

MR. ASHBY, THE CHIEF ENGINEER OF THE CENTRAL AMERICA.—All of the engineers of the ocean steamers at New York, who have sailed with Mr. Ashby, speak well of him, as a brave and accomplished officer, and as one who was one who was not likely to desert a vessel while all the rest of the officers and crew stood firm.—As it is just that whatever can be added in his favor should be presented to the public, we copy the following from the New York Express:

"Mr. McCarty, Chief Engineer of the Golden Age, who was a passenger in the Central America, will make, it is understood, a statement to the Company of the sad affair. This gentleman worked side by side with Ashby, and saw his whole conduct from beginning to end, and although he says but little now, yet from the tenor of his conversation it appears Ashby did all that man could do to save the passengers of the ship. He states that Ashby lowered the first boat, and in doing so was caught by the ropes and drawn under the guards and then into the sea, when Captain Herndon was heard to say, 'Poor Ashby is lost.' But he rose and was drawn on deck, after which he succeeded in lowering a boat which was filled with ladies, and placed under his charge. While the boat was being filled, a number of men rushed to the gangway to get into it, when he ordered them back, saying that the ladies and children should go first; but they not heeding his orders, kept pressing to the boat, when he drew a knife and threatened the life of any man who should get into the boat, until the females and children were saved.

And when the crew who manned the boats reached the Marine and refused to go back, he again drew his knife and ordered them to follow him on another trip to the steamer, threatening those who refused; the captain of the brig interposed, saying a boat could not live in such a sea. Finding that he could not force his men to return he had nothing to do but remain on the vessel. All of this, it is said, will be substantiated as soon as those near him on the Central America make their statements and the Marine arrives.

Ashby is the person who distinguished himself so much during the great riot between the natives and Americans at Panama, as the leader of those Americans who fought so bravely. He still bears the marks of that fight on his body."

Capt. Burt, of the Marine, fully exonerates Mr. Ashby from all blame. He says the boat's crew skulked away and hid themselves in various parts of the brig, so that he could not get a boat's crew to go off.

GEN. JACKSON'S TOILET.—The genial temper of President Buchanan, his easy, pleasant manners and racy conversation, have always rendered him a great favorite in society abroad as well as at home, and few of our public men have laid up such a stock of amusing and valuable reminiscences. There is one anecdote which he tells of Gen. Jackson, which is so characteristic of the old hero that it is worth preserving. The President relates that one day during the administration of Old Hickory, he went to the White House to ask permission to present to him the celebrated Miss Betsy Caton. Gen. Jackson readily assented, and named next day for the interview. At the appointed hour Mr. Buchanan repaired with his fair charge to the Presidential mansion, and leaving the lady in one of the drawing rooms he mounted to the private cabinet of the President.—To his great surprise and disappointment, he found the General buried in his books and papers, and attired in a plain morning dress, his chin unshaved and his favorite pipe in his mouth. The Senator from Pennsylvania was grievously embarrassed. He was apprehensive that if he announced Miss Caton's presence the gallant veteran would descend all in neglige as he was.—Mr. Buchanan did not like to expose the renowned belle to such a shock as that, and, on the other hand, he equally dreaded offering a suggestion on the subject to the fiery old war horse. There was no alternative, however, and he had to state that Miss Caton was waiting the General's presence in the green drawing room. Up jumped Old Hickory at the first word and laid down his pipe. There was not a moment to be lost, so Mr. Buchanan, in a timid and apologetic manner, ventured to observe that "the lady could very well wait till the President had shaved himself." The General saw that he was driving at, and shook his frizzly head at him like the mane of an enraged lion. "Buchanan," thundered out the impetuous old man, "did you ever hear of the man in Kentucky who got rich by minding his own business?" Without stopping to say whether he was acquainted with the remarkable individual in question, the experienced Senator fled from the storm and took refuge with his lovely companion down stairs. In a few minutes afterwards the hero of New Orleans entered the room with that dignity of manner which no man knew better how to assume; and great was Mr. Buchanan's relief to find that not only was his face quite virginal in its smoothness, but that he was got up in his best black suit, with boots of faultless luster.

TELEGRAPH TO THE PACIFIC.—Henry O'Reilly announces that, in company with John J. Speed, John Butterfield, and others, he is about to push forward the great enterprise of connecting our Atlantic and our Pacific territory by means of the magnetic telegraph.

THE Big Sioux river, which empties into the Missouri, and forms part of the western boundary of Iowa, is found to be navigable for steamers. It is three hundred and fifty miles long.

TEMPERATURE OF THE PLANETS.—It is a well established conclusion, that the superficial temperature of our globe has arrived at that point below which it can never descend by more than the small fraction of a degree, so long as all external conditions remain the same as at present; and the superficial temperature of the remoter planets will in all probability be reduced to the corresponding limit. To these external conditions, therefore, and not to their primitive heat, must the existing temperatures on the surface of these planets be attributed, assuming always that they are not of less antiquity than our own globe. Hence the superficial temperature of the earth, with its present atmosphere, placed at the distance of Neptune, Uranus, or Saturn, would be very nearly 39 deg. 5 C., since the effect of our solar radiation through those distances would be nearly insensible. But if the extent of the atmosphere were increased, the superficial temperature would be augmented in a corresponding degree. Judging by the decrements of temperature which have been observed, it is concluded that an increase in the height of the earth's atmosphere of 35,000 or 40,000 feet, would elevate her superficial temperature, if placed in the remote planetary regions, to nearly the mean temperature of our present temperate zone. The same conclusion will hold with respect to the three planets above mentioned, if they be supposed to have atmospheres similar to that of the earth, and of sufficient extent.

DUCKING A PARSON IN MISSOURI.—A large number of our professional and business citizens have been journeying out west, looking at town sites or corner lots—areas for the extension of freedom, slavery &c. They have observed many interesting things, and come home chuck full of anecdotes. One of them was traveling northward in Gentry county, Missouri, the other day, and met a large company of people, men, women and children, journeying south, all with their "Sunday clothes" on, and the men armed for war. Our citizen enquired: "What's the matter—where are so many men going with guns?" "Why," said the six-footer addressed, who sported a scoldogger of a rifle, "our preacher down here preached like h—l against slavery the other Sunday, and we heard that for deen' so they were comin' over from St. Joe to-day to give him a duckin'. We're goin' to see it well done. Say, stranger, won't you go along with us!" The camp-meetin' folks, armed with rifles, were emancipationists.—Cincinnati Commercial.

IT is not generally known that West Point is now the headquarters of the army. The change was made a short time since. Gen. Scott has his office in the Academy building.

"Bill Smith, you said you boarded at the Columbia Hotel six months; did you foot your bill?"

"No, sir, but it amounted to the same thing—the landlord footed me."

"Why is a vain young lady like a confirmed drunkard? Because neither of them is satisfied with a moderate use of the glass."

"Sal," said one girl to another, "I am so glad I have no beau now." "Why so?" asked the other. "Oh, causa I can cut as many onions as I please."

"Punch teaches book-keeping in three words—'Never lend them.'"

A Yankee has invented a suspender that contracts on your approach to water so that the moment you come to a puddle it lifts you ever and drops you on the other side.

A young gentleman of Detroit, who has of late been much afflicted with palpitation of the heart, says he found considerable relief by pressing another palpitating heart to his bosom.

It is very curious that a watch should be perfectly dry, when it has a running spring inside.

The difference between rising every morning at six and at eight, in the course of forty years, amounts to forty-nine thousand hours, or three years, one hundred and twenty-one days, and sixteen hours, which will afford eight hours a day for exactly ten years, which is the same as if ten years were added to a man's life.

The man who does the most, has the least time to talk about what he does.

SANDS' SARSAPARILLA. FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD, AND FOR THE CURE OF Scrofula, Mercurial Diseases, Cutaneous Eruptions, Rheumatism, Liver Complaint, Stubborn Ulcers, Dyspepsia, Lumbago, White Swelling, Hip Disease, Enlargement of the Bones and Joints, Fever Sore, Bronchitis, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Loss of Appetite, Pimples, Bites, General Debility, AND AS A GENERAL TONIC FOR THE SYSTEM IT IS UNRIVALLED.

Science has never yet explained the philosophy of digestion. We know that the material food is first converted into the acid fluid called chyme, and afterwards by admixture with the bilious secretions and other fluids, into chyle, a milky fluid, which, in its passage to the veins, and every organ, and thence to the body, will be in an unwholesome state. This condition of the system is developed in various forms; sometimes, outwardly, as in Scrofula and other chronic and venereal diseases; or inwardly, as in Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Swellings, and decay of the Bones. It is evident, then, that a medicine which will cleanse the blood, will cure these deplorable disorders; and practical experience has established the fact that SANDS' SARSAPARILLA is that medicine. By expelling the very seeds of disease, it restores to the stomach its tone to the whole digestive apparatus, its vigor; and to the blood, its healthful character.

ASTONISHING CURE. Messrs. J. H. REED & CO., Gentlemen.—I obtained from your store a little of SANDS' SARSAPARILLA, and was then confined to my bed, without sleep, for a week, occasioned by a violent pain from a regular Fever Sore, of long standing, and of a very obstinate nature. I had used nearly three bottles, I was able to transact my regular business, and before I had finished the sixth bottle, I was as well as usual, and my blood had become much healthier. I recommend it to all my friends as a most valuable medicine for the purification of the blood. Yours, most respectfully, JAMES MILLER.

ROMAN EYE BALSAM, FOR INFLAMED EYELIDS. The delicate structure of the eyelid renders it peculiarly sensitive and liable to disease. When, from any cause, it becomes inflamed, the lids rapidly shut, and the eye is closed, and the eyelid evinces the strongest disposition to contract to itself, humors from all parts of the body. Hundreds of persons are afflicted with this rapidly increasing and distressing disease, which, unless relieved, will, in ten years, which is the same as if ten years were added to a man's life.

READ THE FOLLOWING EVIDENCE. New York, Feb. 16th, 1853. Messrs. SANDS, Gentlemen.—I was afflicted with a dry and itching eye, which gradually ran together, and troubled me very much. Various remedies were resorted to, and I received no permanent benefit until I used the Roman Eye Balsam. The first application relieved the unpleasant feeling and symptoms, and in one week I was entirely cured. It had the same good effect in curing a friend to whom I recommended it, for sore eyes. Yours, truly, HIRSH NICHOLS, 347 West 99th street.
