If you might, would you now Retrace your way—
Wander through stormy wilds,
Faint and astray?
Night's gloomy watches fled,
Morning all beaming red,
Hope's smiles around us shed,
Heavenward—away!

Where are those loved ones, Our joy and delight, Dear, and more dear, though now Hidden from sight? Where they rejoice to be; There is the land for me; Fly, time, fly speedily— Come, life and light!

THE "ESPIRITU SANTO."-This beautiful flower appears to be a description of fily, possessing a bulb root, long oval leaves, and a stock from three to four feet in length. The 'Espiritu Santo' is one of those rare flowers that is said to be found only on one particular part of the Isthmus, a short distance from Panama. It requires little earth for vegetation, growing among heaps of stone, with the fibres alone covered, the bulb being almost entirely exposed. The plant possesses little beauty beyoud what is contained in the flower itself, which is of a most elegant and peculiar. formation. The outward part, which is smaller than a pigeon's egg, resembles a curiously shaped vase, on opening the lid of which the most perfect and beautiful fac simile is found within. The head is turned over its back, appearing as if it were about to take its farewell of earth and soar to some brighter region.

No person can see this extraordinary flower for the first time without a deep feel ing of wonder and admiration at the perfection and beauty displayed in its formation, and every succeeding time it is met with, the observer gazes upon it with increased admiration and curiosity. Of all the really beautiful plants or flowers we have ever seen, we recollect none so brautiful as the Espiritu Santo, or " Holy Spirit," and we are sure that if a specimen could be sent to the United States or Eng. land, it would be looked upon as an invaluable curiosty - Panama Star.

EVERY DAY READING .- There was once a lad who at fourteen was apprenticed to a soap boiler. One of his resolutions was to read one hour a day, or at least at that rate; and he had an old silver watch, left him by his uncle, which he timed his reading by. He stayed seven years with his master, and his master said when he was twenty-one that he knew as much as the young squire did. Now let us see how much time he had to read in seven years, at the rate of an hour a day. It would be twenty five hundred and fifty-five hours; which, at the rate of eight reading hours a day, would be three hundred and nine teen days; equal to forty-five weeks, equal to eleven months; nearly a year's reading. That time spent in trensuring up useful knowledge would pile up a very large store.

(There is no such thing as forgetfulness in its true sense. A thousand incideuts may, and will, interpose a veil between our present consciousness and the secret inscription on the mind; but alike, whether veiled or unveiled, the inscription remains forevermore.

67 A perpetual conflict with natural desires seems to be the lot of our present state. In youth we require something of the tardiness and frigidity of age; and in age we must labor to recall the fire and impetaosity of youth; in youth we must learn to expect; and in age to enjoy.

1 It is intimated by the New York Evening Post that the scientific persons interested in laying the submarine telegraph are well aware of the futility of the project, and that it must end in failure. It charges that the intended attempt at relaying it is a mere pretext to keep the stock at selling mark in market; and that it was discovered, at the last attempt, before the UNITED STATES HOTEL, cable parted, that all electrical communicable parted, that all electrical communication with the land had ceased; and to prevent this fact from becoming generally years, we have opened the same under the prevent this fact from becoming generally known, the cable was suffered to break. It further states that on land no circuit over six hundred miles in extent has ever been now prepared to wait upon all who may favor us successfully worked.

THE LEVIATHAN TO BE OUTDONE .-- A bigger ship than the Leviathan is already talked of in England. It is intended that this new monster shall carry 8,000 tons more than the Leviathan-is to run faster, and draw less water. An engineer of Liv. erpool, named Clare, proposes to build a ship 1000 feet in length, 70 feet in beam, and only 30 feet from deck to keel, making her perfectly flat bottomed and her sides perfectly square. In size she would be 30,000 tons.

WORSE TRAN THE MARSHALSEA,-No. tice was recently served upon Thomas Clark, of London, that the walls of a building owned by him had been condemned, and would be pulled down. It was found that Mr. Clark had been in prison for war. that Mr. Clark had been in prison for more stock of than forty years, for contempt of Court !- DRY GOODS, PROVISIONS, CLOTH-Dickens's Circumlocation Office was no creature of the fancy.

1 In one of Caroline Gilman's roman ces, (library copy) this passage was mark ed and much thumbed-

"There is no object so beautiful to me as a conscientions young man-I watch him as I do a star in heaven."

"That is my view exactly!" sighed Miss Josephine Hoops, as she laid down the volume; " in fact, I think that there is nothing so beautiful as a young man, even if he ain't conscientious.
