pain began to subside, and by the time I had used nearly three bottles, I was able to walk, and the pain was entirely gone. I had feared the sixth bottle, I was as well as sound as ever I had been. I most cheerfully recommend it to all who are afflicted with this terrible disease, as the best and most valuable medicine for the purification of the blood.

Yours most respectfully, JAMES MILLER. Prepared and sold by A. B. & D. SANDS, Wholesale Druggists, No. 100 Fulton-street, corner of William, New York.

ROMAN EYE BALSAM, FOR INFLAMED EYELIDS. The delicate structure of the eyelid renders it peculiarly sensitive and liable to disease. When, from any cause, it becomes inflamed, the inner membrane rapidly inflames, and the eyelid swells, gradually runs together, and thus attracts to itself humors from all parts of the body. A multitude of persons of serious habits are distressed by various forms of eye disease, and many of them, who are tormented with apprehensions of impaired vision, who, by using this Balsam, may obtain almost immediate relief.

READ THE FOLLOWING EVIDENCE. New York, Feb. 16th, 1858. Messrs. Saxa: Gentlemen.—I was afflicted with a dry eye, and my eyes were for some time, commencing with small spots, which gradually ran together, and thus attracted to itself humors from all parts of the body. A multitude of persons of serious habits are distressed by various forms of eye disease, and many of them, who are tormented with apprehensions of impaired vision, who, by using this Balsam, may obtain almost immediate relief.

To Teachers. THE Trustees of OREGON CITY UNIVERSITY are desirous of obtaining the services of a first class TEACHER to take charge of the school under their control in the "College Building" in Oregon City. The school is left in a flourishing condition, by the teachers who have just closed their engagement, and the Board are anxious that their place should be filled in season for the term. Liberal arrangements will be made, so that a good teacher cannot fail to be amply rewarded for his services.

There is room in the building for the accommodation of a small family, and several boarders. Let immediate application be made to either of the undersigned.
