This is the summer's burial time; She died when drop ed the earliest leaves, And cold upon the rosy prime Fell down the autumn's frosty rime— Yet I am not as one that grieves;

For well I know o'er sunny seas. The blue-bird waits for April skies; And at the roots of forest trees The May-flowers sleep in fragant case,

And violets hide their azure eyes. O thou, by winds of grief o'erblown Beside some golden summer's her,Take heart!-thy birds are only flown, Thy blossoms sleeping, tenrful sown, To greet thee in the immortal year!

- From the Independent.

RESPRCT THE AGED .- Beautiful as the clustering of the vine around the branches clustering of the vine around the branches of the decayed old tree, are the kind words BOOTS & SHOES, of all kinds and sizes; and gentle support of the young for tottering age. With the old, life has lost its greatest charm and passed its only apring. They have drained the cup of sorrow to its dregs, and long since buried the bright anticipations of early years. The future, unless lighted by the Star of Bethlehem, wears, a changeless gloom. Do them reverence, then, ye young and gay-smooth down their snowy locks, and cause by kind and gontle words their wrinkled cheeks to thing like trying. So give them a trial. wear a cheerful smile. The one who said, "it is more blessed to give than to receive," will return to your own hearts a two fold blessing, and enable you to maintain the virtue and dignity of a true manhoond, an honor and an ornament to your country -Away with the youth that scoffs at grey hairs and mocks the tottering step; be sure he is fitted for the haunts of vice and a felon's cell. Time, ever on the wing, will bring all who escape the shaft of death in their footsteps, and bleach the sunniest locks. The flowers that adorn life's spring soon wither and die, and all things wear the sombre hues of Autumn. Hasten, then, to do them reverence, for sure they are fast journeying to that land from which no traveler returns.

"VARIOUS READINGS" OF SCRIPTURE .-Dr. Kennicott's testimony respecting the Hebrew Scriptures has often been quoted. When he had audience of his sovereign to present his great work, his Majesty asked him, "What, upon the whole, had been the result of his learned and laborious investigation?" To which he replied, that he had found some grammatical errors, and many variations, in different texts, but not one which in the smallest degree af fected any article of faith or practice .--Similar is the following testimony, recently borne by a distinguished Biblical student James Smith, Esq., of Jordan Hill, F. R. S.: "It may be satisfactory to those who look with suspicion upon the numerous various readings appended to critical edishade of difference in the meaning, either es between the earlier and the later MSS., bodily feeling of strength that is delightful. present," (Origin and Connection of the Gospel.) "where so much depends upon verbal expression."

DR. JACOB WEBBER'S SANGUIFIER, Or Invigorating Cordial.

What though the san in beauty shine, And you have countloss hoards of wealth; What though the world -all, a I was thine.
If you but want the blessing, Health.

An Honest Appeal! To all with bad or failing health.

A RE you languid, inammete, rescless, appetite po r. digesti n bad, and pains in the body back, and head? Render, much of this is caused from cold caught unwittingly or, in seven cases out of ten, slougishness of the liver and blood, and want of natural perspiration, indiscretion in the use of food and drink, or from a dry ness in the atmosphere—which is a very unheal thy part of this chimate—many of the awful, vio lent, and sodd n deaths that occur here must be attributed to this. Now, reader, I have made this tions, to know that in that very considera-ble portion of the Gospels which I have that my DR. WEBBER'S INVIGORATING copied, I have not been able to detect a CORDIAL SANGUIFIER will care these causes—it will insure enimation of the liver, blood, and brains—it strengthens the nerves, and gives doctrinal or historical. But the difference to the sufferer a lightness of spirits, a mental and although unimportant as to the matter, are many respectable persons who have been benefited by and certified to its extraordinary qualities in curing any of the following diseases, must satisfy all but the self-wise and ignorant skeptic-dys pepsia, or indigestion, loss of moscular or bodily strength and mental energy; fever, ague, or ch lis; rheumatic, neuralgie, or other pains; depletion The sigh that rises at the thought and weakness of the matural functions, debility of a friend, may be almost as genial as his from discuse, dissipation, too much doctoring, defrom constant intemperance, and where delir um tremens has occurred, I have seen it change the sufferer in half an hour from the most horrible mild, too cautious, or too humble; but we be conscientiously recommended to all suffering, sary thus to udvertise ii, in order that its merits may be known.
