

They Will be Done.
They will be done! In devious way
The hurrying steam of life may run;
Yet still our grateful hearts shall say
They will be done!

They will be done! If ever we shine
A glad and prosperous day;
This prayer will make it more divine
They will be done!

They will be done! Though shrouded o'er
Our path with gloom, our comfort—our
Hous—to breathe, while we adore,
They will be done!

—Douring.

LET MR. KISS HIM FOR HIS MOTHER.
—The editor of the New Orleans Advocate has this incident about the ravages of the yellow fever in that city, related to him by one of the Methodist pastors:
"The preacher was called a few days since to attend the funeral of a young man. Before his sickness, he was a stout, buoyant, manly youth. He was from the State of Maine, and had been here but a short time. He was attacked by yellow fever, and soon died, with no mother or relative to watch by his bedside, or to soothe him with that sympathy which none but those of our own 'dear kindred blood' can feel or manifest. He died among strangers, and was buried by them. When the funeral service was over, and the strange friends who had ministered to him were about to finally close the coffin, an old lady who stood by stopped them, and said: 'Let me kiss him for his mother.' We had yet to find the first man or woman to whose eye this simple recital has not brought tears."

How the universal heart of man blesses flowers! They are wreathed round the cradle, the marriage altar, and the tomb. The Capid of the ancient Hindus tipped his arrows with flowers, and orange flowers are a bridal crown with us—a nation of yesterday. Flowers garlanded the Grecian altar, and hung in votive wreaths before the Christian shrine.—Mrs. Child.

Never shrink from a woman of strong sense. If she becomes attached to you, it will be from seeing and valuing similar qualities in yourself. Her love will be lasting, for it will not have been lightly won; it will be strong and ardent, for weak minds are not capable of the loftier grades of passion.

Drop by drop falls into the clear well spring of your youth the bitter waves of experience, and there is no filterer this side of the grave that can return the old purity.

THE CAP OF LIBERTY.—After the death of Cesar, we are told, in the life of Cicero, that the conspirators marched out in a body, with a cap, as the ensign of liberty, carried before them on a spear. There was a medal struck on the occasion, with the same device, which is still extant. The thought, however, was not new; for Saturnus, in his sedition, 263, when he had possessed himself of the Capitol, exalted a cap also on the top of a spear, as a token of liberty to all slaves who would join with him; and Marius used the same expedient to incite the slaves to take arms with him against Sylla. For slaves to wear the cap was a prize.

"My dear wife, I wish you would try to keep your temper."
"My dear husband, I wish you would try and get rid of yours."

An old bachelor defines love in this manner: "A little sighing, a little crying, a little dying, and a great deal of lying."

The Albany Express has the following advertisement:—
"Wanted an able-bodied man to hold my wife's tongue—she and I being unable to keep it quiet. Constant employment given."

An Honest Appeal!
To all with bad or failing health.

ARE you languid, inanimate, restless, appetite poor, digestion bad, and pains in the limbs, body back, and head? Read r, much of this is caused from cold caught unwittingly, or in seven cases out of ten, singularities of the liver and blood, and want of natural perspiration, indigestion in the use of food, and want of exercise in the atmosphere—which is a very unhealthy part of this climate—many of the awful, violent, and sudden deaths that occur here must be attributed to this. Now, reader, I have made this my study for many years, and I do assure you a cap also on the top of a spear, as a token of liberty to all slaves who would join with him; and Marius used the same expedient to incite the slaves to take arms with him against Sylla. For slaves to wear the cap was a prize.
