OREGON CITY:

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1858.

KANSAS ELECTION.—The official vote of the people of Kansas upon Buchanan's Bill English bribe shows that more Mis-sourians stayed at home than we had expected. When, two weeks ago, we set down the democratic vote at about 3,000, we did so because that was about what the dirt-eating organs claimed. The official returns, certified by Gov. Denver, foot up as follows: For Bill English's bribe, or democ-ratic, 1,788; Against the bribe, or Re-publican, 11,300. Anti-Bill-English-dem-ocracy majority, 9,512.

In looking over the vote of the several counties, we notice that McGee, which, last year, under border ruffian rule, returned about 1,200 democratic majority, now casts but twenty votes all told—5 democ-ratic and 14 Republican. Johnson county now casts but 154 democratic or pro-slavery votes to 424 Republican or Free State votes. This is the county which contains the notorious Oxford precinct, which alone was wont to roll up 1,500 democ-ratic votes.

Upon the receipt of the news from Kansas, the unwashed in this locality hung their heads and had nothing to say. If the people of Kansas had accepted the Bill English bribe, that cannon which "was bought often the senyreta for the yonse of the dimocracy of origin Sitty" would have been brought out, and made to ape its brother in London that bellowed forth the news that Arnold had deserted his country for British gold. The descendants of Ar-nold being scarce in Kansas, the "dimmy-catic cannon" is allowed to rust on under a pile of slabs.

Amusing.—Czapkay's Agent made a blunder, under the influence of that 'strychine whisky' probably, and published an article on the outside of his last issue from the Richmond (Va.) Enquirer, whining over the gloomy prospects of the democracy in general. When the Agent got sober, he discovered that the article wouldn't do for this latitude, and the col-umn it occupied should have been taken up with some article to which "Glorious pros-pects ahead—The Inevitable Democracy Marching on to Victory—Prospects bright-ening," &c., would have been an appropri-ate heading. The result of the cuffing he probably got from some of the more dis-cret members of the clique was an apolo-gy on the inside for the appearance of the article, which "was clipped for filing, and not for publication," and a promise to pub-lish something next week that will neutral-ize it. There is never any difficulty in neutralizing anything found in one loco-foco paper by something from another published in a different 'section.' How very modest to apply to such a party, 'harmonious' and 'national'!

We see the papers down east are all wondering what kind of natives the Oregonians are to elect such asses as they do to office. Great fun is poked at the 'literature' of 'Grover's Inaugural.'—What better can be expected of a party some of the leaders of which actually be-lieve that 'the world is flat'? Gribble, one of the greater lights of the democratic party in this county, believes that the world is flat, and that Sir John Franklin actually sailed over the break-water on the edge, and went, 'God knows whar!'—much as the steamer Portland went over the break-water at the Lin City mills. Cooley, one of their Legislators from Marion, is said to hold to the same theory. In fact, we doubt whether a majority of the members of the Legislature that elected Jo Lane and De-lusion are not of the 'flat-earth' school of astronomy. What 'Doll's' opinion is, we are not, however, positive,—not having drawn him out during the canvass last spring.

We see that the eastern papers in making fun of the Oregon Governor's In-augural, make no mention of Whitener, but speak of Grover as the Governor. As Grover wrote the Inaugural the Tribune and other papers call him the 'Governor'.

OUR PATRIOTISM.—An official dirt-eater of this city said to friend M., a Republican, of Marion county, while discussing political issues a few days since—"You talk just like Mr. Adams; and I have no doubt but he would sacrifice his right hand to break down the democratic party." Several of our ancestors during the revolutionary struggle 'sacrificed' not only their 'right hand' but their lives in 'breaking down' much such a party. A man's patriotism is generally measured by the amount of 'sac-rifice' he is willing to make for his country.

Mr. Thomas, who formerly lived at Canemah, is now in jail in this city for hav-ing made an assault on Miln with a knife. Crinoline was at the bottom of the affair.—Thomas is no doubt laboring under partial insanity superinduced by much mental dis-tress. He swears he will yet 'dance on the bloody grave' of his adversary.

On next Tuesday Indiana, Iowa, Minnesota, Ohio and Pennsylvania elect members of Congress.

The river has again fallen so that the Jennie and Express are detained below the Clackamas Rapids.

ARRIVAL OF THE MAIL.—The steamers Pacific and Northerner reached Portland last Wednesday, the latter bringing the U. S. Mail. We are indebted to Dr. Steele, the gentlemanly agent of Wells, Fargo & Co., also to Mr. Hoyt, the oblig-ing clerk of the Express, and to R. E. Ball, of Portland, for ample files of exchanges.

Among the wonders of this age, the greatest that we have seen of late years is the following which we clip from the Cincinnati Commercial of Aug. 28. By reading it our friends will have some idea of the importance of the submarine tele-graph:

FOREIGN NEWS BY THE CABLE!—LON-DON DATES OF YESTERDAY MORNING.—CHINESE EMPIRE OPENS TRADE TO ALL NA-TIONS.—New York, Aug. 27.—We have the second public general news dispatch from London, of to-day's date, which will be published at one o'clock this afternoon. No commercial news of any description has been transmitted through the cable yet, nor will any be until after the line shall have been thrown open to the public.

London, Friday Morning, August 27.—The Emperor Napoleon and the Empress Eugenie will return to Paris to-morrow, from their tour through the Empire.

The King of Prussia is too sick to visit Queen Victoria, as was expected. Her Majesty returns home on Monday.

By the terms of the treaty of peace with China the Empire is opened to the trade of all nations.

The Christian religion is allowed, and the diplomatic agents of all nations are ad-mitted.

Full indemnity is provided for England and France, but the dispatch received makes no mention of any indemnity to the United States.

NEWS FROM RUSSIA IN SIX DAYS.—St. Petersburg, Russia, August 21.—The an-nouncement of the treaty of peace with Chi-na has given great satisfaction to the Em-peror and the Court.

In speaking of the Atlantic Telegraph, the N. Y. Tribune says:

"We believe we are stating the precise fact when we say that the instruments now in use at Trinity Bay and Valencia record words at the rate of two per minute, or one hundred and twenty per hour. Improve-ments will doubtless be made upon this, but at this rate the cable can transmit more than two thousand eight hundred words per day. If this is true, and we do not make the statement at random, the net income of the Company cannot be less than twenty per cent. upon the capital now invested."

The New York Herald, speaking of the effect of the wonderful transmission of the news of peace between the European pow-ers and China, says:

"See to-day the effect of the news from China! Last night it was known from Moscow to New Orleans that peace had been made there! Every merchant or trader interested in tea or silk, knows that the causes which interfered with his trade have been removed! The Russian caravans across the steppes of Asia, the English fleets from the British Isles, and the swift messengers from the shores of America, all start this morning for the newly re-opened scene of their traffic, animated with the same idea, and impelled by the same knowl-edge!"

The Sheriff has returned from his tour after Washington Williams who broke jail two weeks ago. Williams was heard of at Spores ferry on the Willamette, where he crossed a week ago last Monday. The rapidity of his flight South of course induced the Sheriff, who is a young man, and recently married, to 'give it up so' and wend his way where

"'Tis sweet to hear the watch-dog's honest bark Bay deep-mouthed welcome as we draw near home;

"'Tis sweet to know there is an eye will mark Our coming, and look brighter when we come."

Thus endeth the second canto of the Williams farce.

"Man's a strange animal, and makes strange use Of his own nature to show his parts.

"The age of eddies let loose, Where thieving talents find the best of parts."

Miles Kirk, the horse thief, was taken last Monday in the Cascades, and taken to the Dalles in irons by the Sheriff of Wasco county.

We are again stirred up in the way of remembrance by the receipt of a box of Royal Muscadine grapes and Belle Lucra-five pears from the Montrose nursery of J. W. Ladd, near Butteville. While the grapes are seldom equalled, we doubt whether the pear ever is. It is a kind we have searched the catalogues in vain for, but its exceeding richness and high flavor must make it a great favorite. Will friend Ladd send us down a couple of the bushes that produce that kind of fruit? Judging from the specimens friend Ladd has often sent us, Montrose farm must be very much such a place as Eden was before Eve entered it, with this exception:

"Thou dwelt no joy in Eden's rosy bowers Till Hymen brought his love-lighted hour."

We hope, however, that friend Ladd will not be discouraged by the dust Eve kicked up in Eden, from getting a partner to share his joys and help eat his fruit.—Till he does get one, however, he couldn't do better than he has been doing—sending his surplus fruit to the printer.

Many have an idea that salmon never get above the Falls at this city.—This is a mistake. We learned that sev-eral barrels were put up at Eugene City last spring. They were of course as lean as Pharaoh's kine, but would do well enough for the diet of very literary folks.

The Pacific Journal, which started at Eugene City, has drawn up its legs and gone after Mattoon's Expositor. At least we judge so, as we have not seen or heard of a copy for months. We thought when this paper started that it would starve the editor to death. We presume it will re-sume again next spring when the salmon get to running up the river.

Charman & Warner have in their store in this city what strikes us as quite a curiosity—potatoes shaped exactly like the Kidney and colored like the Irish Grey varieties. They were raised by some person in this county. We have always consid-ered the Kidney the best shaped, and the Irish Grey the best flavored we have. If this new kind combines the qualities of both, it is about as near perfect as we ex-pect a potato to get.

We regret to learn that the editor of the Standard, Jas. O'Meara, has by a fall in stepping from a skiff again broken his arm.

A servant called 'Ned,' employed at the Globe Restaurant in this city, was arrested and committed to jail this week on a charge of having stolen $180 from Dr. Evans.

Anson Wright of this county, a re-cently returned miner from Frazier's river, is lying at the point of death in this city from a disease contracted in the mines. He made just six bits in gold dust while on Frazier's river.

Just before going to press we re-ceived an article from Dr. McBride of Yamhill containing an interesting account of his late exploring expedition in middle Oregon. It will appear next week.

The weather, which has been for a time much like that of April, has at length cleared off. The warm showers mixed in with sunshine have started the grass amaz-ingly, and the prospect was never better for a favorable winter.

The three pseudo democratic papers, the Statesman, Argus, and Times, are now engaged in writing at us—Standard.

If we hit you, 'twill be a mighty close shot.

THE REVOLT IN INDIA.—A London cor-respondent of the Boston Traveler, who is, or professes to be, an Englishman, gives an account of the British prospects in India, and also of the conduct of the British troops in that country. He says:

"India still continues disturbed, and, be-tween drinking, fever, and cholera, our army melts away. Our bravest have fallen, and still one hundred victories have gained us no sure foothold over the alien race. The Sepoy enemy nowhere presents a firm front, but harasses us by a guerrilla warfare, and by an obstinate resistance in straggling fortresses. Our own conduct is not defensible. The permitted conduct of our army would stamp us with eternal dis-grace if we were dealing with any civilized power. British troops give no quarter—every action is followed by an indiscrimi-nate slaughter of hundreds and thousands—the route of our army is indicated by black-ened corpses—the prey of the hideous vult-ure and the jackal, and ruined villages soaked in blood. Our allies, the savage Ghoorkes and Sikhs, are totally unrestrained—they spare neither age nor sex, and wounding naked women they rush upon the plunder with demonic cries. The sack of Lucknow, and the horrors after the assault, were too horrible even for the pen of the Times' correspondent to describe, which hesitated not at the carnage of Sebastopol.

"Our mode of conducting Eastern war, appears not to have improved with the advance of the 19th century. Lucknow saw two hundred thousand armed men destroy her ancient palaces, and hold their hideous orgies in her sacred temples.

"From henceforth our rule in India must be the rigid one of the sword. Already we have one hundred thousand men in arms on the continent—the bone and sin-ew of our population drained away, and still the Indian authorities cry 'give, give, give!'"

The Comet now Visible, a New and hit-terio Unknown One.

EDITOR OF BULLETIN:—Observing in pa-pers a statement that the comet now visi-ble is the comet of Charles V., I send you an extract from a letter, dated Paris, July 27, and published in the last number of the Courrier des Etats Unis, received in this city. It says:

"M. Babinet, member of the Institute, at Paris [an astronomer of reputation], has addressed to the Debats the following note on the Comet of 1858: "This year has already shown us five comets, of which two are periodical. None of them is the comet of 1858, called the Comet of Charles V., and as to the return of which the con-trary opinions of Hind and Hoek divide the learned world. As to the comet discov-ered by M. Donati, at Florence, on the 2nd of June, [the comet now in the Hea-vens] it has no resemblance to the comet of 1858, of 1804, and of 1875, which how-ever are supposed to be identical. The actual comet moves very slowly, and will be in the middle of its course about the 5th or 6th of the approaching month of September. Its course is to the west, whilst the comet of Charles V. moves to-ward the east, so that it is no more allowa-ble to confound them, than it would be to take a courier from Brest for one from Strasburg. Besides, there are 100 degrees of difference between the two, as respects the position of the perihelion [or point nearest the sun]; and the inclination to the ecliptic is 72 1/2 degrees, instead of 30 de-grees, the inclination of Charles V.'s comet."

With regard to the great comet of Charles V., sometimes called the comet of Fabricius, after the astronomer of that Em-peror, its elements have been calculated by Mr. Hind, the royal astronomer of England, and by M. Bonme, a learned calculator of Middlebourg, in the Netherlands. These distinguished astronomers differ by two years in respect to the return of the comet. All that can be said of it, is that its next perihelion passage may take place within two years of August, 1858; nearer than this it does not appear possible to approxi-mate. It has not yet made its appearance.

In Dr. Lardner's large work on astron-omy, there is a catalogue giving the elements of the orbits of more than two hundred comets. No one of these is like the present comet. As far as the catalogue ex-tends, then, it warrants us in saying that the comet now visible is new to astron-omers.

The comet is now approaching the sun. It moves quite slowly toward the south-west, its course making an angle of about five degrees with the horizon. It sets a little earlier each night. It is nearer to us at present [Oct. 1] than the sun, and will grow brighter as it approaches that luminary. Its tail will, at the same time, be-come longer.
