We linger while we turn away, We cling while we depart; And memories unmarked till then, Come crowding round the heart. Let what will lure our onward way, Farewell's a bitter word to say.

TRIUMPH OVER EVIL - We are rewarded for every triumph we make over temptation. I will suppose there are many who have struggled against the vanity of vain pleasures; many who have put down evil thoughts with a strong will; many who, after a long, and it may be, an uncertain conflict with the seductions of the world, at length have triumphed. I will put it to them whether, when they have combatted and so prevailed against the evil, and their hearts have not softened and melted within them, whether they have not felt within their bosoms a seraphic influenced They have so felt, and so it will ever be. No sooner shall they have driven from them the tempting demon of pride, of vanity, of anger-no sooner shall the evil have left them, than angels will come and minister unto them, -Jerrold.

AT It is the bubbling spring that flows gently, the little rivulet which ruus along day and night, by the farm house, that is useful, rather than the swollen floed or warring cataract. Niagara excites our wonder, and we stand amuzed at the power and greatness of God there, as he 'pours it from the hollow of his hand.' But one Ni. egara is enough for the continent or the world, while the same world requires thousands and tens of thousands of silver fountains and gently flowing rivolets, that water every farm, meadow, and every garden, and that shall flow on every day and every night with their gentle, quiet beauty. So with the acts of our lives. It is not by great deeds, like those of martyrs, that good is to be done-it is by the daily and quiet virtues of life, the Christian temper, the good qualities of relatives and friends, and all, that is to be done .- Afbert Barnes.

LOVE AND LOVE MAKING .- The power of loving and the power of making love, I take to be two very distinct gifts, seldom found united in one individual. They resemble, respectively, the power of thinking and the power of talking, and one would not be much surprised to find that the number of people who can make leve with out feeling it, is proportionate to that of the number of people who can (and will) talk without thinking. But do not let us be savage; do not let us be dissatisfied with these arrangements of nature. Bless us all, what sort of a world would it be, if nobody sighed and whispered, unless he had a passion at his heart, and if nobody questioned and answered unless he had a brain in his head !

How to Live in Peace .- 1. Mind your own business, 1 Thes. iv., 11. 2. Keep your tongue from evil, 1 Peter iii., 10, 3. Do not contend for every trifle, whether it be a matter of right or opinion. 4. If others neglect their duty to you, be sure that you perform yours to them. To render railing for railing is to return sin for sin.

5. Make your enemy see and feel your love to him. 6. Beg of God for universal charity. 7. Be humble. 8. By faith wait for the providence of God.

taught decent, and they never forget the lesson. Boys are perpetually admonished that "this is not pretty," or "that is not becoming," until they have learned to control their natural impulses, and to regulate their conduct by precepts and example. The result of this is, that while men retain much of natural dispositions, women have largely made up

BETROTHAL CEREMONY .- A new and interesting on has been introduced in Cincinnati -that of celebrating betrothals, or engagements between young people, by the giving of a party and inviting guests to weldings. In Germany and other parts of Europe this is almost the universal custom.— Should it prevail here, says an Atlantic paper, and should betrothals be announced in the newspapers, the ladies will sieze the daily papers with as much eagerness to find who is betrothed, as they now do to read the marriages and deaths. The practice will have a good effect on both male and female parties intending marriage to post a notice to that effect for three weeks in some public place, several Boston papers published such declarations under the heading of "Marriages Intended."
