The All-Father.

This hymn was found in a chest in an English cottage. The author's name is unknown:

In the stillness of the voiceless night,
When chased by airy dreams the slumbers flee,
Whom in the darkness doth my spirit seek,
O God, but Thee!

And if there be a weight upon my breast,
Some vague impression of the day foregone,
Scarce knowing why it is, I fly to Thee,
And lay it down.

Or if it be the heaviness that comes
In tokens of anticipated ill,
My bosom takes no heed of what it is,
Since 'tis Thy will.

For oh, in spite of past and present care,
Or anything besides, how joyfully
That almost solitary hour,
My God, with Thee!

More tranquil than the stillness of the night,
More peaceful than the silence of that hour,
More blest than anything, my spirit lies
Beneath Thy power.

For what is there on earth that I desire,
Of all that it can give and take from me,
Or whom in heaven doth my spirit seek,
O God, but Thee!

Divine Origin of the Bible.

Men while in health, may cavil at the truth of the gospel, and even deny its inspiration, but when death stares them in the face their views of it change, and they deeply regret having treated it lightly. Infidelity itself has, in this way, furnished many a death argument in favor of the Scriptures. Dr. Wardlaw remarks somewhere on this subject as follows:

"It is a fact not less extraordinary, and not less pregnant with evidence of the divine origin of the gospel, that it never yet has had any one, in the hour of dissolution, repenting of having trusted to it. I call attention to the fact. The gospel is the only system of which this can be affirmed; and the fact is without exception. I am in full recollection, when I say so, of the many believers who have passed through the valley of the shadow of death in mental depression and gloom, and whose fears have encompassed them even to the last. But these are not exceptions to the fact; they are confirmations of it. From whence has the gloom of these unbelievers arisen? What has drawn the cloud over their souls? What has engendered their fears? Has it been any question, starting up within them, of the solidity of the gospel foundation of hope? Any doubt of its being trustworthy? Any conviction, or even any suspicion, forced upon them, in this testing time of human confidence, of its being, after all, not rock, as they had fancied, but sand—a delusion—a 'refuge of lies'? The very reverse. Their doubts have not been about it, but about themselves. The question has not been about the security of the foundation, but about the fact of their not having built upon it; not about the sufficiency of Christ, but about the reality of their interest in him; not about the soundness of the hope, but about their scriptural warrant to entertain it."

ILL SORTED MATCHES.—In a recent lecture on marriage, Rev. G. W. Woodruff, of Connecticut, said:

"I know of nothing more distressing than of a large-hearted, noble, expansive man linked to a petulant, little-souled, henpecking woman; or of a noble woman linked to one of those sordid, mean little libels upon manhood. If such is your case, why get a divorce in Heaven's name, and God help you."

SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN.

PROSPECTUS.
VOLUME FIFTEEN BEGINS SEPT. 11, 1859.

MECHANICS, INVENTORS,
Manufacturers, and Farmers.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has now reached its Fourteenth Year, and will enter upon a New Volume on the 11th of September. It is the only weekly publication of the kind now issued in this country, and it has a very extensive circulation in all the States of the Union. It is not, as some might suppose from its title, a dry, abstruse work on technical science; on the contrary, it so deals with the great events going on in the scientific, mechanical, and industrial worlds, as to please and instruct every one. If the mechanic or artisan wishes to know the best machine in use, or how to make any substance employed in his business—if the housewife wishes to get a recipe for making a good color, &c.,—if the inventor wishes to know what is going on in the way of improvements—if the manufacturer wishes to keep posted with the times, and to enjoy the best facilities in his business—if the man of leisure and study wishes to keep himself familiar with the progress made in the chemical laboratory, or in the construction of telegraphs, steamships, railroads, reapers, mowers, and a thousand other machines and appliances, both of peace and war—all these desiderata can be found in the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, and not elsewhere. They are here presented in a reliable and interesting form, adapted to the comprehension of minds unlearned in the higher branches of science and art.

TERMS:—One copy, one year, $2; one copy, six months, $1; five copies, six months, $4; ten copies, six months, $8; ten copies, twelve months, $15; fifteen copies, twelve months, $22; twenty copies, twelve months, $28, in advance.

MUNN & CO.,
128 Fulton st., New York.
