That she should make the Nightingale a name for something sweeter far than song; a name to call a woman by, who shall have place with Rachel and with Ruth, in all time to come !

But from that crimson soil slone, could spring the younger sister of meek-eyed Mercy, whose gentle hand should make the way to Heaven as brief as Agur's prayer, or win the soldier back from dying, each to his 'Annie Laurie.'

One would think that in the gentlest summer of a smiling world, that girl so rich in graces, must have thrived; that she must have learned to pity from a kind and cloudless heaven, and soft, sweet songs persuaded her to love.

But even as the violets opened their blue and tearless eyes upon the field of Inkermana, so Florence Nightingale was the fair human flower of Crimean battles. They jurred that heart of hers to harmonies unheard before, and woke her to a life of beauty.

Aside from all national policy, and all results of conflict, that strife was not in vain, since out of it there came a human form transfigured, that strengthened faith, and brightened hope, and taught the world anew, what beauty there is in NEWSPAPERS .- Judge Longstreet, the newly elected president of South Carolina College, thus sets forth the value of a newspaper: "Small is the sum that is required to patronize the newspaper, and most amply remunerated is its patron. I care not how humble and unpretending the gazette which he takes, it is next to impossible to fill it fifty two times a year without putting into it something that is worth the price of subscription. Every parent whose son is off from home, at school, should supply him with a paper. I still remember what a difference there was between those of my schoolmates who had and those who had not access to newspapers. Other things being equal, the first were decidedly superior to the last in de. bate and composition at least. The reason is plain, they had command of more facts. Youth will peruse newspapers with delight when they will read nothing else."

67 A Western Judge recently gave vent to his detestation of bad liquors, in the following charge : " Gentlemen of the Jury : Pure, unadulterated liquor is a wholesome and pleasant beverage, and as far as the experience of the Court extends, conduces to health and longevity; but a bad article of liquor, gentlemen, or, what is worse, a drugged article, cannot be tolerated; and if dealers from below will send up into this beantiful country, so blessed with the smiles of a benignant Creator, such a miserable quality of liquors, as the proof shows this to be, in this Court, Gentlemen of the Jury, they cannot recover."
