IS THE SUN INHABITED?—Sir John Herschel concludes that the sun is a planet abundantly stored with inhabitants, his inference being drawn from the following arguments:—On the tops of mountains of sufficient height, at an altitude where clouds very seldom reach to shelter them from the direct rays of the sun, are always found regions of ice and snow. Now, if the solar rays themselves conveyed all the heat on this globe, it ought to be hottest where their course is least interrupted.—Again, aeronauts all confirm the coldness of the upper regions of the atmosphere.—Since, therefore, even on our earth, the heat of any situation depends upon the aptness of the medium to yield to the impression of the solar rays, we have only to admit that, on the sun itself, the elastic fluids composing its atmosphere, and the matter on its surface, are of such a nature as not to be capable of any excessive affection from its own rays. Indeed, this seems to be proved from the copious emission of them; for if the elastic fluids of the atmosphere, or the matter contained on the surface of the sun were of such a nature as to admit any easy chemical combination with its rays, their emission would be much impeded. Another well known fact is, that the solar focus of the largest lens thrown into the air, will occasion no sensible heat in the place where it has been kept for a considerable time although its power of exciting combustion, when proper bodies are exposed, should be sufficient to fuse the most refractory substances. Thus from arguments based solely on the supposed physical constitution of that luminary, he deduces the somewhat astonishing idea that the sun is inhabited.

UTAH.—It may be a matter of some interest to our readers to know something of the comparative extent of that Territory of the United States, whose chief officer is bidding defiance to our Government. According to Colton, the area of Utah is 269,170 square miles. To engineers, and a few others, this will give a just idea of its vast extent, but the majority of people will form a better estimate by being told that it is as large as the whole of the New England States, and New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Kentucky, and Tennessee.

A SENSIBLE JUDGE.—Judge Closson of the Windsor, Vt., Probate District, has decided that a good family newspaper is one of the necessary articles for the support of a family during the settlement of an estate, and as such, the administrator, in an insolvent estate, is justifiable in paying for one—the widow to make her own selection.

☞ Here's a gem from Dombey that will never grow dim: "She died," said Polly, "and was never seen again, for she was buried in the ground where the trees grow."

"In the cold ground!" said the child.

"No; the warm ground," replied Polly, "where the seeds are turned into beautiful flowers, and where good people turn into angels, and fly away to heaven."

HOW TO RUIN A SON.—1. Let him have his own way.

2. Allow him the free use of money.

3. Suffer him to rove where he pleases on the Sabbath.

4. Give him free access to wicked companions.

5. Call him to no account for his evenings.

6. Furnish him with no stated employment.

Pursue either of these ways, and you will experience a most marvelous deliverance, or you will have to mourn over a debased and ruined child! Thousands have realized the sad result, and have gone mourning to the grave.

☞ A 'pretty man' is a fit subject for prayer, and a handsome one narrowly escapes sympathy. But the secret of good looks was never disclosed more happily than in the reply of some one to a lady correspondent of the Home Journal.

She was wondering why a friend had lost his beauty, and the answer was, 'Oh, it's because he never did anything: he never worked, thought, suffered. You must keep the mind chiseling away at the features, if you want good-looking men in middle age.'

☞ A Western editor perpetrates the following on "Father Adam":

"He laid him down and slept—and from his side
A woman in her magic beauty rose;
Dazz'led and charmed, he called the woman bride,
And his first sleep became his last repose."

☞ We are never astonished at any happiness that drops into our lap, for we always fancy we are deserving of it; but if any piece of ill luck falls down upon us, we cannot imagine what we have done to deserve it.

☞ A young naval officer, when asked what period of the battle was most appalling, replied:

"The few hushed moments when they sprinkled the deck with sand, to drink the human blood as yet unshed."

☞ Punch says—"To find out whom a child loves, make it a present, and notice to whom it is most eager to show that present exultingly. To find out whom a woman hates—do exactly the same thing."

☞ The cradle is woman's ballot box. Yes, and some of them deposit in it two ballots at once. Now, isn't that illegal?

☞ To be angry with a weak man is proof that you are not very strong yourself.

☞ God hears the heart without words, —but never hears words without the heart.

☞ Worldly joy is a sunflower, which shuts when the gleam of prosperity is over.

☞ Spiritual joy is an evergreen—an unfading plant.

Unopened Buds.

A shape of beauty beyond man's device,
Which held a precious life with us begun,
Light feet at rest, like streamlets chained with ice,
And folded hands whose little work is done,
Make this poor hamlet sacred to our grief.
Passed is the soul, which was of nobler worth,
Like fire from glowworm, tint from wither'd leaf,
Perfume from fallen flower, or daylight from the earth.

Star, faded from our sky elsewhere to shine,
Whose beam to bless us for a while was given;
Little white hand, a few times clasped in mine,
Sweet face, whose light is now returned to heaven:
With empty arms, I linger where thou liest,
And pluck half-open'd flowers as types of thee,
And think that angels, amid joys the highest,
Are happier for thy love, which still they share with me.

—Household Words.

A CHILD IN HEAVEN.—Dickens tells of a little girl that died, one of two that had bloomed into being, twin buds, together.

The years went by, and the dead was not forgotten, but, hand in hand with the living sister was held in the same clasp of love.

The twain kept pace: as the one blossomed into maturer beauty, so did the other; side by side they shared Time's dewy gifts, the living and the dead; when they thought of the one, it was that she was so old or so old; when they looked upon the other, they saw a sweet resemblance. Thus the mother and the girls passed down the years, and never parted company.

There is indeed a strange delight in the thought of two, a world apart, thus moving parallel; one on the dusty earth, and one in Paradise Regained.

No mouldering past in such a death; it is not death, but only walking on the river's other side: the other side, where, as the German said, we sometimes see the soft blue smoke of cottage homes, where wait the dear ones who went on before.—Chicago Journal.

SANDS' SARSAPARILLA.

For Purifying the Blood,

AND FOR THE CURE OF

Scrofula, Mercurial Diseases, Rheumatism, Cutaneous Eruptions, Stubborn Ulcers, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Bronchitis, Salt Rheum, Lumbago, White Swellings, Hip Disease, Fever Sores, Female Complaints, Erysipelas, Pimples, Biles, Old Sores, General Debility,

AND AS A

GENERAL TONIC FOR THE SYSTEM

IT IS UNRIVALLED.

The various diseases which have their imprints on the surface of the body, may be compared to signals of distress thrown out by Nature to indicate that the vital organization within needs cleansing and purifying.

The ancients believed that animal life existed in the blood. It is at least certain that

HEALTH DEPENDS

Upon the PURITY of that fluid. If the skin is in an unnatural state, as in Scrofula, Leprosy, and all Ulcerous Diseases, it is evident that the vessels which ramify over the surface of the body must be charged with diseased blood; and if so, the whole volume of blood, venous and arterial, is impure. Before a cure can be effected there must be a purification of the vital stream. The great object, therefore, is to ascertain what remedies will act most directly upon the constituents of the blood when in the act of combination. Experience, observation, and a cloud of witnesses, establish the fact that this preparation is at the very head of this class, and will soon restore the circulation to a healthy state by eradicating the elements of disease.

STILL FURTHER TESTIMONY.

WEST KILLINGLEY, CONN., June 12th, 1857.

MESSRS. A. B. & D. SANDS: Gentlemen,—The following case came under my observation, in which your Sarsaparilla effected the cure of a severe case of Chronic Rheumatism. The patient, Mr. Joseph K. Green, has been afflicted with rheumatism for years by turns, which sometimes was attended with fever, and put on an acute form in a few days. He used various remedies, under the advice of his physician, which produced but partial relief; and in reply to his inquiry, if something could not be done to effect a permanent cure, I advised him to use your Sarsaparilla. He accordingly commenced its use, and the effect was so marked that he was able to sleep the first night comparatively free from pain. He continued it, and before he had taken twelve bottles he was entirely free from the disease, and has remained so since, being able to pursue his business, and is now a representative for the town of Brooklyn in our Legislature. Very respectfully yours,

WM. A. BREWSTER, M. D.

CLOVE ANODYNE

TOOTHACHE DROPS.

Those who have felt the painful throbbing and excruciating pangs of a raging toothache shooting through their jaws and head with the most tormenting perseverance, and as is often the case, have received but little sympathy from friends, will no doubt be much pleased to know of a remedy that will never fail to quiet the unmerciful offender, and leave the teeth, where they should remain, in the head.

The numerous cures it has accomplished are well attested, and it has only to become generally known to be as highly appreciated by the public as it has long been by Dentists.

The following testimony is from one of the most distinguished practical Dentists in the city of New York:

MESSRS. SANDS: Gentlemen—In the course of my practice, I have extensively used your Clove Anodyne with much success for the relief of the Toothache; and as I constantly recommend it to my patients, I deem it but just to inform you of the high opinion I have of it over other remedies. I am yours, very respectfully,

M. LEVETT, 12 Waverley Place.
